Spring Definitely Arrives With Annual Farm And Garden Unit Flower Show

Anyone who doubted that spring had come would need only to have dropped into the Community House Saturday, to have his doubts dispelled. The Birmingham Unit of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association staged its annual flower show, and spring was the guest of honor. Directly inside the rear of the building, directly under the rack on which Mrs. Lawrence C. Howe, chairman of the decorations committee, had arranged them.

Mrs. O. P. Achtenhagen, another committee member, piled fruits and vegetables into two red wheelbarrows, to further decorate the hall and form a most unusual display. Mrs. J. Rodney Weeks decorated the stage on either side of the hall with a most unusual display of geraniums, nodding their vivid heads from the rack on which Mrs. Lawrence C. Howe, chairman of the decorations committee, had arranged them.

Mrs. Roy C. Hansen set the lovely Swedish table for the tea, which followed the presentation of the display. She laid a vivid peasant cloth on the table, which was centered with a tablecloth in shades of yellow and orange. The arrangement not only dispensed the tea in true Swedish style, but won a blue ribbon for Mrs. Hansen.

Tables for one of the show's most interesting classes. Mrs. George D. Miller took a blue ribbon for her class in Fourth of July motif. A huge red cannon cracker centered her table, with the tablecloth in white with the names of the guests.

Mrs. Albert A. Clark and Mrs. Horace W. Potter won blue ribbons for their respective classes in fast tables. Mrs. Clark chose apple-green linen and a crystal centerpiece. The crystals were also used at the places. Mrs. Potter's color scheme was all blue and napkins, the latter were white linen, with "His" and "Hers" respectively on the napkins. Mrs. Achtenhagen's Japanese-style table was given a red ribbon.

Mrs. Frederick E. Booth's dessert table won another blue ribbon. A pile of fruit and flowers, drizzled with yellow icing held in moulded, crystal bunches of grapes, formed the centerpiece. Mrs. Booth's matching fruit were laid on the blue linen cloth. Mrs. Denton Anderson, who used a blue ribbon, used a cloth woven of blue and silver cellophane. Blue and crystal goblets, glasses, blue and silver violas floating in the finger bowls, completed her setting. Mrs. Draper Allen and Mrs. Aaron H. Webster were given red ribbons for their attractive arrangements, and an honorable mention went to Mrs. Whiting Raymond.

Mrs. Atwood B. Oatman's unique terracotta table, supposedly set for a fish course, took the blue ribbons for that class. Brown, yellow and white, blue, brown, here and on the boards, with brown linen napkins. She used brown and turquoise china, with red and shell flower. Pottery ducklings wandered about beneath the flowers. Others who placed high were: Mrs. C. E. Robert, red ribbon; Mrs. Charles C. Victor, blue ribbon; Mrs. H. Victor Spike, honorable mention.

Shadow Boxes Lovely The shadow boxes which were done in jewel tones, proved to be a high spot in interest. Mrs. Clyde L. Hagerman, who portrayed a blue ribbon winner. She lined the box with gold and, bathed in golden light, she arranged flowers, glass etc., in warm tones. Another blue ribbon went to Mrs. C. A. Hagerman, who portrayed a blue ribbon winner. WOMEN GOLFERS KEEP BUSY WITH FULL SCHEDULE

Women golfers, now that their season is fully open, are making the country clubs hum with activity. There are regular weekly meets at most of the clubs, with invitation and tournament matches occupying times between tournaments starting or about to start.

Oakland Hills Country Club boasts one of the most enthusiastic groups of feminine golfers. They played at Birmingham Golf Club on Tuesday, June 7, with Miss Margaret Russell of Oakland Hills turning in $2 for low score. On Friday, June 10, the club team will be among those taking part in the District Invitational Party at Essex Country Club in Canada. Team members who will play include Miss Russell, Mrs. J. H. DeVisser, Mrs. L. B. Brown and Mrs. George B. Storer. Other Oakland Hills golfers will be entered in the meet as well. Among them will be Mrs. William Guse, Mrs. Bert Wiebe. For the golfers who stay at home, Lou Putts in this class will be played at the club on the 10th.

The Women's District Three-Day Championship will be played at Plum Hollow Golf Club on Monday through Wednesday, June 13-15. Following closely will be qualifying games for the spring handicap tournament at Oakland Hills. These will be played on Friday, June 17, or on the 10th or 11th if special arrangements. Last Friday saw low net games in this fight at Oakland Hills. Mrs. L. V. Brown became champion, with a score of 97 gross, 8 handicap, 89 net. Mrs. Guse took Class A with 119-25-91. Mrs. Gail Turner won Class C with 122-31-91, and Mrs. O. L. Miller took Class D with 123-31-91.

Orchard Lake Country Club held qualifying matches for women golfers in its spring tournament on Saturday and Sunday. Mrs. H. Patterson, with a score of 90, was winning player. Tournament play is now in progress. Forest Lake Country Club started the qualifying matches for spring tournament play on Wednesday. Low total hole play will start on the following Wednesday, June 15, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Carl Geugeon and Mrs. Charles E. Dutches. Mrs. E. Rolfe and Mrs. William C. Salisbury are in charge of the forthcoming tournament for low total, four holes.

At Pine Lake Country Club, forty women are golfing regularly, fulfilling their matches. Mrs. Harry D. Vaughan is assistant chairman of the Women's Golf Committee.

Among the local business houses who cooperated with the Garden Club to make the show a success were Shire Brothers Grocery, the Huston Hardware company, the McBride Hardware Company, and Bell's Florist Shop.
