About Your Public School

This information is furnished by the Birmingham Board of Education in cooperation with The Eccentric.

Q. How many school plants are there in this school district? Where are they located and what is the enrollment in each building?

A. We have six school plants in our district. Two of these buildings are designed for elementary schools. These are the Quanton Elementary School, located at Chesterfield and Oak Streets, with a membership in grades, kindergarten through the sixth, of 341 pupils; and the Pierce Elementary School which is located at Pierce Street and Bird Avenue. The membership in this school in grades, kindergarten through the sixth, is 217 pupils.

The Adams and Barnum Schools are combination elementary and junior high schools. The Adams School, located at Adams Road and Oakland Avenue, has a membership in the elementary school, kindergarten through grade six, of 463 pupils, and in the junior high school, grades 7, 8 and 9, of 270 pupils, or a total membership of 733 pupils.

The Barnum School, located at Frank and Purdy Streets, has a membership in the elementary school a total of 320 pupils and in the junior high school a total of 270 pupils, or a total membership for the building of 590 pupils.

The Baldwin High School is located on West Maple Avenue at Chester Street. This building is a combination junior and senior high school, caring for grades seven through twelve. In grades 7, 8 and 9 there is a membership of 183 pupils, while in the senior high school, grades 10, 11 and 12, there are 662 pupils in membership, making a building total of 845 pupils.

The Hill School was closed for a time between June 1930 and September 1931. On the latter date the Hill Building was opened after some remodeling, with the Board of Education Offices moving there from the Baldwin High School. As the Baldwin High School membership continued to grow some classes have been moved from the Baldwin building. Today the Art, Printing and Drafting classes meet daily in the Hill Building.

USE COMMON SENSE AND GOOD JUDGMENT

When J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, was asked for his advice in dealing with life's problems, he said, "While every walk of life requires the development of certain attributes, nevertheless the fundamentals of success and progress remain the same.

"In law enforcement success comes through persistent effort, taking advantage of each and every possible detail, constantly being on the alert for that which seemingly is unimportant and correlating every available evidence. As in every human endeavor, common sense and good judgment must prevail over that which is theoretical and problematical.

"The past few years have demonstrated the value of science in crime detection, which is more or less characteristic of the era in which we live. It is necessary to keep abreast with developments in order that they might be the medium through which our own efforts will become more effective.

"Law enforcement, of course, requires men of integrity who will not be tempted by the efforts of those who would have them violate their sworn duty to rehabilitate society, and law enforcement is a direct reflection of the citizenry for whose benefit it exists."

Under Mr. Hoover's direction, the Federal Bureau of Investigation has achieved a matchless record in thwarting spies, catching criminals and protecting the nation from dangerous enemies. Exploits of its members have won for them a warm place in the public mind as time and time again they have shown that truth is stranger than fiction. F. B. I. men have lived through many experiences that surpassed those of famous story-book detectives. In their daily work they prove that "crime does not pay."

The SNAPSHOT GUILD
ACTION SNAPS

What action! Must have taken a fast shutter to stop it! Well, no—don't tell anybody! The athlete simply held still for a moment.

PRETTY soon the weather will be opening up, schools will start on their Spring athletic programs, small boys will be knocking battered baseballs around on vacant lots — and your youngster, very likely, will be among them.

These amateur athletics are excellent material for your camera, whether it is a box camera such as most of us have, or one of the new high-speed miniaturs.

Of course, with a box camera, you cannot always expect to "stop" rapid action. That is the field of the camera with high-speed lenses and shutters. But there's no reason why you can't picture action poses — some of them so realistic that people who see them would vow the pictures were high-speed "stop-action" snaps.

Any athlete, proud of his muscles and uniform, should be glad to "hold it" a moment for you. And small boys on neighborhood baseball diamonds cheer when they see a camera coming. They'll hold any pose you want them to.

The low viewpoint is best for action pictures, with the camera tilted slightly upward so that the sky forms the picture background.

Try it, with a young pitcher "winding up" or at the end of his delivery. He can hold his position and expression long enough for you to snap the picture — and the effect is one of genuine rapid action.

"Action" snaps of this sort not only turn out to be good pictures, but also provide plenty of fun. Try some, and see how easily the camera (and your friends) can be fooled.

The model illustrated is the Buick Special, model of 1939, four-door touring sedan $990 delivered at Flint, Mich.

THERE are a lot of things about this Buick any wide-awake-to-value buyer ought to know, but there's one important point that's worth making especially clear.

That's this: Many an item you'll pay extra for elsewhere is included in Buick's eye-opening prices!

Indeed, so many "extras" are standard on Buick that when you count them in, this beauty costs actually less than more than one car with lower advertised prices!

No other car, for instance, gives you the Flash-Way direction signal for sure, clear, unfailing signaling on turns by a mere touch of a switch — a $10 item right there!

Few have locks on both front doors — or a light in the luggage compartment — or automatic electric lighters in the dash — or ash receptacles as numerous and as handy.

And where else, we'd like to ask, may you have your choice of wide running boards or narrow — or get a gas-saving economy gear just for the asking?

No other car, of course, gives you the extra silkiness of the Dynaflex valve-in-head straight-eight engine — none has quite the comfort of the BuicCoil "full float" ride — the security of Kneec-Action that banks on curves plus the safety of rear springs that actually lessen skid-risks.

Naturally, it's the smart white-tie look of this Buick, its agile stepping and wide-paned outlook that are causing most of the talk.

But look into the good news about "extras" — and you'd spot this honey as the car and the value of the year even without its beauty and its brilliance!

"Better buy Buick!"
