

Brookside School at Cranbrook to Hold Open House Saturday Afternoon

Parents, Friends Will Be Received At First Reception

About 300 invitations have been sent out to parents and friends for the first open house in the 17 years' history of Brookside School according to word received this week from Miss Jessie T. Winter, headmistress of the school.

The attending this reception will be given their first glimpse of the recently completed new section of the building which is in the very heart of the school. This is the third unit to be opened up since the school was completed in 1915.

The center of the old building has been replaced with a new structure and several new rooms including the children's dining room, the faculty room and the psychologist's office. The hall is more broad and spacious, the center of the building is about twice its original size and this unit has been completely fireproofed according to Miss Winter.

The reception will be from 4 to 6 o'clock and faculty members will be on hand to receive the parents.

The reorganized school, later called Brookside, opened the Meeting House in 1922, and the broadening of its program of instruction necessitated several additions to the original structure and finally, in 1929, a new building, integrated with the old.

Mrs. Butzel Feted At Elaborate Tea

An unusual effect was achieved in the decorations for the tea given Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. Edward E. Butzel and Mrs. Harry L. Winston at Mrs. Winston's home on Linden road, for their sister, Mrs. Martin L. Rutledge, to Bloomfield Hills. White tulle over silver, on which were gleaming jeweled stars, covered the table and white poinsettias in a crystal bowl pointed the centerpiece. Additional adornment were six white tapers in crystal star-shaped holders, and twin arched laurel leaves. Throughout the house, yellow and bronze chrysanthemums were used together with evergreen boughs and gilded pine cones.

The guest of honor of the occasion was a gown of black sheer crepe, girdled in gold embroidery and pearls.

Mrs. Rutledge, who is a teacher and gold necklace and Mrs. Winston's frock was black, too, being made of tulle and velvet, ornamented with a jeweled clip.

Pouring during the afternoon were Mrs. Dorothy Kemp Roosevelt, Mrs. Robert H. Daisley, Mrs. Jonathan M. Bell, Mrs. Ralph C. Yonker, Mrs. Raymond R. White and Mrs. Mark Duffield of Pontiac.

Rotary Annals to Meet At Community House

Members of the Rotary Annals will meet at the Community House Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock for their December meeting. A Christmas party, with a pantry shower for the Community House, is being planned.

The musical portion of the program will include a two piano number by Mrs. James J. Kelly, Jr., and Mrs. Ray H. Bechtold. The committee in charge of arrangements includes Mrs. Ralph C. Yonker, Mrs. J. G. Kehoe, Mrs. Naomi Kuhlthall and Mrs. Philip Williams.

Mrs. Bechtold will be program chairman for the day.

Fashion Tips

The colors of fabric coats for the winter are lovely and exciting. There are moss green, mustard gold, blue, wine and a storm gray. Soft materials are used except for the country coats of tweed.

There seems to be smart coats of every description—ones lavishly furled, others just as attractive with no fur at all. There are closely fitted dressmaker-type coats that are tremendously chic on some women, while the loosely-fitted, casual coat is just as smart because of its perfect tailoring and unusual materials.

Fur coats are also shown in a variety of styles, ranging from tiny fur boleros, to be worn with tailored evening dresses, to full-length evening coats of magnificence and beauty.

Public Meeting Called by Women For this Evening

Members of the League of Women Voters are expending all of their energies now for a year-round recreation program and not the least active is Mrs. John K. Ormond, president of the league. A meeting has been called for this evening at 8 o'clock at the Community House to discuss the advisability of forming a coordinating council.

"The league, in calling this meeting is doing so, not from any idea of proposing a program or even sponsoring an organization, but because members feel that an adequate recreation program, serving all ages and needs, can best be determined through discussion of the subject by those most interested in it," Mrs. Ormond said this week.

Many organizations here in Birmingham carry on excellent recreational programs but all could be expanded with better community support, members of the league feel.

"A good many of our neighborhood communities are doing some interesting things in the field of recreation and some of them will be reported at the meeting this evening," Mrs. Ormond stated.

Mrs. Thomas R. Navin visited Monroe and found there a fine program. William F. Thomas, a principal of Adams School, had a great deal to do with a comprehensive program in Ann Arbor. The League of Women Voters has pointed out. Mrs. Jeannette Blanchard of Royal Oak is the director of recreation for the Works Progress Administration in Oakland County and because of her work, knows what is being done under that set-up. Mrs. Ormond pointed out that Mrs. Navin, Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. Blanchard will attend the meeting this evening.

The Saturday club, started by the American Association of University Women, the Y. M. C. A. program and that of the Community House, is a nucleus around which a community project might be built and expanded, the league feels.

Mrs. Guy Chester Smith will open her home on Vaughan road Saturday afternoon when her many friends have been invited to meet her attractive daughter, Barbara Leigh Smith.

Miss Smith will make her bow to society at a tea. Assisting her about the house will be Sally Saunders, Cynthia Adams, Caroline Holt, Mary Ann Scriver, Nancy Crawford, Patricia Knowlton and Josephine Karmazin.

Her grandmothers, Mrs. Elizabeth Leigh of Detroit and Mrs. Vernon Griffith of Indianapolis, will also attend this affair.

Appearance of Ypsilanti Normal Choir Heralds Approach of Christmas Season

One of Birmingham's loveliest Christmas customs were observed Friday evening when the Ypsilanti Normal Choir under the direction of Frederick Alexander made its annual appearance here. In past years the setting has been in the First Baptist Church but to accommodate the capacity audience that always turns out for this singularly lovely Christmas program, the scene this year was changed to the auditorium of the Baldwin High School, where despite the somewhat mundane setting the choir was again able to distinguish itself.

The concert by this chorus was the first of a series of three art concerts to be given by the Birmingham Musicals during the winter. The second concert—a song recital by Richard Crooks—will be held in the high school auditorium on Jan. 26.

This choir, which has been coming to Birmingham at the Ypsilanti season for something like 10 years, invariably creates a stir in musical circles, when, 160 voices strong, the collectively pour forth a stream of beautifully colored harmonies which is all too rare in a student group.

RUSSIAN MUSIC SUNG Unmistakably the high point of the program was that loveliest of all Russian liturgical music, the "Gospodi Pomili" by Lovovsky, a number which has been sung with such tremendous success in this country by the Don Cossack Chorus.

This composition, so beautifully performed Friday evening, is the chant which accompanies the movement of the priest in the Russian church services as he lowers and elevates the cross.

This number, long a favorite one in the repertoire of the Ypsilanti Choir was repeated Friday evening at the insistence of the audience. Only one other number.

GIRL SCOUTS

Members of troop one—the Marines—are working on the Scouts caroling which is to be held under the city Christmas tree on Saturday, Dec. 23.

This troop has divided into groups for troop advancement.

Troop three is working on the clothing badge.

Troop twelve is learning folk dances.

Oh, At Last Doctor—You say that, on an average, you have been drinking six glasses of beer a day? Now, I can allow you only half the number!

Patient (after a pause)—Doctor, I really believe I used to drink a couple more.

UNTIL CHRISTMAS Open Evenings 'til 9— LaBelle's

Robert Luscombe whose voice is familiar to Birmingham appeared as soloist with the choir in Frank Danmroch's arrangement of "Silent Night," and also carried the solo line in "The Three Kings" by Peter Cornelius.

The spontaneity of the audience's applause was enough to warm the heart of any conductor. As a manifestation of the Christmas spirit, it is hoped that this particularly lovely custom of presenting Yule time music will be revived each year as this season approaches.
