

SPEAKER SEES YOUTH AS HOPE OF TOMORROW

(Continued from Page One) rushing into collectivism, as it seems today. "In the case of a river, it flows on flowing," he explained. "It either destroys the obstacles in its way or finds another course around them. But it always goes on the impetuosity settling to the bottom. And so it is with people—those who resist the changes."

ASKS PUBLIC AID IN CRIME PREVENTION

(Continued from Page One) are natives. This creates many problems for law enforcing officers. "Too Much Leniency" The chief of police agency shown by judges when law enforcing officers have brought criminals to the attention of the courts. Intelligent citizens refuse to serve on juries, and justice never can be any higher than the type of persons who make up our juries. Then there is the crazy cult of technicalities thrown into the machinery of justice by courts and lawyers, too many of whom seem to prefer the technicalities. In all instances are entitled to the maximum of leniency, with the public getting the worst of the bargain. We should condemn bitterly those lawyers who pervert their ingenuity in the interest of their clients, going beyond the limits of any person to have his legal rights protected. This is a malignant, fair and impartial Canadian type of justice, where the courts and the lawyers assume themselves to be agents of justice.

CITIZENS DISCUSS PROPOSED PLAN FOR DISPOSAL

(Continued from Page One) Prizes given for the program of holding these public meetings was registered by the taxpayers present. Speaking for the Commission, William E. Moody, one of its members said: "I want the whole public to know about the need for this sewage disposal plant. We could have gone ahead and issued the revenue bonds without saying anything at all—but that isn't our way of doing business. We on the Commission don't want to spend any money than we have to, but the need for eliminating Birmingham's pollution of the River Rouge is the most urgent one confronting Birmingham. Your City Commission is deeply appreciative of the spirit of co-operation manifest by the citizens who have attended the four meetings thus far held." Next Monday night citizens in precincts four and five, in the area south of Lincoln avenue, have been invited to meet with the City Commission at eight o'clock, to discuss the project.

(Continued from Page One) The water and milk supply is under constant supervision. The markets and other establishments in the city are subject to frequent inspection, and generally speaking, comply with very high standards. By and large, I believe they compare favorably with any community in the state. "I find a desire on the part of the management to work with the department, and in only one case has it been necessary to bring an offender into court. There have been frequent instances however, where so-called transient businesses have attempted to operate under conditions below our required standards.
