Bits of Birmingham

Mrs. M. S. Burlingame, 384 Lakepark drive, wonders greatly of what value to a thief are the house numbers stolen from her door. They were made of aluminum.

It is peculiar how rumors grow. In the tragic death of the Ferris boy near Dunnville, Ont., it was reported that Jack Scolaro of Franklin, also a Dartmouth student, was at the scene. However, young Scolaro had already arrived home.

Rosemary Patero, of 1295 Villa road, clerk at the Halcay Express office, South Woodward avenue, was quietly doing her work last Friday—getting a package for Mrs. C. E. Carey, Bloomfield Hills—when Mrs. Carey's car suddenly appeared on the scene, thrusting its fender through the front window, scattering glass everywhere.

"I was pretty scared," Mrs. Carey was not the least bit," Rosemary declared. Later, Mrs. Carey appeared with a box of candy to assuage the shock. Her sister was in the car at the time. Just how it started over the curb is not clear.

Girl Scouts are busy raising money for their new cabin. Saturday evening they will handle the check room at the Community House in the DeMolay dance.

Eustis, 371 Linden road, Delta Chi; and Evan J. Parker, 473 Puritan, Sigma Alpha Epsilon. No other boys told their friends about the pledging while home for Christmas vacation.

The local high school fraternities are busy, too.
