

Christmas Week-End Will List Two Dances For Members of Younger Set

Elizabeth Ellen Wallace Wears Gown Of Heavy Ivory Satin For Wedding Rites

In an imported gown of heavy ivory satin, Miss Elizabeth Ellen Wallace became the bride of James Alexander Morton Jr. at 4:30 Monday evening, in St. Paul's Chapel of Christ Church Cranbrook. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Grace Booth Wallace of Bloomfield Hills and Harry L. Wallace of Ann Arbor. Mr. Morton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Morton of Lakewood, O. The Rev. Robert W. Woodroffe read the rites.

The bride advanced down the aisle on the arm of her brother, Richard Wallace, who also gave her in marriage. Fashioned on richly simple lines, her gown was made with a fitted bodice and a heart-shaped neck line, edged with shirred tulle. Festoons of Alencon lace were caught with orange blossom sprays on the sides, front and back of her skirt, which was very full and fell into a full train of medium length. A band of orange blossoms circled her head and held in place the tulle veil, which extended beyond her train. She carried a flower bouquet of gardenias and white bouvardia.

Miss Ann Louise Booth, her cousin's maid of honor, wore an off-the-shoulder gown of silvery blue satin. Distinguishing features of the model were the short puffed sleeves and the bouffant skirt, adorned with quilting. In her hair, she wore a ribbon of dusky pink velvet, matching the long velvet ribbons which tied her arm bouquet of pink carnations.

Miss Marianna Bell arrived Saturday from her studies at Alma College, in Alma, Mich., where she is studying this year. She will be the holiday guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Bell of Knox street, returning to school early in January.

'RUG-CUTTERS' TO GATHER FOR 'SWING' AFFAIR

Invitations typifying a genuine "rug cutter" party, are summoning members of the younger set to "The Rug Cutters' Ball," which the Alumni Association of Alpha Omega will present on the evening of Monday, Dec. 26. The dance will be held at the Community House.

The list of patrons for the affair includes the names of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin S. Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. Donald G. Eade, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Mullin, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Well, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Lyle, Mr. and Mrs. Robert N. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mosher and Dr. and Mrs. Russell B. Stephens.

One of the largest of the entertainments inspired by the event will be a cocktail party, at which William W. Dean will be host, in his home on East Brown street.

Miss Betty Flynn, Miss Jane Walker, Miss Julie Preston, Miss Sally Baker, Richard Coops, James H. Walker, Jr., Les Maurer, George Flynn, James S. O'Rourke, Robert T. Edler, Eldridge Drury and Jack Sitta.

Miss Nancy Murray, who is spending the vacation from the Wheelock School in Boston with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Cullen Murray of Pilgrim road, will be another hostess.

Hall Packard has issued invitations to his friends for an informal open house preceding the dance in his home on East Maple avenue. He is among the collegians vacationing at present, at the University of Denison, University, Granville, Ohio.

A few of the advance "dances" will be made for the affair include Harry Stark and Margaret Scriven, Holden Drury and Mildred Knowlton, Charles and Phyllis Rice, Charles Dean and Mary Ann Neff and Neil Stark and Nancy Fisher.

HARMAR CHAPTER IS PRESENTED WITH GAVEL. The General Josiah Harmer Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, of which Mrs. Jean Little of Dorchester road is president and the members of the chapter held its regular meeting on Saturday. The meeting was held at the Sevel Presbyterian Church in Detroit, following a luncheon.

Bessie Geagley, State Regent of the D. A. R., presented the chapter with a gavel, made of wood from General Harmer's dispatch case. A silver plate on the gavel bears the legend: "From Wood of General Josiah Harmer's Dispatch Case, Presented by Josiah Harmer, D. A. R., 1838." General Harmer it was explained, carried the ratified peace treaty to France, early in 1784.

Col. Edwin S. George will be host at a family dinner on Christmas Day, at his home on Long Lake road.

Mrs. William F. Blake, Jr., gave a birthday party Tuesday afternoon for her daughter, Judy, at her home on Madison avenue. The occasion was Judy's seventh anniversary. Children attending were Julie Harrigan, Margo Anne and Billy Channing, Alice Ann Giffels, Walter Rodie, Carolyn Snyder, Sheila and Rosemary Blake, Bobby Leeland, Joanne Bird, Frances McGinnis, Elizabeth Hinchey and Helen Stanley.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney A. Wells of Glencoe, Ill., formerly of Birmingham, will arrive next week to visit Mr. and Mrs. Gordon R. Craven of Fairway drive, and Mr. and Mrs. Clod L. Cray of Wing Lake. They will remain here over New Year's, attending the dinner-dance at the Forest Lake Country Club New Year's Eve. Other holiday guests of the Cravens will be Mrs. Craven's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Simpson, of Athol, Mass., who will arrive on Friday.

Dr. and Mrs. E. F. Hammonds will hold open house on New Year's Day from 5 to 7 o'clock, at their home on Chesterfield drive. About 100 guests will attend and Mrs. Hammonds' cousin, Miss Susan Chaplin, of St. Louis, who will arrive after Christmas for a visit, will assist the hostess.

