

New Residents Of Birmingham Will Be Guests Of Honor At Reception

Fashion Tips

The regulation costume for girls to wear to the football game consists of a tweed suit with plain skirt, plaid jacket and sweater. This is worn a wool topcoat or one of fur.

The brown mouton topcoat is very popular for sports wear. It is lined with a bright colored plaid wool.

Suede bonnets, wool blankets and waterproof boots will all make the game more enjoyable if the weather is bad.

Some of the new colors from Paris are called geranium pink, sunshine yellow, Capri blue, tangerine red and Persian blue.

ACTIVITIES FILL CALENDAR FOR DAR MEMBERS

Piety Hill Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution was hostess to about 60 members and their guests at the November meeting, held Tuesday at the Community House.

Betty Lamborn Roberts, women's radio commentator, delivered an address on "The Restoration of Williamsburg." She was further announced at the meeting that Henry D. A. R. will be one of our women to take part on an Armistice Day program to be broadcast over Station WJZ, New York, at 11:45 p. m. on Friday, Nov. 11.

Her subject will be "Woman and Armistice."

Also on Friday, Mrs. Walter D. Pomeroy, Representative of the League of Nations, Chapter D. A. R., will speak at 4:45 over Station WJZ. She will make another address on Friday, Nov. 18, over Station WJZ, at 11:45 a. m.

Among the guests of the Piety Hill Chapter on Tuesday afternoon were: Mrs. J. M. McNew, from the Extra Parker Chapter of Royal Oak and Mrs. William F. Catlin from the Fort Pontchartrain Chapter of Highland Park.

Mrs. Mark D. Harris, Mrs. W. H. Gaff and Mrs. R. B. Biggart will represent the local chapter at the 11th birthday celebration of the Royal Oak chapter, to be held at Devon Gables on Friday, Nov. 11.

C. N. Crockett is in charge of the local group's annual donation to the Cresson School for mountain children in South Carolina, sent on Nov. 15. The donation will include clothing and other articles, as well as crafts materials. Comforts for needy arrivals in the United States will also be sent to Ellis Island.

TWO SPEAKERS WILL ADDRESS GARDEN LOVERS

Two speakers are scheduled to appear before members of the Birmingham Unit of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association at their next meeting, planned for two o'clock on the afternoon of Monday, Nov. 14. The Cranbrook Institute of Science will house the meeting.

Mrs. Draper Allen, of the organization's educational and marketing committee, is in charge of the day. Mrs. Frederick Schuman of Detroit will lead the group of the Farm Women's Week at Michigan State College, to which the State organization of the Association sends farm women every year.

Dr. Robert Hatt, director of the Institute, will also address the meeting. His topic will be "Plant Sciences at the Institute."

An autumn tea will be served following the program. Mrs. Jane Cain and Mrs. Robert William Esig are in charge of table arrangements. Those who have been asked to dispense the refreshments are Mrs. H. Ross Mack and Mrs. Stanley Spiegel.

Extensive List Of Entertainments Will Honor Harriette Jane Babcock

Miss Harriette Jane Babcock will become the bride of J. Reed Alexander at eight o'clock on the evening of Saturday, Dec. 3, after a large number of pre-nuptial entertainments. The popular bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Brown Babcock of Lone Pine road and Mr. Alexander is the son of Mrs. James G. Gulick of Preopert, Ill.

Miss Margaret Scriven will honor.

Miss Katherine Wyckoff of Pierce street will vary the form of pre-nuptial festivities with a cocktail party, at which she will be hostess to friends of the young couple on the afternoon of Tuesday, Nov. 22.

The spinster dinner will be at Miss Babcock at a stocking shower on Monday, Nov. 14, in her home on Townsend street.

Next to entertain will be Mrs. John Alexander McPherson of Highland Park, who will be hostess at a paper and soap shower on Wednesday, Nov. 16. A dessert luncheon will precede the affair.

Mrs. Clyde E. Ustick of Westwood drive will furnish the Miss Babcock on Friday, Nov. 18, when she entertains at a luncheon and kitchen shower, in her home.

