New materials are in the shops for Spring draperies and covers. Muted colors are being shown in the inexpensive fabrics and many of these have been made of harmonizing stripes and floral patterns which can be used in the same room.

The latest addition to the umbrella family goes by the name of Chamberlain—a ladies' umbrella, short and with a crooked handle. But for those who dislike umbrellas, but who are fond of their new spring hats, a twenty-four inch square of oiled silk is being offered. These squares can be stuck away in one's purse and pulled out at the first sign of rain to be decorated the most extravagantly over the head.

Only natural after such a whirl as you've been going through the let-down which is now upon us. Of course what news there is is the very BEST but the trouble is that there's not enough going on. However, what with one thing and another, you've managed to keep the committee good and busy.

Senate And Councils

For one thing, the University of Michigan crew has been elected itself some new members to the Student Senate, just by way of extra honor and work. So Arthur Peters gets on it without batting an eye. And so does that noted man-of-the-hour, John Hulbert. So, with Lechman practically taking the place by storm, they're assured of a Senate anyway, and a good one. In another important phase of campus life, you'll find Bill Mehl, more of our local talent, a member of the Executive Religious Council. Nossir, there's no getting around the fact that if you want an honor in the air, it's bound to fall on the deserving head of a Becham cheer-id. And THAT'S

Editorial Staff
Our contenting at Oberlin is coming along very well, if the huzzas from the Ohio campus are to be believed. Ed Watkins is really coming UP in a big way. His official title is now Advertising Manager of The Oberlin Review, student newspaper. And that's not all. Among the copy editors on The Review staff is your friend Norman Lyle. Both lads have worked in my very hand and so well that the honors must seem almost unattainable to them. But we who follow their careers, seeing their hand are thrilled about it all, aren't we?

Spring Tour

While the folks who thick with vacations a while back, did a miss one face among the returned collegians. That's right, Harriet Stauffer (of the Ohio Wesleyan) was among the missing. She took the work on tour with the colliery choir, where she sings alto! The kids shipped all over Ohio, performing in Cleveland, Lorain, Cayuga Falls and Sandusky. Or maybe you were lucky and got to see her program in Detroit. The pride of Kappa Alpha Theta is tremendously active in musical and dramatic circles, there being a star in the Singers' Club and the Wesleyan Players.

Travel
Also among the missing this week, while the Ann Arbor crew is home, is your old friend Horace Smith. She too is doing right, because at the present she's in the east, enjoying fish sessions and other festivities with her friends from Connecticut College for Women, which she formerly attended.

Feminine Fluter

Among the gals who've been home recently, Sophie can't help but mention the program given by everyone's looking in. Dorothy Trump, who schools it at St. Mary in the Woods, is better looking than ever, if such is possible. And among the lights of the party, Mac Murray, College's pride and joy, Johnnie Baker, very tall and sporting a fetching pill box that above her glamorous girl bob. On the blonde side of the ledger, cute Betty Minor Forester, is better looking than ever, if such is possible. One of the most popular hats is the forward tipped sailor. However, there are models for every face. Sailors or berets are more flattering for those who are not so young. Pill boxes are definitely for unlined faces.

What are the fifty-inch hipline gals going to do about "little girl" fashions? Knee high skirts and starched petticoats are all very well for slim young things with long slender legs, but what about the short, fat girls? The answer is modification and the manufacturers are using very good judgment in the variety of styles they are sending out.

Where's Elmer??

Betty Minor Forester, who's the owner of a VERY nooky Roman-strap wool outfit, and most becoming it, is Cynthia Adams (it's a go bit Eastern) is a firm believer in the hair ribbon fad, and very wisely sports perky little yellow bows in another of these popular long bobs. While enjoying life and snuff at Ann Arbor, a new confidant has sprouted out in Mary DeMog. Little curls dot the top of her head while the sides and bangs gleaming high-crown bonnet, adorned with veiling. The shade is that new soft rust, and most becoming.

gripped by the enthusiasm for the fine lunches and regular meals which we are serving daily.

Patriotic

"All-American" girl, indeed, is actress Helen Wood in the stunning costume. Hat and handbag are red; dress is white; jacket and gloves are blue. To tonight's patriotic note, Miss Wood wears a U. S. medallion at the throat, another American emblem on the glove.

Early Fruits Make Good Shortcake

The kind of shortcake like mother used to make is still in vogue this type of early fruit pastry. But if you go in for the modern touch then your shortcake must be a light sponge cake or a delicate white one. When shortcakes are mentioned strawberry shortcake is probably the one first to our mind. There are many other kinds, peach, apricot, cherry, banana, etc. Shortcake can be served the year around.

Shortcake No. 1
3 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups shortening
Ice-cold water to mix.
Sift the flour, baking powder and salt into a bowl; chop in shortening with a knife until well blended. Add water to form a dough, cutting and mixing the paste thoroughly. Flour a board and roll pastry not very thin. Fit into pie plates, brush with melted butter, bake in oven at 425 degrees for 15 minutes. Cool. Fill the shortcake with fruit and whipped cream, cover with whipped cream and garnish with fruit used.

