GOLF TO PLAY LEAD ROLE AT BIRMINGHAM

The golf links will be the court of the reigning favorite in entertainment at Birmingham—Golf Club over the week-end and Monday will be devoted primarily to the sport, with intervals of less strenuous events to vary the program.

Men members will have a kick-off handicap match Sunday morning, July 3. That evening there will be a special dinner, with music throughout the dinner period.

On Monday, the 4th, there will be a flag tournament for men in the morning. The men will continue with play right through the afternoon, with a driving and approaching contest scheduled to begin at noon. Mixed foursomes will begin their play in the afternoon, starting at two.

There will be a special party for the children at three o'clock on Monday afternoon, followed by dinner for the entire family. Children of all ages will be entertained starting at nine p. m., with a special display of fire works.

Local Man Weds In East Lansing

Of interest to Birmingham is news of the marriage of Miss Marian Fishbeck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon B. Fishbeck of East Lansing, to Robert Mason Gillespie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gillespie of Square Lake road. The marriage was solemnized Saturday by the Rev. N. A. McNamee in the chapel of the People's Church in East Lansing.

The young couple will make their home in East Lansing upon their return from a wedding trip. The bride attended Michigan State College, as did Mr. Gillespie, who was among the local students graduated in June. He is a member of Alpha Gamma Rho, the Agronomy Club, the M. S. C. Flying Club and the college band.

VIRGINIA BIRD MAKES DEBUT AT LUNCHEON

Bloomfield Hills took cognizance Tuesday afternoon of a debutante function in Detroit, at which a former resident made her bow. The debutante was Miss Virginia Bird, now of Grosse Pointe, who was presented at a buffet luncheon at the Detroit Club by her mother, Mrs. H. Lancastris Bird.

Greater roses filled with crimson rambles and blue delphinium marked the entrance to the ballroom of the Detroit Club, which created a riot of delicate color with their variety of bloom, were disposed about the lounge, where Mrs. Bird, Virginia and her sister, Betty, received against a background of greenery.

The debutante wore the traditional white, her gown being a simple affair of white tulle edged organza, with black bowknots accenting the square neckline. Her slippers were blue and her flowers, sent by her father, Ralph S. Bird, were white spray orchids and forget-me-nots.

Mrs. Bird's gown also was of white chiffon, with a shirred jacket, and her slippers were green satin. She wore a corsage of lavender orchids. Betty Bird wore a white net jacket frock and a corsage of lavender orchids.

Assisting Virginia were Betsey Lay, Sally Book, Priscilla Dymally, Barbara Curtis of Bloomfield Hills, and Ann Lilley. Those assisting Mrs. Bird were Mrs. Arthur Reid, Mrs. F. Barclay Lay, Mrs. Otto Kern and Mrs. Harry W. Taylor of Bloomfield Hills, and Mrs. Herbert W. Lancastris of Toledo.

Among the Bloomfield and Birmingham guests noted at the affair were: Mrs. Frederick J. Robinson, Mrs. Graham John Graham, Mrs. W. G. Leichen, Mrs. Walter R. Flannery, Mrs. Carl J. Darmstadter, Mrs. Louis J. Giffels, Mrs. Harold M. George and Mrs. Edward F. Harrigan.

Mrs. J. Robert F. Swanson of Lone Pine road is sojourning in Europe for the summer. She will return to this country early in September.

PARENTS REVEAL ENGAGEMENT AT AFTERNOON TEA

Tiny scrolls announced the engagement of Miss Amy Harrell to Herbert B. Hatch Jr. at a tea Saturday, but only a few close friends and the families of the young couple knew that they were to be married in the fall, as they had previously indicated. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Harrell of Waddington road. Mr. Hatch is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert B. Hatch of Stockton, Cal., formerly of Fairfax road in Birmingham.

The bridegroom flew from California to Birmingham, arriving Saturday forenoon as a surprise guest of honor at his own engagement party. It was after his arrival that plans were made for the quiet wedding.

The young couple spoke their vows Wednesday morning in the First Presbyterian Church, officiating by the Rev. W. Glen Harris officiating. Only a family witnessed the ceremony.

