THIS AND THAT (Continued from Page 1) I also think that former Governor Alex J. Groesbeck was the best business man in that office; I wish that we could have a combination of the two men in the Governor's chair. Perhaps that is to expect too much.

'Dear Dad'—Letters of A College Freshman By Norman Lyle Author's Note: A great deal is written and said for the benefit of today's high school and college students, and little is heard from the students themselves. The following is not an attempt, in its true sense, to present the views of the average college student, his problems and the way in which he meets them.

Dear Dad, I've just completed my first year of college, and I want to say that I'm already in love with it. It's not like anything I've ever encountered before. Dad, I've spent summers away from home and managed to get around a good deal on my own in the past. But this is different. I'm experiencing a feeling of independence—absolute dependence on self. That I've never felt up to this time.
