

Carol Collins Tells Plans For Her Marriage To William W. Widdicombe

BRIDE-ELECT ARRANGES FOR JULY WEDDING

Always fascinating are wedding plans, and this is especially the case when it's a summer affair and the bride is one of the leaders of the younger set. Miss Carol Collins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry V. Collins of Pilgrim road, announces this week the plans for her marriage to William W. Widdicombe, son of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Kendall of Grand Rapids.

The marriage will be solemnized in St. Dunstan's Chapel of Christ Church Cranbrook at noon on Wednesday, July 6. The Rev. Robert W. Woodruff will officiate at the ceremony, which will be witnessed by members of the immediate families. Mr. and Mrs. Collins will be hosts at breakfast, following the nuptials, after which the young couple will leave on a trip.

Miss Jane Brede, as maid of honor, will be Miss Collins' attendant. Mr. Abbott Widdicombe will assist his brother as best man. Miss Collins will graduate from the University of Michigan on Saturday, and will leave immediately afterwards for the wedding-party of Alpha Delta Phi fraternity, of which Mr. Widdicombe is a member. She will be accompanied by a number of parties before her wedding.

COMMITTEE ON GARDEN PARTY REVEALS PLANS

A bridge and ten, to take place in the lovely garden of Mrs. Martin J. Widdicombe, will conclude for the season, the activities of the League of Catholic Women. And in case of inclement weather, League's most ambitious social project of the year, for arrangements have been made to hold it at the Community House if necessary.

Mrs. J. W. DeBauben is assistant chairman to Mrs. Widdicombe, who is general chairman of arrangements. On the committee are the names of Mrs. Duvour E. Rossman, Mrs. James W. Partlan, Mrs. Charles J. O'Connor, Mrs. John C. Fitzpatrick, Mrs. J. Darcy Taylor, Mrs. Howard DeLongchamps, Mrs. Frank J. McGinnis, Mrs. Jack Leary, Mrs. W. F. Blake, Mrs. Frank J. Mulholland and Mrs. John H. Savage.

Mrs. Savage and Mrs. Blake will preside at the tea table during the afternoon. Mrs. Leary and Mrs. McGinnis are in charge of decorations. Each member of the League will bring an appropriate table prize, and door prizes are under the general chairmanship of Mrs. Mulholland.

A number of members of the younger set will assist the committee in the capacity of pages. Those whose aid has been enlisted are Frances Flynn, chairman; Mary Margaret Beh, Margaret Carey, Anne Louise Baldwin, Grace Ford, Aileen Anne and Rosemary DeBoschian, Nancy McCarthy, Dorothy Taylor and Florence Lawler.

The League will meet its annual picnic at the Community House with proceeds from the party. Additional funds will be raised for welfare projects sponsored by the League.

Boxes At Detroit Horse Show Afford A View Of Sports-Loving Socialites

When society dons its best bib and tucker and frequents the same place for four days, it makes an eventful occasion in more ways than one. And if Friday evening's crowd is a sample, the Detroit Horse Show, held Thursday through Sunday at the Bloomfield Open Hunt Club, attracted socialites from all over the country, adding a festive note to the colorful and exciting program going on before their eyes.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. McCall occupied a box with a large party. Mrs. McCall wore a sand-colored suit with bright, light green accessories, including her stitchee turban. Among those with her were Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Curtis, the latter in a flower-print silk frock, over which she wore a short fur cape. Her cartwheel hat was of bright red straw.

Dr. and Mrs. Lewis E. Daniels and their daughter, Patricia, and Mrs. James E. Bullard, were among the guests in the box of Dr. Harold Morris of Grosse Pointe. Mrs. Daniels wore a blue flowered sheer, and Patricia was also in blue, sporting a perky feather in her hat. Mrs. Bullard chose the ever-popular navy, with a white lace collar.

Mrs. James Vernon Jr., in a lovely blue and white print frock, afforded only a glimpse, she was so surrounded. In another large party were Miss Lillian Vaughn and Miss Joan Hammond, who wore a blue and white short-skirt. Miss Vaughn wore a blue shimmering frock under her white hat, and Miss Hammond wore a blue and white frock with a white collar.

Mr. and Mrs. Waldo E. Fellows, and their daughter, Virginia, Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Middleton and Mr. and Mrs. George Howard Fox were among others noted among the strollers. Mrs. Fox wore a white and black and maroon felt Breton hat. Studying the program also were Mrs. Lillian Clarence G. Heinmiller, in a royal blue frock and matching turban. Mrs. Heinmiller, who sat with her, was equally interested.

