

Young People's Committee Arranges First 'Record Dance' In Winter Series

WOMEN'S UNION TO ENTERTAIN AT BIRTHDAY FETE

One of the most novel club entertainments of the year and one eagerly anticipated by members of the Women's Union of the First Presbyterian Church, is the annual birthday luncheon, to be held at one o'clock on the afternoon of Wednesday, Sept. 28, at the church. A feature of the decorations will be the twelve luncheon tables, each adorned by various committees, to represent one of the months of the year. Luncheon guests will sit at the table directing their birth months. Those whose aid has been enlisted to serve on the ticket committee are Mrs. L. B. Bishop, Mrs. L. C. Coalter, Mrs. B. Dow Ellwood, Mrs. Heber P. Gahn and Mrs. A. L. LaPointe. They expect 150 reservations, which may be had by any member of the committee. Funds from the affair will be used for floral gifts and special decorations throughout the year. Principal speaker of the afternoon will be Mrs. Kenneth L. Miller of Detroit. The title of her address is "The Life of the Migrant," dealing with the children in the families who wander back and forth across the country seeking a livelihood in various factories.

Informal Affair To Be Given Friday, By And For Those Of High School Age

The first young people's dance in the winter series, planned as a continuation of the summer street dances, has been entitled, perhaps prophetically, a "Record Dance." Certainly the affair, which will be held Friday evening at Baldwin high school, is drawing forth the enthusiastic cooperation of members of the school set. These dances, for which there is no charge, are open to young people of high school age or over and no one under high school age will be permitted to attend, according to the committee on arrangements. There is no charge for admittance, and dress is strictly informal.

General chairman Bill Cole heads the list of those working on the dance. Assisting him on the arrangements committee are Ed Wolf, Harvey Carmel, Bill Campbell, Dalton Lamb and Ted Carson. Music will be furnished by Tommy Dorsey, Hal Kemp and all the reigning favorites of the day if not in person, at least by means of the extensive collection of recordings managed by Ted Johnston. And with so many big tunes will be Mrs. Kenneth L. Miller of Detroit. The title of her address is "The Life of the Migrant," dealing with the children in the families who wander back and forth across the country seeking a livelihood in various factories.

Elaborate Wedding Is Lovely Climax To Festivities Honoring Hills Couple

Coming as a lovely climax to a whirl of pre-nuptial parties that has occupied society for weeks, the wedding of Madeleine Drummond Babcock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Brown Babcock of Lone Pine road, to Robert Jay Vinton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert King Vinton of Washington road, was solemnized at 8:30 Saturday evening, in Christ Church Cathedral. The rites were read by the Rev. Warner L. Forsyth, Rector of St. James Episcopal Church. White blossoms, chrysanthemums, lilies and gladioli, formed a solid tier in front of the altar, high in the center and graduating into a hedge of flowers along the rail of the choir stalls. Tapers glowing from cathedral candelabra illuminated the church, against a background of eucalyptus fern. Bouquets of white chrysanthemums were tied to the gowns with wide white satin ribbons. The choir of St. James Church sang the wedding march of Lohengrin, as the bridal party advanced up the aisle. The choir also sang "Oh Perfect Love," Waldo E. Fellows, choirmaster, delivered a tender solo, "Beloved, I Miss You."

Adams PTA To Start Season With Program

A program and social hour will open the activities of the Adams school Parent Teacher Association for the season. The meeting will be an event of Monday evening, Oct. 3, and will be held at eight o'clock at the school. A series of short, informative reports by parents and faculty members will be presented on the program, dealing with the Adams school and its methods. Afterwards, the audience will participate in a social hour.

SHORTER DAYS mean LONGER EVENINGS which demand GAMES and TOYS

YOUNGSTERS are naturally restless as the season changes from long days of outdoor activity to autumn and winter hours indoors.

An ideal way of keeping them interested indoors is to provide them with new, interesting and instructive pleasures such as can be obtained in our Games and Toys Series.

And for your older youngsters who never quite grow up, there is also a wide selection of games which are highly appropriate for party evenings.
