BALDWIN CLASS HEARS TALK ON CREDIT SYSTEM

The commercial law class was conducted on a tour of the Merchants' Credit Bureau in the United Artists Building, Detroit by Walter T. Elliott, manager of the Reporting Department, on Tuesday morning, Jan. 17. Mr. Elliott spoke to the class about credit presenting many interesting and illuminating facts. "Credit is based upon the three C's," he said, "Character, capital and capacity." He further stated that credit is constructive in purpose, its motive being to help the store sell and the purchaser buy. The class learned that over one-half of the purchases made in Detroit are made for credit. The Bureau has on file the names and credit ratings of one and one-half million people. It also has one of the largest switch boards in Detroit and its own Western Union branch department. The class was accompanied by the instructor, Mrs. Adele Haliday.

Latin Students Recall Customs Of Ancient Rome At Typical Banquets

Feasting in Roman style: Two Spoons of the typical banquet classes rounded out the end of a semester by holding parties in Latin fashion. The guests, Roman names, Roman names, Roman names, Roman names, used and then, only lullaby necessary. For this reason, this cleaning process was carried on after each course. Printed on scrolls were the very Roman menus, which were nearly identical for both banquets. The first course consisted of tuna fish salad, celery, deviled eggs, olives and asparagus. French bread and honey, string beans and radishes followed in the second course. Grape juice and coconuts were used as wine. The third course was cold ham, carrots and olives. The banquet was brought to an end with fruit, cakes, raisins, nuts and mints. One of the festivities was held at the home of Dorothy Barrett with Mrs. Carol Darling as guest of honor. The guest list included Phil Bremer, Doris Franklin, Madeline Pease, Ed Spicer, Lucille Peck, Ruth Jackson, Yvonne Thompson, Virginia Olson, Richard Darrow and Jack Bartholomew. The slaves were Phyllis Allen and William Bell.

SCHOOL CARRIES ON WITH PROGRAM OF WINTER SPORTS

The fact that the Bloomfield Hills School does not have a gymnasium apparently does not handicap the physical education department. Throughout the winter months the boys participate in cross country, ice hockey, outdoor basketball, soccer, and touch football.

Baseball, which is normally considered as an indoor sport, occupies a prominent part in the Hills School outdoor program. Sixty-five boys participate in members on eight teams with each group playing at least two games per week.

Even though handicapped by adverse weather conditions, the boys have an outdoor rink which they have built and maintained. Those most active in this program include Francis Carrette, Ronald Hall, Robert Luce, Edward Cochran, William Cochran, Richard Moore, Richard Flannery, Robert Floyd, and William Bracker.

Two country games played throughout the winter include football, basketball, and soccer. The intramural basketball schedule draws to a close corresponding schedule will be played in soccer.

Under the supervision of Mr. Richard Spiess, physical education director for boys, the lack of a gymnasium, while being a problem at times, is proving to be no real obstacle in the path of a wholesome physical education program.

NEW GROUP PLANS 'HOUSE' DANCE FOR SATURDAY NIGHTS

Have you been there? This year a new committee is in charge of the dances given for the high school age young people at the Community House.

The members of the group have started with the idea of presenting good music by means of a band and his band. To vary the ordinary dances, novel dances have been suggested. Up to this time a Topsy Turvy and Kiddie Party have been on the program, going over with much applause from all.

The sponsors of the committee include Mrs. L. M. Baker and Mrs. Julia Lally. The group are Margaret Gardner, Sue Wood, Virginia Stanley, Jim Bennett, Charles Lewis, Bob Eade, Bettie Lee, Kabby Walton, Evelyn Wragby, Bettie Elliott, Ruth Navin, Constance Peck, Theo Firth, Gordon Eis, Jane Thomas, Gay Carey, Charles McLeod, Carol Collins, Winnie Watkins, Cameron Biggers, Charles Fiske, Bob Myers, David Thompson and Bill Spinning.

The parents of the young people have volunteered to help chaperone these parties with the help of the night hostess.

After the games, dancing and ping-pong were the diversions. Those who went were Betty Lou Heck, captain; Virginia Corryell, Mary Jean Coley, Ruth Savage, Marie Russell, Mary Sheridan, Margaret Twigg, Ida Mae Cloud, Dorothy Sandaval, Barbara Allison, Mary Jane Annon, and Helen Hopkins.

