Rotary Announces Luncheon Speaker

Luncheon and a program will occupy Rotary Annals on Monday, Jan. 16, at their regular meeting. Mrs. George R. Averill will be hostess at the luncheon, in her home on Rivenook avenue. Assisting the hostess will be Mrs. Robert D. Lynd, Mrs. Harry E. Bissett and Mrs. Victor J. Peck. Luncheon will be served at one o'clock.

F. C. Dietrich of Detroit will appear, as speaker for the afternoon. His subject will be "Furs." To illustrate his remarks, he will be accompanied by a model, who will wear a number of different styles and styles of furs for the inspection of the guests.

GUILD HONORS FORMER HEADS WITH LUNCHEON

Chief among the honor guests at the Presidents' Luncheon, given Tuesday by the Woman's Auxiliary of Christ Church Cranbrook, was Mrs. Lee M. Farr. The affair was part of the Auxiliary's annual meeting, at which Mrs. Farr was named to serve as president for the coming year, to succeed Mrs. Robert H. Haidley, who was also honored. Others honored at the luncheon include Mrs. Sheldon R. Noble, Mrs. Walter G. Morley and Mrs. W. G. Barry, all past presidents.

The annual meeting began at 10:15 a. m., with Communion for the members. Afterwards, the elections were held. Mrs. Farr will have as fellow-officers for the year, Mrs. William C. Brown, first vice-president; Mrs. Harold W. Holmes, second vice-president; and Mrs. Clark Bennett, corresponding Secretary.

Mrs. Raymond R. White and Mrs. Stewart J. Bell acted as chairman of the luncheon, which was served in the Guild Hall of the church.

Mrs. Farr and the other officers are at present drawing up committees.

Mrs. Webster H. Taylor entertained a foursome at luncheon, followed by bridge, in her home on Pilgrim road on Tuesday. Her guests included Mrs. C. E. Price and Mrs. H. E. Mennel, both of Highland Park; Mrs. W. R. Tracy and Mrs. Milton F. Coulson.

STUDENTS FORM COMMITTEE FOR SATURDAY HOPS

A committee of students at Baldwin High School is taking over the planning of the traditional Saturday Night Dances at the Community House, according to an announcement made this week by Mrs. L. M. Baker, chairman of the House board of directors.

Included in the student committee are Margaret Gardner, Kathryn Wan, Gay Carey, Winifred Watkins, Jane Thomas, Constance Peck, The Fifth, Sue Wood, Evelyn Wragby, Virginia Stanley, Bette Elliott, Jane King, Edna Sharp, Bill Cobb, Jim Bennett, David Thompson, Robert Myers, Charles Foster, Charles McLeod, Jim Bickford and Gordon Eis.

The young people, Mrs. Baker said, are making extensive plans for the dances, chief among which is the formation of a parents' auxiliary, to act as an advisory board. The committee has already decided to retain Bruno Peters' orchestra. A special dance will be held every other Saturday as soon as the regular schedule has been decided upon by the students. Further plans will be announced from time to time, as the group holds its weekly meetings. A dance will be held this Saturday at the regular hour. Mr. and Mrs. Leslie D. Stauffer will be patrons.

Twelfth Night Inspires Party

The traditional revelry of an Old English Twelfth Night celebration was revived by Mrs. M. J. Nicholas Hadjiskey and their family at Bates street, for their family party, held on Sunday evening. The numerous guests, all of whom arrived in costume, were immediately pressed into service for the Twelfth Night revels, forming the bulk of the evening's program.

"A Christmas Fantasy," written by Marion Kirk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Nevill Kirk, was acted by the young people. Included in the cast, besides the authoress, were Peggy Hadjiskey, Walter Wood, Sylvia Merrill, Carol Watt, Angus Melay, and Gene Hadjiskey. Later, Patricia Kennedy read "The King's Breakfast," by A. A. Milne, while Mary Joan Forsyth and Annabelle McLeay presented a spirit interpretation. Joan Hadjiskey was an original "cow" to Sylvia Merrill's dramatized, "The Williams Twins." Kitty and Susan, sang a duet and later, Walter Wooden also sang.

The evening concluded with carol singing, in which audience and performers joined, and the Lambeth Walk. Mrs. Helen Wagner Neff presided at the piano for the musical numbers.

Among the guests were George T. Hendrix, Mrs. A. D. McLeay, Walter Angus, and Annabelle Mary Joan Forsyth. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Nevill Kirk and Marian Peck also were present. Other guests included Mrs. Walter Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry M. and Mrs. William Craighair and Ward Jr., Mrs. J. B. Williams, Sylvia and Kitty, Mr. and Mrs. William Tynan, Nancy, Mrs. Robert F. Way, Carl and Jocelyn; Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Heimiller, Alice Lee, Janice and Pat; Mrs. Helen Wagner Neff, and Mrs. William Merrill and Sylvia.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Anderson of Lake Park drive departed Thursday for an extended tour of the west. They will travel in Colorado, California, Texas and Missouri on the trip, returning to Birmingham early in February.

Mrs. Robert L. Pettie of Waddington road is spending several days in Chicago.

Countless Roses Transform 'Wabeek' For Cheuning-Bryant Wedding Rites

A tower of roses transformed the drawing room of Wabeek, the Bloomfield Hills home of Mrs. James Couzens and the late Senator Couzens, for the marriage of their daughter, Mrs. Margo Couzens Cheuning, on Thursday, to the bridegroom of Alexandria, Va. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Bryant, also of Alexandria.

Dr. Joseph A. Vance of the First Presbyterian Church of Detroit performed the ceremony, at noon. Tall standards, filled with bouquets with Tallman roses, flanked the white satin prie-dieu at which the bride couple knelt. Huge clusters of the roses were used throughout the house, as well.

The floor length gown of grey, fastened on princess lines with long light sleeves and a heart-shaped neckline. Her doll was used in matching shade, adorned with ostrich tips of the same color. An alabaster veil hung in streamer arm bouquet of Tallman roses and white valley lilies, tied with ribbons of old-blue velvet.

Mrs. William E. Yaw was her gown's only attendant. Her crepe was of pearl grey. She wore a small grey hat, topped with grey ostrich tips and her flowers were

WILL PLAY HERE

Miss Ruth Krieger, violinist, will be featured as a soloist with the Little Symphony of the University of Michigan, which will appear at the auspices of the Birmingham Musicale, on Tuesday, Jan. 24, under the direction of the Birmingham Musicale. The concert will mark the third in a winter series planned and sponsored by the Musicale. Like its predecessors, the affair is open to the public.

Miss Krieger will play Haydn's "Concert in D Major," with orchestral accompaniment. A recipient of the Mu Phi Epsilon Scholarship, she graduated from the University of Washington, in 1936, having begun her musical studies at an early age. The following fall found her in New York, the holder of a scholarship at the famed Juillard Institute. During her two years at the Institute, she studied under William Walleck, and appeared many times as a soloist and in instrumental ensembles with the Orchestrette Classique, of which she was a member.

At the University of Michigan, where she is doing graduate work, Miss Krieger is a student of Hans Peck.