Mrs. H. E. Listman of Arlington drive has chosen Bloomfield Hills Country Club as the scene of her miscellaneous shower for Miss Babcock which she will give on Monday, Nov. 21. The affair will also be in the form of a luncheon given by Mrs. Robert Jay Vinton, in her new home on Linden road.

Representative Group Will Receive Newcomers At Community House

Persons whose residence in Birmingham dates only from February 1st of this year will be the guests of the Community House on the evening of Wednesday, Nov. 16, at the November newcomers' reception. Representatives of religious, civic and educational groups will be among those to assist with the affair, which will begin at 8:30.

Mrs. Julia K. Lally, Community House director, is serving as general chairman of arrangements. The affair will be run along lines similar to the first reception, held in February. There will be an informal program of music, including songs by the Birmingham Men's Glee Club, under the direction of A. Stanley Roscoe, and refreshments will be served. Mrs. Clinton E. Seay is chairman of the refreshment committee.

Members of the Community House board and their husbands or wives will receive the guests. The list includes the names of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Foley, Mr. and Mrs. Donald G. Hendrie, Mr. and Mrs. Harold G. Webster, Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Moxley and Fred L. Johnson.

A lengthy list of representative couples will assist on the hospitalities committee. Included will be Mayor John E. Martz and Mrs. Martz; City Manager Howard C. Ebert and Mrs. Ebert; Superintendent of Schools Howard D. Crall and Mrs. Crall; Rev. and Mrs. Frank W. Culler, Rev. and Mrs. Walter G. Moxley, and Rev. and Mrs. Fred L. Johnson.

LOCAL POST WILL BE HOSTESS AT BAPTIST CHURCH

The First Baptist Church will house the all-day annual convention of the 17th District of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, to be held on Tuesday, Nov. 15. District president, Mrs. Elizabeth Erwin of Detroit, will preside over the program which will open at 10 a. m. with devotionals led by Mrs. Paul Pennothy of Redford, a musical education director for the 17th District. The balance of the morning will be taken up with the reading of reports. Luncheon will be served at noon.

Mrs. Dora B. Whitmore of Benton Harbor, state director of spiritual education, will address the afternoon session, which will open with devotionals led by Mrs. Ella M. Wood, state director of spiritual education. Another of the afternoon points will be a local report by Mrs. Earle Cunningham, president of the Birmingham post, who will speak on "What Is Happening?" Others will also give short addresses.

After dinner, which will also be served at the church, the Rev. Nelson, pastor of the church, will offer the invocation preceding the speakers. Mrs. Helen E. Bouslog, Lansing, will deliver the evening's main address.

Miss Lucy and Miss Esther Phipps are chairman of the reception committee for the Birmingham post. Mrs. J. O. Nelson is in charge of arrangements for the music. She will accompany Miss Lela Smith and Lela Avery, who will sing a vocal duet.

LEAGUE WILL BRING GUESTS TO MEETING

Guests may accompany members of the University of Michigan League to the meeting, the date of which has been set for Wednesday, Nov. 16. The group will gather at 1:30 at the Cranbrook Institute of Science.

Mrs. Marjorie T. Bingham of the Institute staff, will deliver an address on "Michigan Wild Flowers." Afterwards, League members will participate in a tour of the Institute. Mrs. T. W. Vinton is in charge of transportation to the scene of the gathering.

BUSINESS WOMEN WILL HEAR SPEAKER

Dinner and a special program will welcome the members of the Business Women at their next meeting, which will be held at the Community House on the evening of Thursday, Nov. 17. Dinner will be served at 6:30. The Royal Oak Business Women's organization and the Birmingham Societies will be guests at this affair.

Betty Lamborn Roberts, women's commentator for radio station WJZ and a resident of Birmingham, will appear as principal speaker on the program which will follow. "The Restoration of Williamsburg" is the title of her talk, which she will deliver in her own voice. Several other English folk songs.