CAGE STARS TO PLAY LAST GAME FOR BALDWIN HIGH

The Baldwin high school basketball team will play its last game of the first half of the schedule as it meets Henry Ford Trade School Friday night at Baldwin gymnasium. The game is scheduled to begin at 7:15 p. m. This will be Roland Langerman's last game for Baldwin high school. He has been a regular for three years, and his services will be sorely missed. He has been a consistent point getter as well as a good defense man. Donald McBride will also play his last game for Baldwin although this will be his first year as a regular. He has been out for basketball for three years.

VARIED LUCK IS CRANES' LOT IN FULL WEEK-END

Cranbrook athletic teams won one, tied one, and lost two contests Saturday. The fencers traveled to East Lansing to defeat a Michigan State freshman squad, 13 to 5. Bruce N. Coulter's hockey team played Kennedy Collegiate to a 1 to 1 overtime standstill at Windsor, Saturday morning. A strong Michigan State freshman wrestling squad won from its Bloomfield Hills boys, 22 to 6, and a tall, fast Howe Academy basketball team defeated the Cranbrook five, 37 to 29, at Howe, Indiana.

Chuck VanDusen, Bill Wells, and George Bush led the attack of the local swordsmen, winning all their bouts. Tom Talman scored the sole Cranbrook goal in the hockey match.

Losing to a team which it had defeated the week before, the grapplers won but two of their events. Co-captains Jack and Bob Bird won decisions over their collegiate opponents in the 145 and 155-pound classes respectively. The boys from East Lansing won two events by falls, four by the referee's decision.

Howe gained revenge for the decisive football defeat administered in October. With a team averaging six feet in height, the Indians lost no time in piling up a mass of points assuring a margin of victory. They led at the half, 25 to 7. The Cranes came back strong the second half to play the victors by one point, but the die had been cast in the first two periods. Outstanding for this season was Latham Broadwell, who was high-point man with six points.

Perhaps the most noteworthy is his Mandala championship from five different states were present to run the event. The trials were run then, when the field had been narrowed down to a small number of runners, the finals were run.

Rolland Langerman said afterwards that it was the only time in Quentin's career he had ever seen him nervous. The race started with a man running against champion, each trying his best to win. The stretch was broken by the race ahead of the field and won the race. Although he set a new record, his fastest time was at the A. U. indoor race, where he ran against college competition.

Here, he ran what was probably the fastest time a high school boy has ever run under lights. He finished one second slower than his record for high school competition.

Quentin ranks third in the national scholastic rating and will be presented with a plaque by Coach Whitney. He may leave this January in body, but he will linger forever in the memory of students past and students to come.

Rolland Langerman has played a starring role for Birmingham's basketball team for three years. His quick thinking, fast moving and wonderful ability to shoot baskets have been a credit to the past years, and Birmingham suffers a great setback when he is needed as yet another player to replace Roll. But Mr. Whitney said the boys would do some thing and still the hole the best they could.

Baldwin High School and team supporters know only too well the asset these two men have been to the team, and it is with deep regret that we say goodbye and good luck!

Meet The 'NITE-LITE!'

This tiny "night light" for bedrooms and hallways, stairways, etc., brings more convenience than one can imagine—at negligible cost. A little jewel glowing in the dark, it provides just enough illumination to assure safe footing through the room (it is not bright enough to awaken the children) and it plugs into any electrical outlet. You can leave it on all night for about a fifth of a cent. Purchase it at ten-cent stores, department stores, hardware stores and electrical dealers. (We do not sell these lamps.) CLASS PROPHECY READ TO SENIORS AT ASSEMBLY

Laughter and lumpy throats prevailed in the auditorium of Baldwin High School Friday morning as the seniors made their last appearance before the student body in the annual "Spring out" assembly.

The graduating class made its entrance to the impressive tones of Mendelssohn's "War March of the Priests" from "Athalia," rendered by the Baldwin high school orchestra.

First on the program was the reading of the class will by Doug Lyle. Gene Farmer continued with "Who's Who Among the Seniors," and was followed by Max Sutton singing "The Old Maid," "My Reverie" and "This Can't Be Love."

The class prophecy, written by Mary Garfield, was taken care of by Rodney Grambeau as he became Timmy Finler, and satirized the well known rosy gossip man.

Sarah Longface, the social reformer, has placed pants on her table legs.
