June Light, July Brighter, in Fires

A grass fire started by children ignited a line of fence posts and caused an estimated $30 damage last Saturday at 1184 Grant street.

During this month the fire department has put out seven grass fires caused partly, Chief V. W. Griffith said, by people who are not aware of the dryness of vegetation. Incinerators have contributed to one or two of these fires.

Chief Griffith's report for June shows that month to be the lowest in losses by fire than any month during the past two years. There was an estimated loss by fire of only $10, although the buildings and their contents represented values totalling $83,300.00.

Adjustment Made In Recreational Activities Here

Beginning on Monday of this week the Birmingham Recreation Committee started opening under a re-adjusted program, necessitated because of the summer emphasis at Quanton and the Pierce playgrounds, according to an announcement made by the committee.

On Monday the daily supervision on Pierce and Quanton playgrounds was discontinued and a story hour has been substituted which meets Monday at 10 o'clock at the Lincoln playground, Burnum and Pierce on Tuesday at 10 o'clock, Quanton at 9:30 Wednesday and Adams on Wednesday at 10:45 a. m.

Despite the small attendance at Quanton and the Pierce playgrounds, the total persons participating in the recreation activities which meets Monday at 10 o'clock at the Lincoln playground, Burnum and Adams on Wednesday at 10:45 a. m. reached 3560 during last week, which was the fourth week of playground activities. A report issued this week by Franklin Whitney, director of summer recreational activities here, showed that the Burnum pool attracted the most people. The pool, which drew 1065 persons during the week of July 10 through 14, led its closest rival, the softball league, by an attendance of more than 600 persons.

Bicycle Hike Today
Important among the events which were to be staged this week by the Recreation Committee was the bicycle hike which was scheduled to start at 8:30 this morning. Hikers were to leave from the Burnum school for a trip up the Lincoln highway to the Burnum school, which is a weekly affair, will be held Friday evening from 8 to 11 o'clock at the Burnum school. The Parent Teachers' Association of that school is sponsoring this dance.

Included among the announcements made by Mr. Whitney this week is a series of free art lessons which will be given at the Burnum school on Wednesday from 9 to 12 a. m. and from 1 to 5 p. m. Adults are invited to attend these lessons. Mr. Whitney said.

Pool Schedule
Committee members have also pointed out a change in the pool schedule. The schedule is as follows: Monday—men, swimming from 7:30 to 8:30; Tuesday—women, swimming from 7:30 to 8:30; Mixed adults, 8:30 to 9:30; Wednesday—men, swimming from 7:30 to 8:30; Thursday—women from 7:30 to 8:30; Mixed adults 8:30 to 9:30. These evening swimming sessions have been arranged primarily for employed persons. Children will be allowed to enter if accompanied by parents.

Those who passed their beginning tests during the past week were Doris Minks, Nancy Allen, Jack Appell, Marjorie O'Connor, Richard Murray, Richard Todd, Donald Andrews, Mary Lou Brannan, Barbara Smith, Katherine Gipter, John Robertson, Delores Minsky, Greta Bergsagen and Robert Welsh. Passers of the swimmers' tests: Keith Willis, George Gill, Harold Kelly, Jack Kramer, and Barbara Mosher.

In a letter this week to members of the committee, Mrs. Ryan, secretary of the group, outlined future plans for recreational activities. Proposed trips include a trip to the Cranbrook museum, a trip to Selfridge Field, one to Briggs Stadium and a picnic at Sirmadale Park.

HOW'S FISHING?

An incident streamed dozens of miles daily on Michigan's streams and lakes as officers of the Michigan department of conservation go out in patrol. An occasional law-evader is brought to book, more often the officer supplies information about spots where fish are biting or advice on baits and sunburn lotions.

Hunter Boulevard? Sure! Why Not? Give Pioneers A Break! Residents Agree

A poll of business men and housewives reveals that a majority agree with the City Commission in the selection of Hunter Boulevard, named after John and Rufus Hunter, who were among the earliest settlers in Birmingham as the name for the Woodward cut-off, tentatively set to be opened to the public Nov. 1.

Asked if they approved of the name Hunter boulevard, the following gave voice to their feelings: THOMAS LUSCOMBE, 2192 Yorkshire, former Mayor of Birmingham. "Why not? These fellows came in here and cut a road with an axe. 'Call the cut-off road' they said. 'Call it Hunter Boulevard.' ROBERT MILK, Milk Auto Supply. "I think it's all right. OK, with me." HERBERT MOORE, Birmingham Hardware Co. "I think it's all right."

NEIL RIFKSE, Snyder, Buck and Bennett. "Call it East Woodward and West Woodward. It should remain Woodward in some form."

OFFICER LEO STERS, Police Dept. "Yes. They were going to name parts of this town after the early settlers and they never gave them anything. So not to be confusing to the public, let them be sure and place a sign showing M-10 in big letters; otherwise, motorists might still come through Birmingham."

RALPH WILSON, Wilson's. "The name is just as good as any other."

ROY R. HAWTHORNE, Hawthorne Appliance Shop. "I don't like it. Why don't they call it East Woodward and West Woodward? I think it would be easier to understand."

CHARLES J. SHAIN, Shain's Drug Store. "I think it's very good. Perfectly all right with me. They ought to do something like that for our early settlers."

WILLIAM G. OLSEN, Olsen's Meat Market. "There may be some confusion, but it should be okay if they mark it plainly. I like the name."

MRS. HARRY ALLEN, 556 W. Maple. "I think it's fine. It's nice that those three old families have something named after them. First there was Wilkes street, Hamilton avenue and now Hunter boulevard. Yes, I like it."

MR. W. B. ARCHER, 465 Kimberly road. "It's a short and easy name to remember."

MRS. OSCAR A. POTTS, 311

Heated Words On A Warm Evening

A bit of heated repartee, an infrequent incident in the meetings of Birmingham's City Commission, took place Monday night between Frank J. Ortman, of 743 Harmon avenue, and Commissioner Lawrence Hulbert. Mr. Ortman was present to request the payment of approximately $30 from the city due to the smashing of his nine-year-old son's bicycle, which occurred June 23 when a City grader backed into it at the corner of Harmon and Greenwood avenues. The youngster escaped injury with the exception of a bruised leg, it was reported.

After City Clerk Irene E. Hartley had finished reading Mr. Ortman's letter, a momentary silence ensued about the Commission table, and then Commissioner Hulbert motioned to say: "I think it's a small thing to do—to ask the City to rebate the cost in this case."

First Half July Up In New Homes

Building permits issued in Birmingham during the first two weeks of July show an increase of $15,000 over the same period last year.

By July 18, 1938, only one single family home, at a valuation of $9000, had been issued a building permit in that month. For the first half of July this year, three residences, for a total of $24,000, have been approved.

James B. Baynes, city building inspector, expects building in Birmingham to move along on an even keel.

Up to July 1st this year, permits for single residences have been issued for a total valuation of $217,000, placing the average value of each home between $32,000 and $14,000.
