

Miss Betty Gulum Announces Her Engagement to Charles Gahm Kinnison

TEA CAKES ARE USED TO TELL OF BETROTHAL

She said to me—what did he say. Was very sweet—well, any way, the rest of it you'll likely guess. And I—well, I just answered.

Guests at a tea given Thursday afternoon, April 21, by Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Gullum of Jackson, O., discovered this rhyme concealed within their tea cakes, and upon reading further, realized that "she" is Miss Betty Gullum, daughter of the host and hostess, and "he" is Charles Gahm Kinnison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Kinnison of Hawthorne road.

The verse which announced the engagement was written by Mr. Kinnison, father of the bridegroom-elect.

Miss Gullum did not set a date for the wedding, but indicated that it would probably be an event of late summer. She is a graduate of Ohio University at Athens, where she was active in several organizations. A member of Phi Beta Phi sorority, she was vice-president and later treasurer of the organization. She was also active in the Women's Glee Club during her college and post-graduate career.

Mr. Kinnison attended Ohio State University, where he was a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity. He later graduated from the University of Michigan, receiving his Masters Degree in 1936. He is now connected with the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Commission, in Detroit.

Mrs. Kinnison is now in Jackson at the time as the house guest of her mother, Mrs. J. I. Gahm. She attended the affair, along with Mrs. Gahm, Mr. Harold Gahm, alms of Jackson, and Miss Mary Jane Kinnison, who is now a student at Ohio University.

Several local matrons made very hurried entrances, due to the eagerness of their little escorts. But we did notice Mrs. Herbert V. Davis, in a sand-colored dress with a coral coat; Mrs. Warner L. Forsyth in a brown felt hat and a blue and white patterned jacket; Mrs. W. A. P. John, in a vivid blue Tyrolan felt hat and a blue and white patterned jacket; Mrs. Robert F. Grundley, in a sports outfit, with a trim felt hat in blue; Mrs. George Wellington Smith, in black, with a veiled hat, was sitting near Mrs. George D. Shaw; Mrs. George W. Smith, in black, also wore black; Mrs. James R. Meek, with a group of friends, brought her knitting to pass away the time before the curtain rise. Chatting near the entrance were Mrs. Legler Paxton, in a brown jacket and a jaunty hat, with a Robin Hood lines, and Mrs. Richard E. Scarus, in a pale green suit trimmed in beige fur. She was escorted by small "Skipper," who took the affair nonchalantly. Another sideline spectator was Mrs. Draper Allen, in a blue gown, with which she wore brown accessories.

The list of patrons for the affair includes the names of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Sweeney, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert A. Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Loree T. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Lewellyn, Mr. and Mrs. George Wellington Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Hirsch, Mr. and Mrs. Shelton Wright, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Emery, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Finch, Mr. and Mrs. William F. Spiegel, Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Neuman and Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Fattison.

Among those who have made reservations for the luncheon are included Mrs. Harris, Mrs. Walter Thompson, Mrs. W. L. DeGraf, Mrs. Thomas R. Navin, Mrs. Deibert C. James, Mrs. R. P. Cole, Mrs. Glenn Coley, Mrs. C. V. Crockett, Mrs. Clark C. Coulter, Mrs. Charles F. Butters, Mrs. B. R. Bigger, Mrs. Sidney A. Wells, Mrs. William T. Robinson, Mrs. Hendley Green and Mrs. Walter Stecker.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hart were hosts at dinner Saturday evening, in their home on Lake Park drive. Later the party attended the Deacons Players performance "First Lady," as guests of the organization. In the group, besides Mr. and Mrs. Hart, were Mr. and Mrs. Gardner M. Cobb, Mr. and Mrs. George M. Dweley, Mrs. Elizabeth Haselberger and Dr. John R. Haselberger.

Wizard Casts Spell Over Crowd Of Seemingly Impossible Proportions

Fortunate indeed were the adults whose children took them to the Detroit Junior League performance of "The Wizard of Oz," before the crowd at the auditorium that what parents are not enguaged by the crowd, were rather than absence. Nevertheless, everyone seemed to be enjoying the affair hugely, these same adults as much as the tiniest members of the audience.

Almost everyone came escorted by one or several children. Mrs. Ronald Ballantyne, in a brown checked coat with matching accessories, was one of the earliest arrivals. She had only time for a word to Miss Romayne Thompson, before being rushed to a seat by her eager young charges.

Mrs. Thompson, in a wool suit in ash-colored tones, accompanied by the exhibit from the Junior League show in Detroit. Assisting her was Mrs. Paul B. Skirt and a pink cardigan over her matching crepe blouse. Next to her was Mrs. Harry R. Cooley, who chose for the occasion a London tan outfit and accessories, with which she wore a short cape of brown fur. She and Mrs. Henry Scripps Booth, whose outfit consisted of a charming quilted blue and white sports jacket, were deeply engaged in conversation before the play.

Mrs. E. A. Schirmer made a most attractive user in her shimmering frock of solid blue, trimmed with white dots. The duhonnnet, which was carried out in her sandals, offered a charming contrast to her dark hair. Another lovely user was blonde Mrs. Wilkins T. Higley, who wore a soft blue dress, with matching twin links in her hair. Mrs. Carl A. Endlerlich, who was watching with a parental "button-down" outfit and white shoes.
