SCHOOL CROWD TO GATHER FOR ALUMNI DANCE

An eventful winter has been planned by members of the Alpha Omega Alumni Association, prominent members of the younger set in Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills. The first affair will be a dance, to be held on the evening of Saturday, Sept. 10, at the Village Players playhouse. The entire school and college set are invited to attend.

Neil Stark, chairman of the hall and music committees, announces that Emil Sutt and his country club orchestra will provide music during the evening. Charles Deane is general chairman of the event, assisted by John Hayes, chairman of the decorations committee, and Mr. Stark.

SOCIAL BRIEFS

Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Herdich entertained informally at bridge last Saturday evening, at their home on Baldwin avenue. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. C. Allen Valpey, Dr. and Mrs. John H. Gordon and Mr. and Mrs. George D. Clark.

The Herdiches returned last week from Port Austin, where Mrs. Herdich and their son, Walter, spent the entire summer.

Mrs. George A. Beecher and her daughters, Barbara and Harriet, will return about the end of this week from a trip to Massachusetts. They will be accompanied by Mrs. Beecher's eldest daughter, Carolyn, who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Harold C. Connor, in Greenfield, Mass., for some time.

Mrs. E. John Heber of Shepherd road, and her mother, Mrs. F. Bliss Pickels of Washington, D. C., are visiting at MacLennan City. Mrs. Pickels expects to return to her home in Washington late this week after she and her daughter arrive here from Northern Michigan.

Miss Sally Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Baker of Harrow road, entertained six couples at a dinner Saturday evening at the Bloomfield Hills Country Club in honor of Miss Elizabeth Rose of New York City and Miss Margaret Mills of Livingston, N. Y. Miss Mills, who is a former Birmingham resident, and Miss Rose, have been visiting here as the guests of both Miss Baker and Miss Betty Peabody. Also guests at the Baker home last weekend were Mrs. Eugenia Emmeaga and William Paine of Petersburg, Ill. Miss Emmeaga was former Baker's roommate at MacMary College in Jackson, Ill.

Merrill Adams, of Kennesaw road, will go to Bayview to spend the week-end with Mrs. Adams and their family, who have been at that resort all summer. They all will return home on Sunday.

Spanish Mantilla Replaces Bridal Veil At Lovely Home Wedding Ceremony

Wearing a Spanish mantilla of deep ivory Alconce lace, in place of the traditional bridal veil, Elizabeth Harmon Roura became the bride of Lawrence E. Quinn on Friday evening. The young pair exchanged their vows at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Roura Jr. of Euclid avenue, in the presence of their families and a few close friends. The Rev. Edward W. Blakeman, D. D., of Ann Arbor officiated at the service.

The bride's mantilla, patterned in threads of gold, formed a soft hood, drooping to the floor in back. Her gown was of silk net, in a matching ivory hue. The shirred bodice was distinguished by a heart-shaped neck line and the short sleeves were deeply puffed. Her hair was a sheer wool jacket with a wide brim and a metallic trim.

Alpine Motif

The material is Danish blue felt, but the "motif" is Alpine in this latest of Marion Valle's fall creations. It's called the "Yodel" and it's a multi-colored and above the brim sprouts peacock-colored feathers.

By Alice Ann Sanders

The bird trap was in the back yard and when the frightened little bird was chirping frantically, Katy came skipping around the house and stopped in horror at the sight of the little prisoner.

Cautionously creeping over to the trap and pecking this way and that the bird finally broke through the wire and flew away.

Sadly she went into the hall and bearing a low mumble came from her daughter's room, except down to listen.

"Dear Lord, make Johnny quit catching birds in that trap," the mother heard Katy repeat over and over.

Suddenly the mumble stopped, the bedroom door was opened abruptly and Katy started down the hall in a determined manner.

"Katy," her mother called after her, "do you think God will answer that prayer?"

"You bet he will," came the quick answer, "because I'm going out there and bust that trap."

A great fat lady and a small woman had approached the parsonage.

The little man tumbled into the door and when the door was opened he exclaimed, "That's what you get married."

"Some one" invited the minister, "When they were seated the minister asked to see their marriage certificate and observed that the great lady had been married five times before."

"Him, let's see now," the minister addressed the fat lady, "are all your husbands dead?"

"No, just one of them. See, the rest are all divorced," bragged the lady.

"Well, under those circumstances, I just couldn't marry you," said the minister.

"Oh please do," begged the lady, "I was married by the justice of the peace the last time, and had no poor lack of love."

GUILD TO OPEN FALL SEASON AT AL FRESCO FETE

A novel program of informal amusement will be presented by members of St. Dunstan's Guild on Friday afternoon and evening. The affair will serve as a pre-season gathering for the membership before the first stage production, the "Pat Eden," which has been set for Friday, October 14.

Pat Eden, chairman of social activities for the Guild, has announced that tomorrow's program will start with swimming at four o'clock, in the Henry Scripps Booth pool. Later, the picknicks will adjourn to the grove at Kingswood, where they will hold an al fresco-stark roast. In the evening they will attend the Michigan State Fair.

A group of three one-act plays from Noel Coward's "Tonight at 8:30" series, will open the dramatic season for St. Dunstan's Guild. The plays selected are "Hands Across the Sea," "Famed Oak" and "Family Album." The acting is now in progress and the casts, along with directors and assistants, will be announced in the near future.

Catholic Women Plan Program Luncheon

The annual Arch-Diocese meeting of the League of Catholic Women, to be held at the Community House on Thursday, Sept. 15, will take the place of the regular meeting of the League of Birmingham unit. The local group will next meet in October.

The month's meeting will open at 10:30 a. m., followed by luncheon. Mrs. Edward Akin Skae of Westport Farms, will preside. Speaker on the program which will follow the luncheon, will be John H. MacLellan of Lansing. His topic will be "The Reorganization of State Welfare." The voting for which will be held in November.

Mr. MacLellan is executive secretary of the Welfare Education Committee.

Delegates from the entire Diocese, all over the state, are expected to attend the meeting, as well as visitors and other members of the clergy.

FOREST LAKE HAS MERRY 'DOE DAY'

Women members of the Forest Lake Country club frolicked yesterday at their "Doe Day" entertainment, appearing in the morning in most unusual and informal costumes which caused much merriment. Golf was followed by a picnic luncheon and the festivities continued throughout the day, with the most amusing their wives in the evening for a mulligan stew dinner and a session of bridge, dancing and community singing.

A MacLellan of Lansing. His topic will be "The Reorganization of State Welfare." The voting for which will be held in November.

Mr. MacLellan is executive secretary of the Welfare Education Committee.
