MEASURED STEPS
A measured step means war—mud wag. A duel with guns and men. An army tread in rhythmic beat. Or rush in frantic fear-defeat. Or graveyard laid with dead repose. But never found again. A measured step means war, for what? For power, land or hope? The fruits of war are never great. When measured by the loss they take. In lives and wealth and thoughts which make

A nation of prestige. A measured step means death. Then still. To send to death still more. More greedy coffers thus be filled. More pride and murderous lust fulfilled. Yet still we go to war. Neill Roberts Wasey, (16 years old) Unusual. It's Phenomenal! Unusual: In Highland Park, a parking lot is to be razed to make way for a building.—Detroit News.