The bride was lovely in a soft print gown of blue chiffon, fashioned on simple, street-length lines. With it she wore matching blue shoes and a white hat, distinguished by a blue veil. Her flowers were a corsage arrangement of gardenias, identical to those worn by Mrs. Harrell and Miss Doris Perkins, who was maid of honor at the ceremony.

Miss Perkins wore a sheer street-length gown in a light blue color. With it she wore a matching picture hat, of straw. Philip Moses served as best man for Mr. Hatch. Following the ceremony, the bride and groom embarked by the noon plane for Stockton, where they will make their home in the future.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrell tested invitations to 50 guests for the engagement tea Saturday, which was held at the home of Mrs. Harrell. The guests included Mrs. Harrell, larkspur and gladioli were used in profusion on the table and throughout the home. The table was laid with a hand-embroidered white cloth, centered by the flowers and white tapers in crystal holders.

Mrs. Russell Valley of Pleasant Ridge and Miss Perkins of Birmingham were bridesmaids in white, with a white and blue accessories. Dick Harrell presided at the punch bowl, which was stationed on the porch.

For tea, Miss Harrell chose a blue georgette frock with white accessories, and a corsage arrangement of white roses. Mrs. Harrell wore a sheer blue gown also, and white roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Reid Jr. of Clifton road have as their guests Mrs. Reid's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Overington Jr.; her niece, Miss Claudia Newman and Mr. Overington's cousin, J. A. Page, all of Philadelphia. Mr. and Mrs. Overington and Miss Newman will remain in Birmingham for a month. Mr. Page will return to his home after the holiday week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. George C. Hale have just returned from Washington, D. C. While there they attended the wedding of Miss Mildred Hanson of Washington, to Clarence Damon of Lafayette, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederic C. Pew Jr. of Aspen road will have as their week-end guests, Mr. Pew's nephew, Ralph Waycott Jr., of Pasadena, Cal. Mr. Waycott is en route to his home from the Taft school.

Miss Bette Elliott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. P. Elliott of Oakland avenue, left Saturday for Kawartha Falls, Ont. She will remain there until August as the guest of her grandmother, Mrs. E. M. Elliott.

Royal Canadian Yachtsmen To Sail In Annual Contest At Orchard Lake

The Royal Canadian Yacht Club of Toronto will make an international holiday out of July 4 festivities at Orchard Lake Country Club. The team will arrive Saturday noon for a series of match races with the Orchard Lake sailors and their wives. Preceding the first race will be a regatta at 1:30 Saturday afternoon, the winners and their wives and guests will be honored at a luncheon evening by the host team and their wives.

The last two of the seven annual races staged by the two clubs have been unlucky for the Orchard Lake sailors, but the club's stars have been picked as contestants for this year's regatta, and it promises to be a close affair.

Those who will sail for the Americans include Robert E. Grindley, V. B. Myers, J. L. Penfield, Fritz Strong, Phil B. VanDusen, Fred St. John, Theron B. VanDusen, "Bud" Adams, Hugh A. Hitchcock, Waldemar P. Adams, Arthur Grosvenor, Spencer D. Hopkins, Jack Strong, Harold Lee Ward and Colin Campbell.

Gordon Reid of Toronto and E. W. Averill will act as team captains, choosing the skipper for each race. Cyrus Adolbert Newcomb Jr. and Willis Ward have been named honorary chairmen of the regatta. The committee is composed of Arthur J. Underwood, Neil C. McMath, Godfrey Strelinger, Hewitt Noble and W. D. Crim. At the end of Saturday's races there will be an informal dinner, also in honor of the sailors. Sunday's activities are not yet set. But on Monday, July 4, the men will race the junior skippers at 10:30 a. m. They will race the women sailors at three o'clock Monday afternoon.

There will be men's golfing events Saturday, Sunday and Monday. An 18 hole handicap, medal play and a two-division tournament promise to keep the links lively. Women golfers will play on Monday, with a flag tournament, a putting and approaching contest.

There will be exhibition singles and doubles tennis matches at the club, with play scheduled to begin at three o'clock Monday afternoon. In the morning, the Orchard Lake tennis stars, both men and women, will play those of Pine Lake Country Club, on the courts of the latter.