Miss Dorothy Herbert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clay E. Herbert, of Oxford drive, will be hostess at a luncheon next Tuesday, at the Bloomfield Open Hunt club, in compliment to Miss Ann Sherman of Ashtabula, O., who will arrive on Monday for a few days' visit. Miss Sherman and Miss Herbert were former roommates at William and Mary college, Williamsburg, Va.

LITTLE SYMPHONY TO PLAY HERE

The Little Symphony of the University of Michigan will appear in Birmingham on Jan. 24, as the third in the winter concert series presented under the auspices of the Birmingham Musical Association. Thor Johnson directs the musicians.

Organized four years ago, among 15 assistants in instrumental instruction at the University, the Little Symphony has been praised by the critics for program content as well as artistic ability. About 260 concerts have been presented, at 18 different states.

Mrs. Norman Lyle of Yorkshire road is general chairman of arrangements for the concert. It marks the third which the Musical Association has presented, others being John Carter, and the Ypsilanti Normal Choir.

Since his early youth, Mr. Johnson has been active in musical circles. He organized his first orchestra at the age of 14 and became successively, director of a chamber orchestra at the University of Michigan, and the University of North Carolina.

Girls' Club to Aid Poor with Contest Dolls. Little girls whose ages range from thirteen years to a few years older, all members of the Girls' Recreation Club, will meet Monday evening in the Embury M. E. Church, will contribute 18 dolls, at the contest.

Prizes were then awarded to Betty Morrow, Grace Ewald and Ruth and Betty Allen, for their contributions. Betty Morrow dressed a baby doll, in a sheer outfit trimmed with lace, a dainty pink flannel coat and bonnet completed the costume. Grace Ewald chose a boy doll, which she dressed in a suit, coat and hat of brown velvet. The baby doll was dressed in a suit, coat and hat of brown velvet. About 35 girls belong to the club, which carries on regular activities, including ping-pong and other games, as well as social service work as the doll dressing.

D. B. S. Alumnae Group Plans Tea. A holiday activity of particular interest to the school and college sets will be the tea which the Delta Beta Sigma Alumnae association will give next Tuesday afternoon, at its home of Miss Doris Rich of Hillcrest drive. Yellow will be the predominating color in the table decorations, as yellow is the club's color, and many of the same hue will be presented to all the guests.

In charge of arrangements for the affair is Miss Margaret Gardner, who is chairman of the reception committee. The D. B. S. Alumnae association will stage another party during the Yule season—a roller skating party at Clausen, which is scheduled for Wednesday night.

Patrol Four of Troop B-7, led by Katherine Gibbons, brought the most canned goods to the Red Cross Christmas basket. As a reward, members were given the honor of entertaining the Troop's Christmas party on Wednesday.

Girls of Troop Two will be entertained this afternoon by those who are working on their Hostess Badge. There will be games, refreshments and playlets.

Miss Barbara and Miss Jean Shael, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Shael, of Lone Pine road, will entertain about 50 of the school and college contingents at an open house Monday from 3 to 7 o'clock. Miss Barbara is home from the University of North Carolina and her sister attends Kingswood school.

ALUMNI GROUPS TO JOIN FORCES FOR ANNUAL HOP

The Alumni Associations of Coronet and Town Clubs will present their annual Christmas dances jointly on the evening of Friday, Dec. 23. The affair, which will be formal in nature, will be held at Forest Lake Country Club.

Art Howard and his orchestra, popular on the Michigan State College campus, will provide music. The younger set is evincing much interest in the affair, which is open to the public. Guests will include members of the two associations as well as their friends among the collegiate crowd.

Co-chairmen of the dance are Miss Catherine Haefer and Robert Good. They will center the decorations around the Christmas motif.

A number of "dances" have already been made for the evening. Among those who will attend are Evelyn Krugby and Richard Smith, Miss Haefer and William Hodge, Shirley Busby and Bill Spiking, Betty Russell and Clyde Bennett, Virginia Ford and Jack Reynolds, Shirley Hersey and Charles Allen, Patricia Houff and Robert Whalen, Jean Houff and George Gorman, Marilyn Ely and Edward Brehm, Jean McKinney and Arthur Miller, Louise Cobb and Jack Berthrong, Dorothy Trump and George Frye, Jean Wakefield and Millard Plumstead, Virginia Smith and Bruce Johnson and Rhoda Medbury and Richard Blakely.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Stresen-Reuter of Pilgrim road are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son, William Arthur, born Nov. 17 at the Women's Hospital in Detroit. Mrs. Stresen-Reuter was Miss Amelia Griffin of New York before her marriage.

Guild Brings Gifts To Dessert Luncheon

"Impractical" and frivolous gifts were brought by members of St. Margaret's Guild of St. James Episcopal Church, to their annual Christmas party for the benefit of the inmates of Williams House, in Detroit. The affair, which took the form of a dessert luncheon, was held at the Parish House on Tuesday.

Mrs. Sherman L. LaMessure, vice-president of the Guild, took charge of decorating the large Christmas tree, around which the decorations centered. She was assisted by Mrs. Clark F. Pardee, Guild president. Afterward, Mrs. E. F. Brumback took the gifts to Williams House, for distribution.
