Mrs. Aldworth wore a frock of blue and white print, made with brief straight sleeves and a slim skirt. Her small hat was white and her shoulder corsage was of orchids.

POWER MADE FLEXIBLE

The mighty organ can fill a huge cathedral with the thunder of the gods or pierce it with the muted echo of the nightingale's song. It is power made flexible... POWER UNDER CONTROL.

Many prescription drugs are powerful enough to destroy life, but made flexible and controlled by the knowledge and skill of the physician and pharmacist, they prolong life. However, their very potency makes it imperative that they be weighed, measured and dispensed with the painstaking care guaranteed by our label.

Clothes being shown for the college girl are sensible but smart. Plaids have come in again and are leading stripes in popularity.

Another old-timey which has been revived is the blazer, and it bids fair to be quite a favorite with the college miss. Some of the blazers are in solid colors and piped in plaid.

Plaid shirts with solid color jackets and hand-knit blouses are just the thing for the campus.

A trim tweed suit is almost a "must" item for the girl who is going off to school. A reffer or shervelt top coat is a practical buy.