Young Set Attends.
The younger set turned out to a man (and woman's) for the affair. Miss Doris Perkins in navy, wearing a red coat, strolled by with Miss Joan Hart, who was wrapped snugly in a polo coat. Another attractive pair were Mrs. Kenneth M. Kinnee and Miss Victoria Widenmann. Mrs. Kinney chose powder blue to compliment her blonde hair, and Miss Widenmann's spectator sports costume was all navy, including her felt hat. Miss Barbara Titilston, with a large party, also chose pale blue. Her light yellow swagger coat was matched by her large leghorn hat. Little Mary Ellen Stuart, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. H. H. Stuart, was one of the representatives of the younger set.

An animated couple were Mrs. Betty Peabody and Harry Brelsford. Miss Peabody chose a black box coat and a matching picture hat of felt, with a vivid ribbon. Another happy spectator was Mrs. Tom B. Klingensmith, whose rose-colored suit distinguished her, as she and Mr. Klingensmith visited from box to box during the evening.

Two very busy persons were Mr. and Mrs. Donald S. Bell. Mrs. Bell was well worth watching, for however, in her trim black reefer and black straw sailor hat, bedecked with multi-colored flowers.

Auto Show Popular.
An interested crowd filled the tent which housed the automobile exhibits. Mrs. Walter Finney, looking charming in black was there, as was Mrs. Paul B. Hoffman, in a striking plaid greatcoat. Mr. and Mrs. Robert N. Woodruff were also present. Mrs. Taylor, whose eye seemed caught by the fascinating spaniel puppies, wore a beige coat and brown accessories. Miss Evelyn Livingston Smith was another who favored navy. She wore a reefer and a straw sailor hat, banded in bright colors. Miss Emily Walker, in a flower print frock hurried by with Miss Eleanor Miller, in navy lace.

Others of the young set seen besides Mr. and Mrs. Clark Branson. Mrs. Branson wore a mustard wool coat with a stole collar over her sports outfit. Miss Betty Lou Myers in black, with a sheer white blouse, was escorted by David Burgess. The last glimpse we had of the show-goers was of Miss Betty Brady, in black and white, and Miss Mary Palmer, whose sand-colored frock was trimmed with polka dots on a black background.

REPUBLICAN WOMEN ANNOUNCE MEETING
The Republican Women's Federation of Oakland County will meet at the Pontiac Board of Commerce at two o'clock on the afternoon of Tuesday, June 21. Men as well as women are invited to attend the meeting.

Mrs. Edwin Kreighoff of Detroit is scheduled to appear on the program as guest speaker. Congressman George A. Dondero will also speak, providing that Congress be adjourned by that time. The Board of Directors of the Federation will meet at noon previous to the meeting, for a luncheon at the Hotel Heldenbrand in Pontiac.

Younger Set To Start Summer At Two Parties
A gay start to the summer vacation period is being planned by members of the Sigma Lambda Alumnae Associations. They will be busy for most of the remainder of June with a variety of exciting festivities.

On Saturday, June 18, they are planning a luncheon at Orchard Lake Country Club. Honor guests will be newly-initiated members of the organization. The affair will also be in the nature of a reunion, since many of those who plan to attend are recent arrivals from college. Miss Betty Miller and Miss Patricia Blackmore are co-chairmen of the luncheon.

Health League Tea To Follow Meeting

The second in a series of two recitals will present the young pianists of the Maternal Health League of Michigan. Those interested in the work of the organization will hear an address by Mrs. James McAvoy, president of the Birth Control Clinic of Detroit, who will tell of her work with the Health League and its clinic in Royal Oak.

Assisting Mrs. Rothman as co-hostesses will be Mrs. Robert H. Dinsley, Mrs. Raymond E. White, Mrs. Julian J. Frey, Mrs. M. D. Archangeli, Mrs. Ralph L. Yonker, Mrs. Bruce E. VanDusen, Mrs. C. Howard Donnelly and Mrs. Leonard T. Lewis. Tea will be served following the program.

Fashion Tips

The peasant fad which was started about a year ago is still going strong. "Dirndl," or in other words, peasant dresses, are being copied from Sweden and many other lands.

Full skirts and haque bodies are also being shown in play clothes and this style is even affecting bathing suits.

Color is everywhere. Nail polish is even more brilliant and varied than heretofore. Black and white are new notes in polish.

Summer evening frocks continue to be full skirted and decollete although the shirtwaist model is gone on young girls.

Men go in for color during the summer months. Jacket of blue and yellow are popular and slacks in bright colors are being worn by members of the sterner sex.
