Notice to Property Owners

A public hearing will be held in the City Commission rooms on Tuesday evening, May 10, 1938, at 9:00 P. M., for the purpose of determining the advisability of amending the City Zoning Ordinance to permit a 200 apartment multiple dwelling development on 20 acres of land located on the south side of East Long Lake Road at its intersection with the Grand Trunk Railway.

Concrete Streets Resist Spring "Break-Ups" . . . Save Thousands of Dollars for Taxpayers

It's tough on everyone when spring thaws break up your streets. Business suffers when streets are closed for repairs. Motorists don't like the muddy chuckholes and ruts. And taxpayers pay the repair bills. The answer is to pave with concrete—safe, smooth-riding and trouble-free year around. Skid-resistant, wet or dry. Permanently free from mud, ruts and bumps. Remember, too, concrete costs less to build as well as to maintain than other pavements of equal load-carrying capacity. Be sure your streets are paved with concrete.

High School Students Will Be Guests Of Musicales For Junior Day Program

Members of the Birmingham Musicale will contribute their share towards the observation of National Music Week on Friday, May 13, when 200 high school music students will be their guests at the annual Junior Day. The program will consist of selections by the harp and vocal ensemble from the "Technical High School" in Detroit. The local students will be guests at the meeting, which will be held at the Birmingham Musicale on Friday, May 13, at 8:00 p. m. Miss Edith Roach and Arnold W. Berndt, vocal and instrumental instructors in the public schools, will direct the vocal selections, and also perform as contralto and cello soloist. The harp solo will be under the direction of Miss Velma Froude. A harp solo, Salzedo's "Song of the Night," played by Miss Evelyn Kinonen, will open the program. It will be followed by three songs: "Remembrance," by Moore; "Kerry Dance," by Morley; and "Bonnie Doon," by Burns and Miller.

The program varied. Miss Dorothy Schultz will appear to open the third group, playing organ solos. Her selection will be Ravel's "Petite Pastorale." Songs to follow include the wide-known Russian folk song, "The Volga Boatman"; two works by Brahms; the "Waltz in a Flat," and "Lullaby," by Chopin; folk songs, "River, River," arranged by Zolai, and the "Valse Pastiche" of Arensky. Kramarsky's cello and cello obligato will again be used.

Girls And Boys Exchange Roles At Hilarious Topsy-Turvy Party

The tables were turned Saturday evening at the Henry C. Duffield residence on Lane Pine road and rightly so, for the occasion was a topsy-turvy party given by the "Buffalo" young daughter, and Mary Ann Fry. The girls at this dinner, which preceded the monthly Junior Assembly at the Bloomfield Open Hunt club, were a merry crew. For they really were. Miss Duffield sat in the high chair and the boys dressed up in frills and ribbons and be-ribboned wigs, while the boys were dressed in frills and ribbons and be-ribboned wigs, while the girls were dressed in frills and ribbons and be-ribboned wigs. At any rate, the party was the occasion for much merriment, as the girls dressed up in frills and ribbons and be-ribboned wigs, while the boys were dressed in frills and ribbons and be-ribboned wigs. The two hostesses and Barbara Beecher were very formal in hats, white ties and tails and Barbara Higbie was a sailor for the night, in white trousers, blue coat and visored cap, Esther Fare and Virginia Kalfus were in blue suits and white jackets. Kalfus Williams wore riding clothes, and Shirley Craig was smart in a blue and white uniform.

What Your City Commission Is Doing—

May 2, 1938
Bills were approved by the Commission in an amount of $6,997.42. Two petitions were received, one from residents in the vicinity of Vinewood and Woodward, withdrawing any previous objections to a proposed amendment to the zoning ordinance to permit multiple dwellings in that neighborhood, and one from residents on Brookside, requesting additional traffic signs. The manager reported the result of quotations received in the purchase of a 1 1/2 ton truck and was authorized to purchase such a truck equipped with Gray-Walsh body model C12 and D7 truck from the General Motors Truck and Coach Division Pontiac Retail Store for $249.00. The Commission established the week of May 14th-21st as Clean Up Week for the year 1938. A Milk License was issued to the Bloomfield Dairy, for the distribution of Twin Peaks milk. RENE E. HANLEY, City Clerk.