HOSPITAL AUXILIARY ARRANGES BENEFIT

Under the auspices of St. Joseph's Hospital auxiliary, a feast or party will be given Thursday evening, Nov. 17, in the hospital auditorium for the benefit of the children's clinic. Mrs. Charles Webster of Pontiac, is chairman.

A NURSERY SCHOOL CELEBRATES

Smart in Crepe

The body of this dress is soft black crepe, with white lace used for a contrasting effect. Soft full-length sleeves are finished with laced white cuffs. The circular cape flares to the hips from the shoulder line.

Hoops, My Dear, And Petticoats Back To Delight Fashion-wise Modern Girls

Do you remember what fun it used to be dressing up in great-great-aunt Tillie's first ball dress when you were twelve? About the best part of the dress was the wide full skirt and, if you were lucky, the quaint hoop-skirt underneath the second petticoat. What an elegant "twirl" they all made, especially when you gave a sudden turn—just before tripping over the ruffled hem which was an inch too long for you. With some resemblance to Sleeping Beauty (who doubtless wore wide ruffled ones), petticoats and hoops lay dormant in old attic trunks while women of fashion wore knee length dresses morning, noon and night.

Petticoats first came to the notice of the modern miss a few years ago when short taffeta ones were fashionable. These resembled grandmothers' petticoats in that they hung from the waist and often had ruffles or accordion pleating around the hem. These taffeta petticoats, still worn, but this season something new and different—rather something old revived from long ago—the heart's desire of nearly every woman, young or old, who likes to dress in an up-to-date manner.

Hoop-skirt petticoats (you guessed right) are the latest fashion. There is an elegant red taffeta one in a Birmingham shop which gives the dress it matches a standing width of about two and a half yards around the hem. What fun to see the lassie swaying that red dress do the rumba or a tarantella or even the Lambeth Walk.

Evening dresses have undergone quite a change to suit their underneath partner. An evening dress with wide shoulder straps and high neckline, and a hoop-skirt might look like last year's number made over to fit the changing styles. So this season, evening gowns with hoop-skirts are usually extremely décolleté. Sometimes they are as simple as a dress, just like a picture in "Godey's Lady Book" for 1867, or they may have a "peek-a-boo" peekable shoulder blade.

"Her feet beneath her petticoat, like little mice in slippers," wrote Sir John Suckling, the famous Cavalier poet, in the days when King Charles I. crumbled over Nervy in London. The End of King Charles is gone forever, but not so petticoats.

The word "petticoat" applied to women on young or old, was a scornful epithet. Any man who spoke of "that petticoat" referred to an odious creature called a feminist, who not only thought she had the intelligence and muscular coordination to cast her ballot at election time, but also to work at jobs other than school teaching and nursing.

Came he war, and the world saw women who had left off their petticoats in favor of "slips" working at many occupations formerly thought sacred to men alone. No longer could men scornfully refer to "petticoats," and somehow, no matter how hard you try, "petticoat" is not a word to be said with effective scorn.

MRS. BAILEY TO BE HONORED ON OFFICIAL TRIP

Mrs. Gordon L. Bailey of Hamilton avenue, newly-elected president of the Eight South society of the American Legion Auxiliary, will be among the honor guests at a series of entertainments for officers of the organization planned for this month.

At present she is in Washington, D. C., where she will attend a banquet this evening at the hotel Washington, given in her honor by the Washington Auxiliary Department. Afterwards, she will attend a dance at the Mayflower Hotel, honoring all national leaders.

On Friday she will place a wreath on the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington. Later, she will be honored at a luncheon at Gadsby's Tavern, given by the Alexandria, Va. post, and services at the tomb of Woodrow Wilson. That night, she will be honored at a dinner and dance at the Army and Navy Club.

She will attend a dinner and dance in Pittsburgh, Pa., as the guest of the 80th division. She will make several official visits in western Pennsylvania during the trip also.

Her feet beneath her petticoat, like little mice in slippers, wrote Sir John Suckling, the famous Cavalier poet, in the days when King Charles I. crumbled over Nervy in London. The End of King Charles is gone forever, but not so petticoats.
