

Luncheon at Church Precedes Monthly Program of the Temperance Union

CLERGYMEN ARE MAIN SPEAKERS AT W C T U MEET

Three Birmingham ministers were speakers at the February meeting of the local post of the Women's Christian Temperance Union. The meeting was held recently at the M. E. church.

At the luncheon served prior to the program, covers were laid for 24 persons, including Rev. John Edward Martin of the Methodist Episcopal church, and Mrs. Martin; Rev. Joseph A. Mears of the United Presbyterian church, and Mrs. Mears; and Rev. Joseph G. Nelson of the First Baptist church and Mrs. Nelson.

"The New Liquor Plan" was the theme chosen by Rev. Martin, principal speaker at the meeting. He stressed the need for more education along temperance lines, saying, "The cooperation of every Christian organization and individual is needed in this work." Brief remarks were also made by Rev. Mears and Rev. Nelson.

A short business meeting brought the afternoon to a close. Members of the W. C. T. U. extend a cordial invitation to anyone interested in the work to attend the meetings, which are held on the second Wednesday of every month. Various of the local churches are hosts to the organization for the meetings.

College Knowledge

By SOPHIE MORE

He-ey! Wait up a minute, all you kids. Honesty, giving girls and boys are SUCH a problem! One week you're so quiet and all the next you're screaming meetings trying to find out enough about you to fill one measly 11' column. Then before we know it activity is sprouting all over the shop and we can't keep up.

Fun In Winter
To what, is left of Sophie's mind, there's nothing quite so heavenly sounding as the program at the traditional Cornell Junior Week, when everyone relaxes from exams and has fun 'til it's time to begin a new semester. They had an ice carnival, with Vera Hrubac, the Czechoslovakian champion as guest, to start things off. Then there was a musical show, intriguingly called "Hells Bells" this year, informal and tend a cordial invitation to anyone interested in the work to attend the meetings, which are held on the second Wednesday of every month. Various of the local churches are hosts to the organization for the meetings.

Mary Maeda Allen was there, with her mother, the organist, William W. Thomas no less, of Muplewood, N. J. It was swell because Mary Maeda came up from Smith, which she attends with friend Betsy Carter, and Betsy was the guest of Winthrop Allen. All four of them had enough fun to sink a ship, and made the welcome ring at the Phi Kappa Alpha house, to which both leads belong.

Fun At Home
We manage to have no end of a peppy time ourselves 'way out west here, what with one thing and another. One BIG item is the J-Hop in Ann Arbor, which is always so strewn with local yokals that the furniers haven't a chance, take a gander at the guest list at the Phi Psi house-party of J-Hop week-end. Cate Kay Crawford was in. So was Yvonne Gay of course, and Mary Quinn was too. The last-named gave her own personal nomination for Frances Farmer's double. She (Mary, not Frances) attended Denison in all not so long ago and is now at home giving us and you a break. She's a Kappa Alpha.

This ain't all about fraternity house-parties for that colossal week-end though. Jean Rutherford of the Sigma Phi house, as the guest of Jim Talman. Those kids really ran the J-Hop leaders were at said house. And at the Chi Phi castle, if you looked around a bit, you'd be sure to see Ann Smith, Bloomfield, Hi, Queen.

You probably know all about the smooth Hop decorations. Black and white coral they were, and seemly lively. But in all the crowd you may not've seen all your pals and their gals. Said gals were and are the tops though, and that's what mean Betty White, Melphie Hurshaw, Lucy, Phyllis, Ginny List, Flurence Bihel, Passy Wygant and Jane are dividies all the gals we mentioned before.

Love One—Gain One
While we're up in Ann Arbor we must include some of DIVINE. Y'know we SAID Bart Herbon was coming home, and sure enough, he did Saturday was the day, and what's more she's going to be here for a while—'til next fall anyway. After that your guess is as good as our'n. Of course she's going back to school in June to attend the grand old F.U.N. and stuff. Meanwhile you can sometimes find her at the Horton house on Florida street.

There's one BIG bit of news which will cheer up the Gamma house, even if it did lose Barb. And that's Per Allen, who moved into the jerry, room-mate and all, of the staff of the Gamma. She's a junior there you see, transferring from Stevens. And we do hope you know about her pals who attended the Hop from all over the place were also from Stevens. So darned reunions and fun.

Such Activity
And now we'll come really CLOSE to home, and remark in passing that Ruth Seager is one gal that really crowded a lot into those few hours. She's been here two semesters, which she spent here in town. We saw her fooling around like crazy with a couple of Detroit luntatics, Tommy Weeks and Red Wells. The latter is junior next year at A. J. and we'll attend the Hop despite a recent parting between himself and his appendix. The three has been lunching together just before we ran into 'em. Oh yes—and the fact that Ruth came with Benjie Root and the two of 'em were merry as grigs about one thing and another.

Be Joyful
Hip Hip and a couple hoorays! We have another home-comer to add to our list. Mary Liz Robinson is the gal. She finished the term at college with some honors and at the leash to whip on up to business school and carve herself out a career. Her plans aren't entirely settled, but we're betting she'll come out on top and we welcome her home with open arms.

Some charming suits are being shown for Spring. The short-fitted jacket suit for town wear is of soft weaves, and has slightly squared shoulders.

A four-piece suit of navy wool mesh has a seven-eight top coat, a short belted jacket bound with tan, a girdle shirt and a white silk turtleneck blouse.

Large plaids for top coats combine three or more colors and the colors are excitingly lovely.

Some of the skirts of twopiece suits have eyelets cut in six places around the waistline. A belt is drawn through them which holds the skirt snugly in place.