This business of selling where everyone went the previous week end is like tampering with a fish bowl. If you cut a hole in the bowl, the goldfish habitat they do not end of complaining. Yet everyone likes to see his name in print so they say and therefore one expected to be everywhere to see everyone. The best thing to do is not have any names at all in the column and then you satisfy everyone by satisfying none. The only trouble with that is you would read the column.

At any rate, the kingsley during the past few days were Vicki and Mary Wendenman with Bill White and Bob Brown, Eleanor Babcock, Bob Harts, Ben Jerome and Virginia Spence, Kate Wycant, Jack Shita back from Florida, Paul Stilling and Steve Wycant. At the snack were Whitelocky and Marce Whel, the Ted McManages, dress modeling. A couple of week-ends ago Phillips went to Jane Barry in Saginaw to change a number of week-end. Concoming last week-end crooked Phil. If they had put a handle on them they could have got a "Skein". This reminds me that when Bill White was leaving which change a number of week-end. A couple of week-ends ago Phillips went to Jane Barry in Saginaw to change a number of week-end.

With particular praise was watched at the Regina. Drake watched his King Hill and other hacks at the U. S. Army Olympic Team. Horse Exhibition last weekend at the Fair Grounds. Bill was our equitation instructor at Michigan State. Bill was our equitation instructor at Michigan State. Bill was our equitation instructor at Michigan State. Bill was our equitation instructor at Michigan State.

One during an R. O. T. C. connection by the 6th Corp. Area Commandant, late sergeant, Bill without passage. Drake had gone through a chair of eight foot jumps in time to take up a jump. What made the tips interesting were when he had a run through blind folded one time and then in time to take up a jump. Sun Bird-lets—bill and other things of sturp.

Ganey Kimmons, who cheers when his lane of traffic moves ahead, first watched three cars in the other lane pass him the other day. This being too much for the lad, he swung out into the lane in time to get and watch the lane he had just left start moving. Just as he was about to swing back into his original lane, the fellow ahead did the same thing. Ditched Chucky. "Gosh darn those fellows that get in your way."

In the library the other day, an old companion started a conversation with an indigestive grant of several second-hand wares, whose first original name, stamped his bit, crossed his legs, turned the page.

The work on the Oakland avenue tunnel is progressing at a good clip; it's going to be 187 feet long. There will be about 243 cubic yards of concrete in the tunnel and 100 additional cubic yards to mass the two descents at each end. This would make a cube of concrete seven yards each way. If one-inch cubes were dropped from this block and had one to end, they would reach from here to Gary, Indiana. A little more ridiculous figuring shows that if you could pile up this concrete block into cubed twelfths of an inch and had them end to end, you could reach the earth at the center of 14 times.

Perhaps you read of the average Columbia's "sensitive" choice of a companion on a desert island—Madeline Carroll. The reason: her ability to speak French.

The other day Steve Wycant told the story of a West Point cadet who was unjustly accused of "outgoing on a fellow cadet." As punishment, the cadet was socially ostracized for two years. During this time, no one spoke to him except his superior officers. Such punishment would have broken the self respect of a weaker man. But, preferring to hate the traitor, came from a source other than himself, the boy stuck it out, and in two years the truth did come. Moved by such a splendid example of integrity, self respect, and unwavering moral courage, the entire corps apologized to him in chapel. Needless to say, his classmates had the greatest respect for him thereafter.

What do you think of the boys wearing their pants at half mast? They must be trying to get used to a little college rah-rah. Manley Boring wanted his name in the paper some time so he'll give him credit for being another one who gets into his pants too fast.

Norm Lytle has two marbles and a foot away and he will trade for a broken compass and a bow horn. Now that his wearing shoes, he can't find his home very well. "It's" could be a stiff looking area, but it would be fitting to go on the road.

Big framed up on the east side of the beginning of the week. "Eau Nive" is a good buy. He writes for the Saturday Evening Post and is a good buy. Alice Hamilton in the same department. Observed coming out of the music store to see a song-book was Marg Kibbler. The song "This one got off on a plane" by H. K. Kibbler. At the hotel, she was just out and about and about Sally (Basson) Betty and Jan Pugh. Bill Lovell and Jean Marz. Bob Martin, Rev. Foscht, and the usual. Miss Hammond sent the day's. Very nice, warm and hot. There's a bunch from Michigan State.

The show brought out many boys and girls.
