

TROOP PAYS VISIT TO CAMP GEORGE OVER WEEK-END

The Boy Scouts at the Bloomfield Hills School—Troop B-6, enjoyed their first over night camping experience of the season last week-end. Leaving after school Friday, 24 boys and leaders started for Camp George. The combination of ideal weather, excellent camp facilities, and good food made the camping trip very successful, all agree. Since Camp George is now provided with electric stove, and electric refrigerator, the task of Cooks Richard Spiess, Joseph McCulloch, Robert Luce, Richard Flannery, and Walter Fry was made much easier. With the exception of Wallace Peters, who chose to sleep under the stars and dew, the boys made good use of the sleeping facilities provided by the bunk house and cabin. A large portion of the boys started Saturday with an early morning plunge in the lake. Saturday morning was spent in tent passing and in cleaning up the camp. After Saturday's noon day meal, the boys broke camp and returned to Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills.

The boys making the trip were: Walter Fry, Robert Luce, Richard Flannery, William Ewald, Edward Cochran, Nathan Doran, Raymond Ryder, Robert Hartman, Richard Vandusen, Edward Brewster, William Brewster, Harold Pickering, Wallace Peters, Alfred Alfa, David Lewis, John Eustis, Norman Clark, Peter High, and Howard Smith. Adults who accompanied the boys were Richard Spiess, Joseph McCulloch, Samuel Elden, Kenneth Ellis, and William Shunk.

JOHN MORSE GIVES LECTURE TO CLASS

The ancient history class, accompanied by their instructor, Mrs. Carol Darling, attended a lecture at the Detroit Institute of Art last Thursday. The lecture was entitled "The Art of Egypt and Mesopotamia" and was given by John D. Morse.

Those who attended were Carol Clark, Virginia Nicholson, Helen Koush, Sharon, Martha Phelps, Bob Stauffer, Bob Cole, Laurie Walker, Phyllis Babcock, Evelyn Bailey, John Grosner, Bob Agramonte, and Mrs. Carol Darling.

NAMES STAFF FOR THANKSGIVING GAME PROGRAM

That Baldwin High school will have a football program for the annual Thanksgiving game with Royal Oak November 24 at Pierce Field, was assured last Monday when the staff was announced by Miss Vera B. McGiffin, director of Baldwin Publications. The vacant positions were filled by tryouts for the jobs.

Those selected on the staff are as follows: Rodney Grambeau, editor; Wylie Pearsall and Bill Seligson, associate editors; Nancy Fletcher and Ruth Anderson, copy editors; Charles Fiske, business manager; Ruth Austin, sales manager; Bill Rosso and Dick Eustis, assistant sales managers.

MOVIE SHOWN TO CLOTHING CLASSES

The clothing classes at Baldwin high school were shown a movie called "Silks and Woolsens," Tuesday.

The film dealt with the growth of silk worms, the spinning of cocoons, the preparing of silk filament, and finishing and weaving of the cloth.

It was learned that the growth of sheep and the location in which they live have a great influence on the finished product called wool.

This film, one from the lending library at the University of Michigan, made it clear to the girls' minds how the various materials are created.

STUDENTS TO HOLD MOCK LAW TRIAL

In order that the students may further their knowledge of court proceedings, the commercial law group of Baldwin high school, instructed by Mrs. Adele Halladay, will hold a mock bankruptcy trial next Monday.

James Rowland will referee the case of Ruth Heydorn, who is petitioning bankruptcy, while the parts of the creditors are to be taken by Corrin Cooley, Jean Gibbons, and Marian Hoover. Kenneth Casciani and Richard Gurn are to act as secured creditors and Virginia Kelley as trustee.

This is the second of a series of trials that have been planned by Mrs. Halladay.

LARGER LICENSE PLATES IN 1940 SAYS LEON CASE

Larger and more legible license plates are to be used for the year 1940, according to Leon D. Case, Secretary of State, who has recently approved of the new design. The 1940 plates are to be wider and the length varying with the size of the number stamped on it. The title of the motor vehicle will be changed, making the plate more readable. This has been advocated by the State and the Michigan State Police and Sheriff's Departments for several years.

The new plates will be so punched that when affixed to the license bracket of a car, there will be a more firm contact and eliminate rattles and the number of lost plates.

The old dies, for stamping out license plates, now nearly worn out, will be replaced by new ones and have stamped nearly 18 million pairs of license plates. The new dies will also allow different spacing of the numerals.

The auto license plant of the Michigan State Police will turn out 18,000 complete sets of license plates every eight hour working day.

'Dear Dad'—Letters of A College Freshman

By Norman Lyle, Jr.

Dear Dad,

These freshman caps are quite funny in some ways. As a cover, they are definitely inadequate; and as for having a humping effect on us, they tend rather to help build a bond between us freshmen which makes us pretty darn cocky toward the sophomores. I get a kick out of wearing mine. It's a kind of badge of introduction around here; people realize that you're new and go out of their way to help you.

This really is a beautiful little town. Dad. The leaves on the campus are just beginning to turn to the glorious fall colors, and I'm certainly looking forward to the time when the whole campus will be a blaze of red and orange and brown. The old buildings here, covered with moss and ivy, have a good deal to do with the maintaining of the splendid old traditions of the school—the Oberlin Inn, the Historic Elm, the Memorial Arch, the Conservatory, and all the rest.

I'm working overtime to cinch a job on the college paper—the Review. There are literally hordes of ambitious freshmen writers trying to catch on, and I've got my work cut out for me. I think I can make it, as I was lucky enough to be the only freshman around the office to write an important story during Freshman Week, and as a result, I got a front-page byline story. Of course I won't be that lucky again this year, but it'll help when it comes time to get the staff.

We had a swell frosh-soph swap here last week. On Monday and Tuesday other frosh business started down the street to try and locate some 'fers. We dragged a whole bunch of us from business started down our necks. Dozens of pairs of pants were parted from their owners, mine among them. Unfortunately, the sophomore class president, a swell fellow, received a fractured rib in the battle. Hardly worth a few pairs of pants.

I think I'll put on a little weight this week. We've shifted tables in the dining hall, and I draw and composed of practically all light-complexioned girls. Excellent!

Love,
Your Son