A novel coat is one which looks like a suit. It has the jacket attached to the skirt with a concealed zipper fastening.

Social Briefs

Mrs. W. H. Knowles of Lincoln road will be hostess Friday in her home at the second in a series of entertainments. She has invited a number of friends to luncheon at her home, to be followed by an afternoon of bridge. Those who will attend are: Mrs. E. M. West, Mrs. F. Crockett, Mrs. Oliver Horn, Mrs. Paul B. Hoffman, Mrs. Bond Calhoun, Mrs. John B. Marley, Mrs. Ford Pierson and Mrs. Murray Kite.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Shuart were hosts to 20 guests at a desert bridge in their home on North Adams road Monday night. The table was lovely with a silver cloth and red overplath on it. Carrying out the Valentine's day motif, the table was centered with a huge heart-shaped bouquet, which on close inspection, revealed old-fashioned coronages for the women and boutonnières for the men.

The centerpiece, however, was a large arrangement of pink and white tapers flanking the flowers and multi-colored heart candies completed the coronal scheme.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Rogers of Berea, Pa., will be the guests of place for New York on Friday noon. On Saturday they will sail on the Empress Australia for their month's cruise in the West Indies.

Mrs. John S. Lambie returned Friday to her home on Aspen road. She spent the interval since she married in her son, visiting friends in Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Raymond H. Peck, Mrs. George A. Jackson and Mrs. Ray Morrow were co-hostesses at a miscellaneous shower, Thursday night at Mrs. Peck's home on Hanna street. Honor guest was Miss Margaret Anderson, whose marriage to Elton Hauck was an event of March 2. The table was decorated in the Valentine motif.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Laird left their home on George street Tuesday, for a two-weeks motor trip comprising business and pleasure. Their tour will take them through many of the famous old gardens in the Carolinas, Georgia and Florida.

Constance Peck played hostess to a number of the school set in her home on Hanna street Saturday evening. The decorations were in keeping with Valentine's day. Included among the guests were Jan Gibbons, Thirte Firth, Frances Morrison, Foyce Carter, Phyllis Walls, Bill Seligman, Bill and Hugh Denyes, Edward Falberg, Robert Ives and Reneau Sprague.

Miss Elizabeth Boura of Euclid avenue called Thursday at the S. S. Cherokee from New York, bound for Cuba. She was accompanied by her uncle, Paul Roura and his daughters, Caroline and Angeline, all of Ridgewood, N. J. Cuba's interior, to be the guests of another uncle, Julio Quesada-Roura on his plantation, "Quinta la Feliz." Miss Boura will return to Birmingham in about three weeks.

LITERARY GROUP WILL HEAR TALK ON BROADCASTING

Mrs. T. Melbourn Roberts of Yosemite Drive, better known to radio audiences as "Julia Hayes" or "Lady Magna," will be the guest speaker for the Manuscript Club on Friday, Feb. 18, in a series of lectures on Plays and Broadcasting at the home of Mrs. Sainsbury Osborne, Pierce street. Miss Mary Adkins and Mrs. Dwight Rowland of Detroit will be in charge of the tea table.

Mrs. Roberts will speak from the point of view of a radio program director, a field in which she has been prominent for thirteen years. She has been a pioneer in radio work for women, beginning her career over WGH while still in her teens. She has done many types of commercial programs, as woman's commentator on WWJ, as "The Cheer Fairy" in a program of reading for the blind, (the first of its kind in Detroit), as "Lady Moon" on a children's program, and for the last three years on programs for clubwomen over WXYZ and WJKB.

The guest list includes Mrs. Frank Bahington, Mrs. Edith Carter, Mrs. Earl Friedenburgh, Mrs. Carl Leavenworth, Miss Mary McKee, Mrs. John Otten, Mrs. Dwight Rowland and Mrs. Claude Street, Miss Mary A. Adams, Mrs. Effie Allen, Mrs. Kate Drumm, Mrs. N. F. Painter, Mrs. J. H. Shipman and Mrs. Richard West of Birmingham; and Mrs. A. B. Allon, Mrs. J. K. Denton, Mrs. Claude Fox, Mrs. H. B. Humphreys, Mrs. J. Hayward Parsons, Mrs. H. J. Thorne, Mrs. W. E. Sly and Mrs. H. D. Porter of Pontiac and the Hills.

Angus D. McLay of Wimbledon drive is one of the committee members for the Soc Club party, which will be held tonight at McCollister Hall on Cass and Forest, in Detroit.

U. P. Choir Will Sing Old Favorites In 90's Garb

A presentation entitled "Fifty Hill Choir Swings Into Action" will be given in the United Presbyterian Church on Friday, Feb. 25, at 8 o'clock. An evening of musical entertainment, vocal and instrumental, is to be featured. Costumes of the Gay 90's will be worn. In addition to the singing of many of the old favorite hymns of the church some surprise numbers are in store, the nature of which will not be divulged by the entertainment committee. The program is under the direction of Mrs. James Damsell who will give one of her humorous readings. The public is most cordially invited. There is no admission fee, but an offering will be received.

Miss Rosemary Thurber has returned to her home on Oak street, following an extended sojourn in Mexico.

GOOD LIGHTING is relatively cheap.

How often have you gone out of the house for an evening and suddenly remembered with consternation that you left a 60-watt lamp burning in one of the rooms? Perhaps you let the thought worry you the entire time you were away... and needlessly. The cost of operating that lamp for four-and-a-half hours is only ONE CENT—hardly worth spoiling your evening's pleasure! Light is one of the cheapest things you buy.
