'No Early Permits' Case Warns Drivers

Indications that many motorists of Michigan are seeking to evade the coming examination for operator's license, are offered from applications received from persons whose present license will be valid for some time to come.

Leon D. Case, Secretary of State, has warned that the state's licensing act prohibits the issuance of a license to any applicant whose present license does not expire in less than six months. Several thousand premature applications have been returned to applicants in the past few weeks.

This process adds to the cost of administration of the license law because of the involvements of the procedure. Credit of 15 cents to local governments for each license, has already been posted on departmental books when applications are checked; in instances where applications are rejected, such credits must be withdrawn.

The entire refunding process to the counties is slowed up by the increasing volume of such operations.

Pharmacy College Now Open At Ferris

Opening of the second semester for the College of Pharmacy at Ferris Institute has been announced for Monday, Jan. 17, by Dr. Simon Benson, Dean of the College. Three new and distinct courses in the pharmacy field will be offered to advanced students who are qualified for the work. Special laboratory space has been set aside for selected students and research.

A new course in hospital and laboratory technique is being developed in conjunction with the Community Hospital. This will involve metabolic testing, X-Ray, urinalysis, blood counts, etc.

A special course in commercial printing and lettering for show cards. Special attention will be given to the art of show-case and window decoration.

BACK FENCING

By A MAN ABOUT TOWN

Now that the new theater question seems to be settled as far as its location is concerned, the popular question on the street is, "Where is the new Post Office going to be located?" Although the public was invited to express opinions regarding a logical site for the government building in a preceding edition of The Eccentric, very few people availed themselves of the opportunity to express themselves. We have found that there are a number of folks around town however, who have some very definite ideas regarding the question, and some have some very sound logic to back up their ideas. The majority seem to favor a back-street location, and if our memory serves us right, we would say that those in favor of a site adjoining the City Office and Park are in the majority. Time will tell, and we hope that the majority will be served.

Bringing up the theater proposition brings to mind the pleasant reaction we received the other evening when we visited the local theater and saw Paul Muni in "The Life Of Emily Zola." Not only did we enjoy the feature picture, but came out of the theater with the feeling that we had had enough... not too much. Some one on the radio a week or so ago said that the bird that originated the double features at the movie houses was one of the "Public Enemies" not being sought by "G" men. While not quite so harsh in our criticism, we do agree that the Double Features have been a headache to many theater goers. A real feature picture and a few good news reels and a cartoon is our idea of a well balanced program. Here's hoping the new theater (when it is really) operates on a "Single Feature" policy. It might be a good idea for the advocates of this kind of show to start a campaign and make known their wishes to the management of the Tremble organization. The information would probably be well received.

Being an ordinary "run of the mill" individual, we must hereby admit that we do make mistakes and that we did make a mis-statement in our column of last week. Due to a misunderstanding, we stated that Bud Sumner and Clair Servens and their wives were sojourning down in sunny Florida. It so happens that Mr. Sumner has not entered the ranks of the married men, still—we admit our error and hope that the mis-statement did not cause too much inconvenience to those who were called and questioned regarding the marital state of the popular young man referred to, in our chatter of last week.

On opening our mail the other day, we found a letter addressed to The Back Fencer, and inside a card with two buttons attached for Mr. and Mrs. Back Fencer. Inspection revealed that we had been sent two cute little buttons with inscriptions on each reading, "I Can Take It Club." A little sleuthing and we discovered that a certain Dentist with offices in the Theater Building, gives these "club" buttons to his little patients who are good boys and girls when under his dental care. We suppose they were sent to us because we are known to be tobogganing enthusiasts. Thanks, Doctor, we'll keep them as evidence of your thoughtfulness. We are not so sure, however, that we would rate a button if planted in that upholstered chair of yours with all the drills and gullets hanging above it.

"What A Man, Nash," who operates the grocery end of the Economy Market has come to grief at last. Jack is one of a family of some twelve, none of whom has ever suffered the pain of a broken bone, although some of them are very much inclined toward the athletic. Jack, who claims intimate knowledge of every sport, from aquaplaning to horse back riding, went ice skating the other night after having been off the ice for about sixteen years! As he became acquainted with the feel of the ice again, he became more bold and daring—AND—as he was in the act of executing a graceful (?) back circle, his skate hit an ice crack and he did a porcupine. Professional investigation revealed a broken bone in his left arm, and now the dapper grocery man is carrying his arm around in a cast and sling. Not only has he broken his arm... he has broken the family record.

Very often we discover that we must get away from our immediate surroundings in order to fully appreciate what we have at hand. Last week we traveled over to a thriving city located in the central part of the State and spent a few hours visiting some of the business men of that city. We discovered that, while most of the various lines of merchandise to be found in Birmingham were also carried by the merchants of that city, the manner in which they were presented was far different from that which we find here in Birmingham. We saw no deluxe food markets which are a part of our business section, no attractive, inviting, metropolitan (shall we say) women's stores where smart apparel is displayed in spacious windows and in artistic cases attractively arranged within well-lighted stores. Drug stores, hardware stores, electrical stores, men's stores—they have 'em all—but none can compare with those which we have here in Birmingham and which we who live here, just seem to take for granted. If there should be any doubt concerning the advantages offered local shoppers as being superior to those available in other cities of similar size (or even considerably larger), just compare our stores with those of other cities the next time you are on a trip and have the chance to look over other business districts. You'll come back with a more appreciative feeling towards your Birmingham shops and storekeepers, we'll bet a cookie.

Well, now that we have that off our chest, we'll run along and "tend to our knittin'." We haven't been around much this past week, so we haven't heard much about the folks about town. We'll keep our ears pinned to the ground, however, and try to tell you more about the natives in our next episode. And—in the mean time, if the walks get slippery again... Happy Landing.

OUR COAL "TALKS"

We depend on our coal to tell its own story of quality and service. If our patrons who use our coal day after day and season after season are not pleased and recommend it to their neighbors and friends, it matters little what we may say.

ARE YOU LISTENING?

The final word must be spoken by the coal itself. The user who tells his next-door neighbor how good Lawson's coal proves to be in actual service is our best advertiser. Lawson's coal "talks"—and its message is—
