★ Goofy Comedies

★ 'The Sheik' Is Funny

★ Restless Holiday

—By Virginia Vale—

IT LOOKS more and more as if goofy comedies were on the wane. First Carole Lombard said she'd have no more of them. Now Claudette Colbert, who helped to start the cycle with "It Happened One Night," has balked.

It was planned that she would do "Are Husbands Necessary?" when she returned from that European jaunt, but instead she'll go to work in "Midnight," which is romantic and dramatic and everything but goofy.

Speaking of "It Happened One Night," it was revived recently in New York, and a lot of people who'd heard about how funny it was but had missed it the first time round had a chance to see it. And the addicts who went to it over and over when it was first released found it just as funny as ever.

The revival of Valentino's "The Sheik," seems to have been ill-advised. Any picture that old is bound to look funny nowadays. And the generation of movie-goers that has grown up since the days of Valentino just couldn't understand why he had been such a world-beater. Some of them roared with laughter. They thought Agnes Ayres, the heroine, a bit too fat—though in her day she was considered streamlined! However, no matter what the young folks thought of that picture and the other Valentino revival, "The Son of the Sheik," they brought mobs to the theaters and money to the box offices.

It looks as if George Arliss had been tempted into returning to Hollywood, thanks to Samuel Goldwyn. Goldwyn has a picture called "The Exiles" on the fire, based on the stories of the many famous men who have had to leave their homes in Europe because of political troubles. Arliss would play the role of a distinguished scientist.

Warner Brothers will, at last, screen "The Miracle," with Bette Davis in the coveted role of the Nun. Ever since it was so successful as a dramatic spectacle—in London in 1911 and in New York in 1924—there has been talk of doing it for the screen. Now, with Max Reinhardt, its original producer, available, they are ready to start.

When Bob Burns ducked away from Hollywood for a rest, preparatory to taking over the Bing Crosby radio program for the summer, he didn't do so well in choosing a spot to rest in. He and his wife went to New York, but were so besieged by people that they left and went to Buffalo—he wanted to show her Niagara falls. And the public caught up with them again. He might try wearing a mask, if he really wants to rest!

Bob Burns

Margaret Tallichet, a comparative newcomer to the screen, will be Ramon Novarro's leading woman in "As You Are." When and if "Gone With the Wind" reaches the screen she will be seen as Kareen O'Hara, younger sister of Scarlett. Miss Tallichet tried the summer theaters in the East last year.

Hail Papered With Money

Saline—In redecorating a hallway in the farmhouse on the old Posdick homestead last week, one wall was discovered papered with "wildcat" money, which was issued in Michigan in 1835-36. The discovery is remindful of an era in Michigan when banks were formed almost overnight with little material backing, precipitating an era of false prosperity.

POPULAR COUPLE TO SPEAK VOWS IN MIDSUMMER

A midsummer wedding of paramount interest here will be that of Miss Virena Marjorie Beaudette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Beaudette, of Pontiac, and Thomas Hunter Wilson, II, son of Mrs. Rockwood N. Bullard, of Manor road, Birmingham. It will be celebrated on July 30, at half after 4 o'clock in the afternoon, in All Saints church, Pontiac, and will be followed by a reception at the bride's home on Huron street. Rev. B. G. Burt, pastor of the church, will officiate.

Miss Beaudette has asked Miss Marion Donaldson of Pontiac, to be her maid of honor and the following to serve as bridesmaids: Miss Catherine Ten Eyck Wilson of Birmingham, sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. Bruce L. Beaudette of Pontiac, and Mrs. Palmer C. Beaudette of Carmel, Calif., sisters-in-law of the bride; Miss Phyllis Anne Beaudette of Beverly Hills, Calif., the bride's cousin; Miss Betsy Wallace of Pittsburgh, Mrs. William L. Rose of Bloomfield Hills, Miss Sylvia Callendar, of Detroit, and Miss Margaret McCulloch of Salem, O. Little Elizabeth Ward, cousin of the bride, and Nancy Fitzgerald, both of Pontiac, will serve as flower girls.

