

You never will retain "democracy" unless, as a citizen, you exercise the rights and live up to the responsibilities of self-government. If you are not satisfied with present conditions, and have failed to attend the Senate and Congressional School, you are cheating yourself of "democracy's" privilege.

SIXTIETH YEAR—NO. 45

BIRMINGHAM, OAKLAND COUNTY, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1938

$2.00 PER YEAR—SINGLE COPIES, 5c

Egbert To Talk on Disposal Plant

City Manager Donald C. Egbert will be the principal speaker at the disposal plant and methods for financing it, at a meeting of the Citizens League, Tuesday night. The subject of discussion will be the proposed bond issue to be voted upon at the spring election.

NO COMMISSION MEETING NEXT MONDAY NIGHT

No meeting of the City Commission will be held next Monday night in the City Hall, due to the fact that the annual Lincoln Banquet of the Oakland County Republican Club will be held at the same time in Pontiac. An adjourned meeting, however, will be held at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening, February 16.

LIBRARY BOARD TO INVESTIGATE EXTENSION LAWS

A step toward investigating the possibility of extending library service to outlying communities was taken by the board of Baldwin Public Library at a meeting Tuesday evening in the library building, when the board, headed by Mrs. Adeline Cooke, librarian, and Charles E. Lewis, as a committee to study the extension of library service to rural communities.

The Much Revival

Before leaving for Washington the morning of my arrival, I telephoned to Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, leaving a message for him of my intended visit to Washington—should I call it "Rose-tinted" (Oh, Senator, I am not here against EVERYTHING that F. D. R. stands for; I'm not that much of a "F. D. R. hater" as you might be summed up in this; he is trying to Christianize, by law, the United States, by law, corrupting too many people in the process. He is trying to make the American grow up the speed of a soft palm forgetting that the timbers in a democratic ship are stronger and sterner than grows from a forest of people living under a paternalistic government. I have arranged a meeting in Senator Vandenberg's office in Washington, Monday and I made our way into the fairly warm hotel and the bustling throng on the street, Washington, located across from the Treasury Building, in the new Federal Capitol to provide us with a brisk walk.

An hour's conversation with Senator Vandenberg substantiated a number of conclusions both Milling and I had reached from our study of the situation. Together with others and other Senators and Congressmen, we were held at the White House. Not because even a majority of Congress is for F. D. R. anymore, but because the nation had gone quite far enough toward dictatorship and shall be held responsible to cause Congress to "take the bull by the horns" and be what the U. S. Constitution intended it to be, namely, the nation's legislative branch of the federal government.

Have You Met?

Mr. and Mrs. F. Gieselman, 775 Kenesaw road, are moving to Birmingham from Kenosha, Wis., where Mr. Gieselman was associated for 21 years with the National Cash Register Co., transferred to the Nash-Kelvinator offices in Detroit. Mrs. Gieselman is a graduate of the University of Minnesota, who is 14 years old. Mina is a student at Adams Junior high school.

"We came here to pick out our future home in November," Mrs. Gieselman said. "We had never run into anything like your Community House. I think it is wonderful. Everyone with whom we have come in contact has been kind and very helpful to us, and I am sure we are going to love our new home town."

P. T. A. Groups Will Observe National Founders' Day with Special Programs

To the Parent Teacher Association of Barmouth and Baldwin High School, which has been a group of significance. It happens to be the National Founders' Day for the P. T. A. and both groups are planning special observances. Clarence G. Heimlicher, father of the group, is in charge of the program following the dinner at the Barmouth Hotel, Tuesday night, at 6 o'clock. The evening will open with a prayer and a reading of the P. T. A. constitution, which has been in existence for more than 100 years. The program will be a history of the P. T. A. movement, which will trace the development of the organization from the first Congress of Mothers in 1857, through the original objectives of the Association, which will prevail, according to Mrs. Heimlicher, in the welfare of children in home, school, church, and community; to raise the standards of home life, to secure adequate laws for the protection of youth, and to bring the home into a closer relation with the school.

Membership of Two Million Since its inception, the organization has grown to a membership of more than 2,000,000. Included in the program also is a special dinner at 6 o'clock. (Continued on Page Two)

Don't Find Fault with the Family Say It with Verses for Valentines

Valentine's Day is coming again, when we may send our little messages of affection. It's a sweet custom, but one needs a bit of sentimentality about it. One can always be practical, and use even such tender occasions as St. Valentine's Day to good advantage.