The children will be entertained at a glorified party on the afternoon of the Fourth. They will participate in a program of games, swimming and races etc., early in the afternoon, followed by a picnic and a puppet show. PARENTS TELL NEWS OF RITES AT SUNDAY TEA

Friends of Miss Helen A. Starr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Seymour of Farmington, Mich., attended a tea given Sunday in her honor by her mother anticipating news of her betrothal to Francis W. Baesecker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Baesecker of Harmon avenue. Instead, they were surprised to learn that the young couple had already spoken their vows. The quiet ceremony was performed by the Rev. James Horigan in the rectory of St. Aloysius' Church, December 31, but because of the bridegroom's business plans, the young couple and their families decided not to reveal the news until Sunday.

The wedding of the young couple was held at the home of Mrs. McCutcheon was Miss Starr's only attendant, and Paul Gieyer served as best man.

News of the match was conveyed to the guests by tiny cards bearing the names of the young couple and attached with ribbons to the red roses and blue delphinium which centered the tea table. The bride wore a white gown, and a cousin, the bride, presided at the tea table.

Assisting Mrs. Starr were Mrs. Francis Baesecker, mother of the bridegroom; Miss Mary Starr and Mrs. Starr's sister, Miss Agnes. Also attending were Mrs. E. Evans of Detroit. Also present were the two grandmothers, Mrs. Bartley Bank of Detroit and Mrs. Louise Kozel of St. Paul, Minn. Mrs. Kozel was a guest of the Baesecker family at present and will remain with them during the summer.

Friends of the bride who were present include Lillian Vaughan, Eleanor Wacker, Mary Quinn Johnson, Betty Lou Myers, Mrs. Starr, Catherine Lawson, Margaret Hamilton, Mrs. Franklin Whitney, Betty Lou Myers, Mrs. Robert Voss, Mrs. Gilbert Haddas, Beatrice Mattingly, Barbara Francis, Mrs. Thomas Fisher, H. Rosemary Neal, Ruth Evans and Mrs. C. Carter.

Miss Starr shows a yellow gown of dotted Swiss for the tea, fashioned in Irish style. With it she wore a corsage arrangement of tansian roses. Mrs. Starr received her guests in a frock of brown marquisette, distinguished by an embroidered white bolero. Her flowers were gardenias. Mrs. Baesecker senior also chose brown, in a crisp afternoon gown of street length.

Miss McCutcheon was among the first to enter the room, when she was hosted at a personal shower Wednesday evening, in her home on Lakeview avenue.

Flashlight from almost directly overhead makes the child's figure stand out against a background of rich shadows. The picture was snapped when the subject had forgotten there was a camera near.

PARENTS usually think of outdoor and sunny summer days as the proper place and time for picturing children, and once this was true. Before the advent of fast films and electric light bulbs, especially designed for amateur photography, daytime was the only time snapshots could work. Today that is no longer the case.

Nowadays, pleasing child pictures may be taken inside the home either by day or night, and more amateurs are taking them. This is partly because the home provides an ideal setting for the child's face and partly because the photographer can control his light to make pictures more interesting.

The modern largest-sized amateur flood bulbs are so powerful that the camera worker can put two of them in reflectors three to four feet from the subject, and take snapshots, as he would outdoors, with an ordinary box camera. The camera is, of course, loaded with super-sensitive film and its lens set at the widest opening. Other cameras can be used at 1/25 second shutter speed and f8 or f11 lens opening.

Snapping a picture like this is a great help in obtaining natural, unposed child pictures. It is no longer necessary to take "stills" exposures, but the child is to "hold your still." Now his tops are placed in the circle of light cast by the flood bulbs, and as soon as he is absorbed in them, and unconscious of the camera—snap goes the shutter and the picture is made!

There is a variety of lighting arrangements one can use on child pictures. For a cheerful, joyous effect, everything in the picture should be flooded in tone, and there should be even illumination, with no deep shadows. However, when a dramatic effect is desired, illumination can be restricted to the child's face and hair, with everything else in deep shadow. This tends to give the impression of a very small child in a large room, something of an effect of loneliness which is more appealing than if the picture were brightly and carelessly lit.
