

YOUNG PIANIST TO MAKE DEBUT IN CONCERT SERIES

Marking an important innovation in the history of publicly-presented music, the first of the four programs in the recently announced Recital-Concert Series will be played by the Detroit Symphony Orchestra in Orchestra Hall, Friday night, Jan. 21.

Ruth Sienkewski, sensational 12-year-old pianist, will be presented at the opening concert, making her first appearance in Detroit. She will play the Prelude and Fugue, in A Minor, of Bach-Liszt and Schumann's Etudes Symphoniques, Opus 13, as well as the solo role in Third Concerto for Piano and Orchestra, in C Minor, Opus 37, of Beethoven. The young genius has written her own canzonas for the concerto, a work she has dedicated to Edouard de Reszka.

Dr. Slosson To Give Talk Here Tonight

The address of Dr. Preston E. Slosson, professor of European history at the University of Michigan, will appear tonight at the M. E. church, under the auspices of the Birmingham Council of Church Women. Following dinner, which will be served promptly at 6 p. m., Dr. Slosson will speak on "The World Between Wars."

He will be introduced by Mrs. Lee A. White. In view of his career, which includes the publishing of several related books on the subject, Dr. Slosson seems eminently suited to make such an address. He began his study of international history in 1916, when an assistant instructor in history at Columbia University. He has served on the editorial board of the New York Independent, as assistant librarian of the American Peace Commission at Versailles and as a professor of history in Michigan, London and Scotland.

The lecture is open to the general public. Tickets may be purchased for the address alone, or for both the dinner and the ensuing program.

Harold A. King, of Shirley Drive, when Birmingham's new sewage disposal plant is installed and working, and the present small plant in the park area along the River Rouge, west of Southfield avenue, is removed, I am glad to know that a public park area can be developed there. This part he made into a real spot of beauty and recreation.

Barnum School Notes

Today the Barnum Junior High School band and orchestra, under the direction of Arnold W. Berndt, will entertain at the assembly at 10:20 a. m. in the gymnasium. The orchestra will play the following selections: "Serenade," Spanish Serenade; "Indian Chief," War Dance; Spring Time, Waltz; "Progress," March; "Russian Folk Song," and School Chorus March. The band will play "Kukla"—waltz, "Ballads" Song and "Golden Gate"—march.

At 1 p. m. today the 8A class of Billie Barnum School will entertain the mothers of the class at a dessert luncheon. M. W. Robinson, principal, will explain the necessity of careful choosing of high school courses. Miss Gertrude Herick is the supervising member of the faculty.

On Friday, January 14 the 9A home-room will serve luncheon to 40 members of the student body and faculty. The purpose of the luncheon is to raise money for defraying graduation expenses.

Students to Elect New Congress Heads

Once again Baldwin High School will hold its semi-annual election for the officers of Student Congress. Petitions have been sent around this week. On these one hundred names had to be signed for the person to become a candidate. The petitions were due today, and campaign speeches and election will be held sometime early next week.

A committee whose members were Frances Chandler, Bill Cobb, Dave McKinney, and Theodor Firth are members of the election committee which handles the petitions, campaign speeches, and election. Members of Mr. Murray's civics classes will assist with the ballots on election day.

Royal Oak Wins Reserve's Game 34-20

The Reserve's game was a decided victory for Royal Oak. Bud Seabright, whose nickname "Little Caesar" he carries, was the star, scoring five field goals and two touchdowns and generally harassing the maroon team on defense. Royal Oak won 34-20.

Dale Carnegie and Bob Swisher also starred for Royal Oak, while Don McBride was high point man for Birmingham with two field goals and three touchdowns. McBride was the same as previously but just couldn't get going.

Reserve's Line-Up:
Royal Oak: Seabright, f; Buck, f; Schroeder, f; Bias, f; Guest, f; Dunkel, c; McGuire, f; Swisher, c; Swisher, g; Reid, g; Maudling, g; Birmingham: McBride, f; Dalloy, f; Vercio, f; Austin, f; Prev, c; McCarthy, g; Osterman, g.

Maroons Set For Game With Cranes

The Birmingham basketball team will seek its fifth victory of the season Tuesday at 4 p. m., when it encounters the Cranbrook Five on the latter's floor. The Cranes have played two games this season and go to Cleveland Saturday before taking on the Marion Quintet.

Cranbrook lost the first game, played on its home floor, to St. Mary's of Orchard Lake, but won the return bout Tuesday in thrilling fashion. Bill Hudson dropped the winning basket for the Cranes two seconds before the end of the game to clinch the victory by one point.

Birmingham was also victorious by one point Friday, when the Maroon team tossed out Royal Oak by a foul shot in the last eight seconds of play. Such a set-up makes the coming contest one of keen interest to spectators as well as an important game to both teams.

EXHIBITION OF EARLY ITALIAN SCULPTURE OPENS

The bronze statuette of Judith by Antonio Pollaiuolo, outstanding sculptor of Florence in the late 15th century, is among the 100 masterpieces drawn from museums and private collections throughout the country for the exhibition of Italian Sculpture from 1250 to 1500 at the Detroit Institute of Arts, which began Friday and will continue to Feb. 20.

It is the first time such an exhibit has ever been held in America, illustrating every phase of Italian Gothic and Early Renaissance sculpture as well as all the important sculptors of the period, such as Nicola Pisano, Ghiberti and Donatello.

Throughout the duration of the exhibit there will be a gallery tour every afternoon at 3 o'clock and every Friday evening at 8 as well as a series of lectures every Tuesday evening at 8:30 in the Institute lecture hall. Admission to the museum and to these talks is free to the public at all times.

More than 80 pieces in the exhibit are religious in character, showing the importance of Christianity in the period. But from 1250 to 1500 the religious conception changed and this transition, from the spiritual approach of life in the Middle Ages to the more worldly attitude of the Renaissance, is reflected in the sculpture.

This latter attitude, resulting in a more realistic art, may be seen in Pollaiuolo's Judith, heroine of the Old Testament, who during the Renaissance symbolized the rise of freedom in Florence. The vigorous pose of the figure and the energetic curves of her drapery express the excitement of her deed; the noble uplifted face expresses the heroic pride of the liberator.

Flour Burns

By George Rounds
Every single point counted in Friday's game, especially the last one, in a certainly a game to be placed in the ranks of Baldwin's greatest exhibitions of athletic skill and endurance. Every player deserves the largest slap on the back that anybody in Baldwin can give him.

Every one saw "Lanky" McGuire on the Royal Oak second team, for he towered a full two heads above the rest of the players. He is six feet seven.

Lefty Grambeau made the first and last tackles of the game. He started the scoring by sinking a long shot from center field and ended the game with the deciding free throw.

After an unsuccessful foul attempt at the Birmingham basket, Maudlin of Royal Oak added to the excitement of the reserve game by jumping the ball into the wrong basket, giving Birmingham two unearned points.

A common sight in Birmingham games is to see Dick "Red" Beals on the Royal Oak bench, ready to cheerleader and longstanding mascot of Birmingham teams often struts his stuff before amused spectators and gives not a little competition to the regular maroon cheer leaders. He certainly got a big hand at Royal Oak and an introduction over the P. A. System.

Birmingham missed seeing Bud Chamberlain in the Turkey Day tilt but got a good look at him Friday when he played a great defensive game. However, he was more or less handcuffed on the offensive. He didn't make a basket.

Royal Oak used the whole second string list. Coach Baldwin put in the fourth reserve quintet in the closing minutes of the first game. Royal Oak won 34-20.