Thomas Barbour of Muscatine, Mont., will attend Mr. Wilson as best man and the ushers will be: Palmer C. Beaudette of Carmel, Calif. Bruce L. Beaudette of Pontiac, Rockwood N. Bullard, Jr., of Birmingham, brother of the bridegroom; David Gillis of Detroit, William Watling of Bloomfield Hills, Dana Douglas of New York, Thomas Greig of Pittsburgh, and Leigh Lynch of Providence, R. I.

Both Miss Beaudette and Mr. Wilson are popular socially in the Hills district where both attended school. Miss Beaudette attended Kingswood school and later the Connecticut College for Women in New London, Conn. The bridegroom-elect is a graduate of Cranbrook school and also of Dartmouth university, class of 1937.

Made His Comeback

Laingsburg—A rather unusual and successful comeback was staged here this year when Cecil Morris received his high school diploma, after a 15-year vacation. Dropping out of Owosso high school in his junior year, Morris got a job. As he became older, he wished to continue his schooling, so he transferred his credits to the local high school and completed his course.

Bride-Elect Feted At Informal Party

First of the pre-nuptial parties honoring Miss Josephine Hutchinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross A. Hutchinson of Knox street, who will marry Herman C. Cuskie, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Cuskie of Monier road in late summer, was a miscellaneous shower, given Tuesday evening by Miss Jane Poppleton of East Maple avenue. Garden flowers were used to decorate the rooms and the supper table.

Besides the honoree, the list of guests included Mrs. Hutchinson, Miss Daisy Andrews of Grosse Pointe; Mis Julie Preston, Mrs. Jack Thatcher, Mrs. Ronald I. Friedline, Miss Mary Francis, Miss Eleanor Haack, Mrs. James Garlick Jr., Miss Doris McDiarmid, Mrs. Roy May and Mrs. Linda Hopson.

MISS GULLUM SETS DATE FOR JULY NUPTIALS

Miss Betty Gullum, daughter of Professor and Mrs. Frank Barnhardt Gullum of Athens, O., whose engagement to Charles Kahn Kinnison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Kinnison of Hawthorne road, was announced at a tea in the early spring, has completed plans for her wedding.

The nuptials, which will be read in the First Presbyterian Church at Athens, will be an event of Saturday, July 30. A reception will follow the ceremony, with details to be announced later by the parents of the bride-elect.

Mrs. Howard McDermott will be matron of honor for Miss Gullum. Maid of honor will be Miss Mary Jane Kinnison, sister of the bridegroom-elect. The bridesmaids will be Miss Mary Elizabeth Kessinger and Miss Jessie Cooper, both of Athens.

Mr. Kinnison has asked William Barndt of Schenectady, N. Y., to assist him as best man. As ushers, he has selected John Shepherd of Birmingham; John Werner of Leipsig, O., Fred Otto of Erie, Pa., and Robert Gullum of Athens, brother of the bride-elect.

Cat Adopts Rat

Mount Pleasant—"Johnnie," a baby muskrat, was discovered by Fred S. Parmalee, who was plowing a corn field. At first the Parmalee family fed Johnnie, whose tail was longer than his body, with a spoon. One morning they were surprised to find the house cat nursing Johnnie along with her own four tiny, day-old kittens. She has mothered him ever since.

TWO SKIPPERS REACH TOP AT COUNTRY CLUB

Spencer M. Hopkins and Edward S. Reid Jr. reached top ranks in the Orchard Lake Country Club fleet over the week-end's races. It was Mr. Hopkins' first race of the season and Mr. Reid's initial attempt for any season. Robert F. Grindley took last Saturday's race and Paul L. Penfield walked off with Sunday's honors, despite cold and blustery weather.

According to the fleet rules, the two skippers who have taken part in at least 40 per cent of the races and have the highest standing in any given month, automatically qualify for the championship finals in September. As a result of June's 10 races, Mr. Penfield and Vernon B. Myers are the two who have qualified.

Standings for the month of June have been compiled, with these results.
