Fashion Tips

The smart woman has one kind of perfume for tailored clothes and one for evening. The daytime perfume should be rather light and elusive, especially if the wearer works in an office.

There is a new hair net, tricorn in shape, which is much more flattering than the older type. These new nets do not flatten the hair but leave sufficient room for curls and waves.

Dignity is the one-word description of the new dinner dresses. They are very extravagant with their trimmings and accessories. Some have long, tight sleeves, and the fabrics used are quite elegant.

A lovely evening cape is of fluffy blonde lynx. Mink is good for day or evening wear and a hip-length jacket does double duty.