So here's a suggestion, in every family that disturbs the peace and harmony of home life. This trouble is caused, in many cases, by various trivial but peculiar differences of members of the family. To offer criticism is to begin a quarrel, or at least an argument which ends nowhere.

Now our plan is this: Let each member of the household take advantage of St. Valentine's Day to write a loving little verse suggesting to the recipient that it would be conducive to greater happiness for all concerned, if he would mend his ways.

Just to illustrate the point, we have penned a few simple verses. For example:

Just to illustrate the point, we have penned a few simple verses. For example: Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

PREYER EPIC... HERE... ISSUES CALL

Congregation Indicates New Jersey Clergyman As Choice For Pulpit

Through the Rev. W. E. McClure of Detroit, moderator of the First Presbyterian church of Birmingham, the Detroit Presbytery was informed at a meeting in Detroit Monday afternoon, of a call issued by the local church to the Rev. W. Glenn Harris of West Trenton, N. J.

At the resignation of the Rev. W. Clarence Wright from his pastorate at the First Presbyterian church of the city, arrangements have been made to have the Rev. Harris fill the vacancy. The Rev. Harris will begin his pastorate here, until further notice, at the First Presbyterian church.

One of the few remaining links that bound Birmingham of the past to Birmingham of the present, was severed Saturday by the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Dickenson Thurlby, 97 years old, who came here from Buffalo, N. Y., in 1850. Her father had been engaged to build the first railroad from Buffalo, N. Y., to Birmingham, Ont. Crossing the Atlantic Ocean in an old-time sailing vessel, the family was only the second to arrive in Birmingham, seven weeks and three days, as the wind was continually driving the ship westward.

Her parents settled in Stratford, Conn., where she remained until her marriage to Thomas T. Thurlby in 1860. The young couple moved at once to Detroit, where they lived for several years. Her husband came to Birmingham to rear their family. On their first trip here, from Detroit, Mrs. Thurlby recalled, the wagon in which she and her husband were making the journey, became firmly embedded in the mud on Woodward avenue at the point where the Central Methodist church now stands.

When Mrs. Thurlby and her husband moved to Birmingham, they bought a home on the West Maple property, which later gave way to the residence in which she died. Mr. Thurlby died in 1898.

She was the mother of three daughters, two of whom survive, and three sons. They are Mrs. M. E. Rundle of Herford, Ariz., Mrs. Mae Hupp, with whom she made her home, and the late Mrs. W. J. Thurlby of Toledo, and Thomas of Birmingham. There are also four great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A. home. The Rev. Dr. John E. Martin of the Central Methodist church officiated. Burial was in Greenwood Cemetery.

Mrs. Thurlby's affiliation with the Methodist church dated back to her childhood in England. Her formula for longevity was hard work with a minimum of sleep.

Plans are also being made for the next season at Camp Mahogany. The Birmingham Y. M. C. A. Board will meet tonight to plan a program for the next few months and hear reports about the work of the group leaders from the Secretary.

Four Cranbrook Seniors are Admitted to Membership in Cum Laude Chapter. The Cum Laude Society is a national institution established for the purpose of honoring students of exceptional merit in colleges and preparatory schools. Each year ten per cent of the senior class at Cranbrook are admitted to membership following mid-year examinations; and another ten per cent are admitted at the end of the year.

Four seniors—Sheldon Woodard, Arthur Neff, Weston Meyer and James Strong—have been admitted to membership in the Cum Laude Society in recognition of the high grade of scholarship which they have maintained during the past two years.

The Cum Laude Society is a national institution established for the purpose of honoring students of exceptional merit in colleges and preparatory schools. Each year ten per cent of the senior class at Cranbrook are admitted to membership following mid-year examinations; and another ten per cent are admitted at the end of the year.

Upon recommendation of the faculty, Cranbrook School in Bloomfield Hills, has voted to accept membership in the Private School Conference for A. S. (Continued on Page Two)

Expire... HOUSE... NEWBARR

Officers For Coming Year To Be Elected Later By This Group

The election of four new directors to the board and reports of the year's activities constituted the major business at the annual meeting of the Community House Association Monday evening at the House. Mrs. Rufus B. Jones, elected to the board to fill an unexpired term, was one of the new directors chosen, as were Mrs. Henry M. Foley, Walter L. Moreland and Fred Johnson, Jr. The officers elected to the three-year terms.

