Audience At A. A. U. W. Fashion Show Proves As Smartly Gowned As Models

No wonder women are so fond of fashion shows! The one sponsored jointly by the Birmingham and Pontiac branches of the American Association of University Women at the Community House on Friday, was an assured success, if only because the audience proved as intriguing as the models from the point of view of smart ensembles. It was a very smart crowd indeed which lingered after the show for tea.

You Must Wear Suits
A dark, mossy green shade for suits and tailors was the choice of many of the models. And we couldn't help admiring Mrs. Donald T. Stanton's suit, of the same shade, with which she wore a figured silk blouse and dark brown accessories. Mrs. Loren T. Robinson favored moss green tinged slightly with olive. The crepe gown had little knots of silk fringe on the sleeves, and her black felt mounded her boasted another advocate of the color is Mrs. Charles J. Shain, whose tailors' crepe frock closely resembled wide-wale pique.

Remaining with the suits for a while, the onlooker learns that first of all, she must have one. If it's tweed, it must be very very tweedy, with a fleck or pattern. Coats are long and boxy, but short, fitted jackets are also a good choice. Luggage tan remains a prime favorite for accessories, and is worn with everything from chocolate brown to baby blue.

Mrs. John F. Hollister's outfit combined these requirements charmingly, in a slate-grey skirt and grey and luggage checked jacket. The luggage shade predominated, being also used for her oxford, angora sweater and casual Breton felt. Miss Eleanor Wasey presented a charming appearance in her suit, which was worn with a long, loose coat. A dark brown stripe ran diagonally across the neutral background, and her accessories were of luggage tan. Miss Janet Peabody's suit, which also boasted a furled coat of casual lines, was a neutral tone, enlivened by a small fleck of color in the weave.

Colors Are Lovely
If you're in the mood for color, you find the most heavenly soft shades and pastels in dressy suits and tailored dresses. The

Fashion Song

The empress gown of orange gold lame which Lily Pons, diminutive opera and film star, is shown wearing, is something any girl could sing about. Stand-up puffs climax the long, slender sleeves, and a slender waist is emphasized with self material cording that ties in a graceful bow with long streamers.

had knots of fringe on the sleeves, and the fan-like trim on her matching hat was quite a la toreador. Mrs. Howard D. Crull wore black, with a fetching straw beret, ending in a white pagoda peak from which depended a long silk tassel. Mrs. W. A. P. John's black party was relieved with royal blue and duobonnet chuffed at the neck, and her emroided black beret sported a huge bow. Mrs. Thomas H. Adams presented a slim silhouette in a sheer black crepe. The patent belt was trimmed in front with two fascinating medallions of Chinese red leather. Mrs. Nicholas Martin wore sheer black too, with frosty white collar, jabot and cuffs and a quilted belt.

Is there anything else to tell? Oh yes—everything you've heard about the new hats is true. But they're charming.

DAR ANNOUNCES ACTIVITIES FOR STATE SESSION

The Daughters of the American Revolution will convene for the thirty-eighth time, when the Michigan State Conference opens at Lansing on Wednesday, March 30. A number of members from the local Piety Hill chapter, D. A. R., will attend the three-day convention.

Mrs. Mark Harris, regent, will lead the Birmingham contingent, in which will also be Mrs. H. P. Cole, vice-regent; Mrs. Glen Coley, Mrs. I. R. Bigger, Mrs. Walter G. Stecker, Mrs. William H. DeGraff, Mrs. E. W. Brehm, Mrs. Clark C. Coulter and Mrs. Thomas R. Navin.

Interest and activity will fill the official sessions from the very first time, which is registration, to be held at nine o'clock Wednesday morning. State executives of the D. A. R. will occupy the rest of the morning with conferences. In the afternoon there will be general round table, to be followed by a tea, at which the Lansing chapter will be hostess.

A colorful ceremony will add to the interest of the evening session, at which Frances Parkins and Mrs. Keyes, world traveler and author, will be the guest speaker. The march in to the lecture will be led by pages, bearing flags. State officers, the Regents and honor guests will also be in the procession. A reception will wind up the evening session.

Committee meetings and round table discussions will make Thursday a busy morning. In the afternoon, the Regents of all the chapters throughout Michigan will present reports. Mrs. Harris will tell the convention about the work of the local chapter during the past year. Cameron Beck of the New York State Exchange will address the delegates in the evening, following a banquet. His subject will be "Leadership for Tomorrow."

Breakfasts and luncheons with the committee chairmen on Friday will be among the last activities of the conference. A business meeting, which is scheduled to end at 4:30 Friday afternoon, will bring the official program to a close.

From WPA Ditch to Grand Opera

Because he sang as he worked, as in the photo above, Genarino "Jerry" Cardinale, 32-year-old WPA ditch-digger, was given the chance to sing grand opera before a packed house in New York City. Maestro Salmagari, attracted by an F above high C he heard as he passed the ditch where Jerry was singing and swinging his pick, gave the youth the leading role in La Traviata.

By Alice Ann Sanders
Duggan's wacky prying sprung a leak in his basement, the water was spurting at a fast rate and being a new occupant of the house he did not know where the shut-off was.

"After running hysterically here and there trying to find it, he ran to the phone and called MacDonald, whom someone had said was the only plumber in town.