Shortcake No. 2
2 cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 cup sifted sugar
3/4 cup milk
3 egg whites
1/2 cup butter or shortening
1 teaspoon vanilla
Sift flour once, measure and add baking powder. Sift three times. Cream shortening, add sugar, cream together until light and fluffy. Add flour alternately with milk, a little at a time. Beat after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla, fold in egg whites. Bake in two greased cake pans in a moderate oven. Lay fruit and whipped cream between the layers. Cover with whipped cream and garnish with fruit used. Serve in wedge-shaped pieces.

Shortcake No. 3
2 egg yolks
5 tablespoons cold water
7-8 cup of sugar
1 1/2 cups cake flour
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 egg whites
Beat the eggs with a rotary beater. Add water and then the sugar gradually and continue beat and measure. Add baking powder and salt. Sift again. Add gradually to the first mixture. Fold in the egg whites beaten very light. Pour into a greased spring pan with raised bottom, inverted. Bake in a moderate oven. When cold cut away from side of pan with a spatula. Fill cavity in cake with fruit and whipped cream.

Fruit Custard Filling
1 cup milk
1-2 cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 cup ripe fruit
2 egg yolks
Salt
Scald milk in double boiler. Mix sugar, flour and salt; add to beaten egg yolks. Combine with scalded milk and cook 15 minutes. Stir constantly until the mixture thickens. Remove from heat and cool. Add lemon juice and fruit, cut in pieces. Spread between layers of sponge cake or fill hollows if cake is baked in a shallow pan. This filling may be topped with whipped cream or simply sprinkled with powdered sugar.

Asparagus Shortcake
2 cups flour
1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup milk
1-3 cup butter
Mix dry ingredients, sift twice, work in butter with a knife and add milk gradually. Toss mixture on floured board and roll out. Spread lightly with melted butter and cut with a large biscuit cutter and bake on a buttered cookie sheet 12 minutes in an oven 450 degrees. Split and butter. Cover lower half with creamed asparagus, put on top. Sprinkle with grated cheese and paprika. Broil under the broiler until cheese is melted.

Film Folk

When the world premiere of "Dodge City" took place on the first Saturday of April in Dodge City, Kansas, there was a rodeo, a music festival and a street parade as added attractions. All of the stars of the picture came by special train, including Errol Flynn, Olivia de Havilland and Ann Sheridan.

The Dead End boys are getting up in the social scale in their new pictures. In "The Battle of City Hall," Ann Sheridan moves to a better neighborhood, with her brother, Frankie Thomas, who is just out of reform school. A good influence is exerted over him by the kids who are a group of clean, fun-loving boys.

In "Man of Conquest," which Republic has high hopes of it becoming another "Cimarron," with Richard Dix playing the part of Sam Houston, the hero's actual marital affairs are either white-washed or ignored. He divorces his first wife and afterwards married and deserted an Indian squaw.

In the picture, "The Castles," all the dances, made famous during the decade in which Vernon and Irene Castle danced, have been recreated. Some of them are "The Castle Walk," the Texas Tommy, the Fox Trot, Yama Yama, and Magie.

The night clubs would do very little business if they depended on some of the wealthiest movie actresses for trade. Joan Crawford is usually in bed at 9 p. m. Henry La Marr never goes out when she is working, and Jeannette MacDonald, Norma Shearer, Eleanor Powell and Margaret Sullivan prefer their own homes when they entertain. "Marie" who played in "Marie Antoinette," is being sought for the part of Marjorie in the Billie story, "Father," which is soon to be filmed. Hedy Lamarr will probably play the part of the beautiful Jewish queen.

Spring Brington will have the part of the mother of Loretta Young and her three sisters in "Alexander Graham Bell." Don Ameche will play the title role and Henry Fonda is cast as his assistant.

Instead of Ray Bolger who played the lead in "On Your Toes," on the stage, Warner Brothers will star James Cagney in the film version of the musical. Cagney is tired of gangster pictures.

"The Sun Never Sets" is the story of a British family in the diplomatic service. "Career Man" deals with the diplomatic career of a young man of the United States service. Jeffrey Lynn and Ann Sheridan will have the leads in "The Man in the Iron Mask." Strange as it may seem, sparrows create more trouble for the sound men on a movie set than any other thing. Their chirping frequently holds up scenes or causes them to be reshot.

A real prince is working in "Tarzan in Exile." He is an African prince from Nigeria and holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from Oxford. He speaks English, French, Swahili and five other languages. He plays the part of a Zambale drummer in the picture.

Henry Fonda learned to play the Jews' harp in three days for atmosphere in "Young Mr. Lincoln." He is an African prince from Nigeria and holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from Oxford. He speaks English, French, Swahili and five other languages. He plays the part of a Zambale drummer in the picture.

One woman TO ANOTHER—
Women are enthusiastic about Dutch Susan—the electric cooker that prepares a whole meal at one time for about 2 cents worth of electricity. They say: "Enjoy the use of the roaster immensely." "Wonderful for pastries. It is one of the best articles I have in my home." "It is the complete answer for perfect cooking needs." "Everything tastes so much better. I can't speak too highly of it." The electric cooker roasts, bakes, fries, steams and stew— from any electric outlet. Priced $9.50 up, at electrical and hardware dealers, department stores, and all Detroit Edison offices.