Those remaining on the board are Mrs. E. L. Baker, Mrs. F. W. Boynton, Mrs. Donald G. Eade, Mrs. Satis York Osborne, Mrs. George T. H. H. Jones, Mrs. Clinton E. Sears, Merrill C. Adams, Dr. William Lloyd Kemp, Charles J. Shain and Harold G. Webster. A meeting of the new board will be held Tuesday evening.

Due to the recession and the drop in food prices, the Community House is reducing the cost of its Thursday night family dinners. Mrs. Julia K. Lally, executive director, announced today. Beginning this evening, the charge on the dinners will be fifty percent of the normal cents for children, the same as a year ago.

At the Fall we found it necessary to increase the price of the dinner to meet rising costs in foods," Mrs. Lally said. "However, it is now possible for us to return to the old rate, we desire to follow the trend of the times, and because of the recession, we feel that people are not able to pay the same as in more prosperous times."

held with the week for the election of officers. For the past year, Mrs. Lally has been the retiring president, announced.

Among the interesting facts revealed by the report of the year's activities were that the total of 69,300 persons used the House during 1937, according to Mrs. Lally. The total number of persons using the House was 68,714, less than the 1937 figure.

It has often been said, and rightly so, that one finds out more about a person by observing him in a position of responsibility than by observing him in a position of leisure. Mr. Hascall told the Association, "We learn by experience, and usually find ourselves in a position after performing some duty, where we realize that we were able to do better than we thought we could do. I find myself in that position tonight; there are things we can do, to make the Community House a greater place for our community."

"It would seem to me a fine thing to have a complete history of the House written by someone familiar with it since its inception in the little building upon Maple avenue, tracing its development together with its rules and regulations. Such a history as would place before us a complete story of the institution, so that he or she might pick up from there, and carry things along."

Recreation Program. The by-laws of the House should be amended in many particulars, so as to bring them down to date, and include in them many of the things we now do as a matter of practice."

A recreation program for the House is a definite plan for future financing, were among the recommendations made by Mr. Hascall.

The Community House should take a definite stand in the carrying out of a community recreation program on a year-round basis. True, we entered into this project last summer, in conjunction with the schools and the city. (Continued on Page Two)

WANT ADS WILL DO THE JOB Each week these little Ads bring opportunity to buy—sell—rent—reader services—and many other miscellaneous wants. Rates as low as 25¢ per Adv. Phone 11

The Birmingham Eccentric

Don't Find Fault with the Family Say It with Verses for Valentines

Valentine's Day is coming again, when we may send our little messages of affection. It's a sweet custom, but one needs a bit of sentimentality about it. One can always be practical, and use even such tender occasions as St. Valentine's Day to good advantage.

So here's a suggestion, in every family that disturbs the peace and harmony of home life. This trouble is caused, in many cases, by various trivial but peculiar differences of members of the family. To offer criticism is to begin a quarrel, or at least an argument which ends nowhere.

Now our plan is this: Let each member of the household take advantage of St. Valentine's Day to write a loving little verse suggesting to the recipient that it would be conducive to greater happiness for all concerned, if he would mend his ways.

Just to illustrate the point, we have penned a few simple verses. For example:

Just to illustrate the point, we have penned a few simple verses. For example: Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Don't Find Fault with the Family Say It with Verses for Valentines

Valentine's Day is coming again, when we may send our little messages of affection. It's a sweet custom, but one needs a bit of sentimentality about it. One can always be practical, and use even such tender occasions as St. Valentine's Day to good advantage.

So here's a suggestion, in every family that disturbs the peace and harmony of home life. This trouble is caused, in many cases, by various trivial but peculiar differences of members of the family. To offer criticism is to begin a quarrel, or at least an argument which ends nowhere.

Now our plan is this: Let each member of the household take advantage of St. Valentine's Day to write a loving little verse suggesting to the recipient that it would be conducive to greater happiness for all concerned, if he would mend his ways.

Just to illustrate the point, we have penned a few simple verses. For example:

Just to illustrate the point, we have penned a few simple verses. For example: Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to decide whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outrageous boy friend, or tell him to pick up his darn old coat or scarf.

Next there is the girl with the "boy friend" who barges into the living room and throws his overcoat over one of the two most comfortable chairs. Then he proceeds to make himself cozy in the other most comfortable chair, leaving the girl to