"Hello!" inquired a heavy bass voice over the telephone.

"Hello! hello!" shouted Duggan in his high treble voice that suited his rather slight build, "this is Duggan that just moved in the Haley house. Come quick. Don't waste a minute. I've got to have you right away. With that he slammed the receiver up and dashed madly for the basement to try and hold the leak with his hand.

A few minutes later the door bell rang. Duggan raced up the stairs and with drenched clothing, hair streaming on one side and a gleam in his eye opened the door. An enormous man carrying a black case came in. Duggan, muttering, started running for the basement; the large man dropped his case and ran after him, grabbed him by the shoulders and dragged him back to the stove-pit, where he pushed him down in its depths.

"Say! What's going on here? You! That basement will be flooded!" in vigorous protest Duggan dragged him back to the stove-pit, where he pushed him down in its depths.

"Now, now, everything is going to be all right," quieted the huge man as he held the trembling Duggan down with one large hand and flicked open the black case with the other.

"Just take one of these pills and you'll feel much better," and he foisted a pill down Duggan's throat.

Duggan, gulping with rage and exhaustion, made one supreme effort and got to his feet.

Salads Must Be Dressed With As Much Care As The Hostess, For Smart Dinners

Sugar and cream go well with strawberries, but certainly not with mackerel. And so it is with salad and salad dressings. Some of them go together and some do not. Do not use the same dressing with every salad, mix the salad dressing to suit the salad.

Roquefort Cheese Dressing
Crush 1-1/2 lb. of Roquefort cheese in a bowl. Add 9 tablespoons of salad oil, little by little, until you have a smooth, even mixture; then add 1/2 tablespoon of vinegar. You will find the dressing thick and creamy, it just barely pours. Season with 1/2 teaspoon paprika. Serve with head lettuce.

French Dressing
Beat 12 tablespoons of salad oil, 3 tablespoons of vinegar, 1 teaspoon of salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper and a dash of paprika. If you like it a bit sharper, season it with more vinegar and less oil. A good way to make French dressing, one that will stand without separating for some time, is to serve it in a cocktail shaker. Place 2 food sized lumps of ice in a cocktail shaker with the oil, vinegar, salt and pepper. Add one to two teaspoons of sugar if desired. Shake it vigorously.

Cooked Salad Dressing
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons sugar
1 well beaten egg
1 can crushed pineapple
1/2 teaspoon salt
Strain juice from a small can of crushed pineapple and combine with any other fruit juice sufficient to make 1/2 cup of liquid. Combine the above named ingredients and add fruit juices. Cook over a slow fire until mixture thickens, stirring constantly. Remove from fire, beat with egg beaters until cool, then add crushed pineapple. Serve with fruit salad or a vegetable combination of cabbage, carrots and celery.

Chiffonade Dressing
To 1 teaspoon of oil, 1-1/4 teaspoon pepper and a dash of paprika; add 1/2 teaspoon of salad oil and 3 tablespoons of vinegar. Beat for a few seconds. Then put 1 tablespoon of chopped pimento, 1/2 tablespoon of chopped parsley and a minced hard boiled egg. Beat until blended. Serve with asparagus salad.

Russian Dressing
To 3/4 cup of mayonnaise add 1/2 of a hard boiled egg, chopped fine, 1/2 tablespoon of chopped green pepper, 1/2 tablespoon of chopped chives, 1/2 cup of chili sauce. Combine all ingredients and serve on tomato or egg salad.

Vinaigrette Dressing
To 1 cup of French dressing add 2 tablespoons of chopped pickles, 2 teaspoons of chopped capers, 1 teaspoon each of chopped parsley, onion and prepared horse radish. Serve with lettuce and tomato salad.

Sweet Mustard Mayonnaise
Blend 1-3/4 cup of sugar with 1 tablespoon of dry mustard and 1-1/2 teaspoon of salt. Mix with 1 cup mayonnaise and 2 tablespoons of prepared horse radish. Serve over cold or freshly roasted ham. This sauce keeps nicely.

Dressing Supreme
1 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup Worcestershire sauce
1/2 cup Chive sauce
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Paprika—pepper—salt
Combine all ingredients and mix well. Serve with salad greens.

Combination Dressing
1 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup French dressing
Juice 4/2 lemon
1/2 tablespoon finely minced onion
Stir the ingredients together in bowl. Serve with salad greens. This dressing is perfect for avocado salad. It is also delicious with beans.

Tomato Dressing
Cook and strain 1 pint of tomato es to 1 cup. Add 1 teaspoon salt, 3 teaspoons sugar, 2 teaspoons vinegar and 1-1/2 teaspoon soy paste. Mix 3 tablespoons flour, 3 tablespoons butter and 3 egg yolks; add 1-1/2 cup boiling water, and putting over fire, add tomato mixture. Cook until thick and creamy. Beat well. Serve with any vegetable combination or cheese.

Heavenly Dressing
1 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup whipped cream
4 tablespoons beaten but due jelly
Combine all ingredients, either cranberry or currant jelly may be substituted for the bar due jelly. Serve with oranges, pineapple or other fruit (first marinated in this dressing). Cubes of jelly may be used as a garnish.
