Parents Announce Patty Blackmore Married Year Ago

Among the most exciting bridal stories of the week is the announcement by Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Harold Blackmore of the wedding of their daughter, Patricia, to Robert Seyfarth of Detroit. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Robert Seyfarth of Princeton, N. J.

The young couple exchanged their vows at a quiet ceremony performed June 27 of last year, at Napoleon, O.

They will make their home in Detroit.

Mrs. Seyfarth is a graduate of Baldwin high school, and later attended Duke university at Durham, N. C. She was active in undergraduate affairs, and is affiliated with Alpha Phi sorority.

Mrs. Seyfarth received her degree from Princeton university.

A number of entertainments will honor the young couple, both of whom are popular among members of the younger set.

Trip to Florida Follows Wedding

Holy Name church was the scene of the wedding last Saturday morning, of Miss Audrey May Skuse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Skuse, of Purdy street, and Robert E. Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merle L. Taylor of Orlando, Fla., formerly of Birmingham. The altar was banked with white roses for the ceremony, and a large blue vase holding white peonies stood on either side of the altar rail.

The bride was attired in a frock of powder blue crepe, trimmed with matching lace and made with a bolero jacket. She wore a large white hat of milan straw, edged in starched lace and having white streamers and white accessories. Her corsage bouquet was of bridal roses, lilies of the valley and blue sweet peas. Miss Mary Merrifield of Toronto, Ont., cousin of the bride, was her only attendant, wearing a royal blue dress with contrasting blue jacket, and a matching felt hat. Her shoes were sweet peas in pastel tones.

Mrs. Skuse, the bride's mother, was godmother, and wore a large matching hat and a corsage of gardenias.

Henry Heston attended Mr. Taylor as best man and Paul and Jack Savage were ushers.

Miss Jane Taylor of Orlando, the bridegroom's sister, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cornell of Ansonia, Conn., were among those attending the wedding.

After the ceremony, the young couple left on a motor trip to Florida. On their return, they will reside temporarily in Birmingham.

Others Named At Three-Day Detroit Meet

Mrs. Lee E. Joselyn, Jr., of Birmingham, was re-elected president of the Michigan division of the State and National Farm and Garden Association, at the Hotel Statler. Mrs. H. Gray Matz, also of Birmingham, retained her office of first vice-president, and Mrs. Donald D. James of Bloomfield Hills, was named corresponding secretary, an office which had been vacant recently.

Others re-elected in the state election were Mrs. Fred J. Schumann of Detroit, second vice-president; Miss Marie L. Anderson of Grosse Pointe, recording secretary, and Mrs. John F. Keyes of Grosse Pointe, treasurer.

Business sessions occupied the delegates, who numbered well over 1000, Tuesday and Wednesday mornings—national matters and election being taken up yesterday—and the afternoons were devoted to garden pilgrimages in Detroit's suburbs. Today will be purely social in character. Members will be guests for the day of Mrs. Henry Ford, who will throw open her beautiful gardens in Dearborn for the inspection of the morning. Luncheon will follow at Clinton inn and a visit to Greenfield Village in the afternoon, with an old-fashioned tea as a special feature, will conclude the program.

No national officers were won by local women, but they still hold three seats on the National Council. Those having this honor are Mrs. Joselyn, Mrs. W. D. Thompson and Mrs. Harry B. DeJoy. Mrs. Joselyn is president by virtue of her office of state president and Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. DeJoy were re-elected Wednesday.

Tuesday was Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills day and members of the Birmingham and Hills branches acted as hostesses. Following a luncheon at the Statler Tuesday, delegates inspected the Hills for a visit to Miss Apple Sly's iris gardens on West Maple road and Mr. and Mrs. George C. Booth's estate, "Cranbrook," in Bloomfield Hills, as well as the Ingham and Birmingham schools and Kingswood school.

Following dinner at Cranbrook school, there was a program of music and dancing at the Greek theater, Cranbrook. Vernon B. Kellett directed a mixed chorus of more than 100 voices and Miss Yvonne Gay led a group of dancers. The dancers included Genevieve Gay, Fay Anderson, Doris Franklin, Jane Lee Tremper, Nancy Walker and Ann Halliday.

Miss Komyane Thompson was chairman of hostesses for Bloomfield day, assisted by Mrs. Richard F. Roseman, of the University of Webster and Mrs. William M. Purves.

Luncheon at the Grosse Pointe Yacht club followed yesterday morning's business meeting and later visits were made to the Grosse Pointe gardens, the Standish Backus, John S. Newberry and Edwin S. Barbour residences, and to the Alger Museum.

Speaker at the luncheon was Mrs. Francis King of New York, honorary national president.

William J. Cameron of the Ford Motor company, was the speaker last night at the banquet for convention delegates, held at the Hotel Statler.

John McKee, Jr., Engaged to Co-ed

An engagement of interest in Birmingham is that of Miss Eleanor Swan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Swan, of Sherbourne road, Detroit, to John McKee, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John McKee, of Ridgedale avenue, Birmingham.

The bride-elect is being graduated this month from the University of Michigan. Mr. McKee attended Baldwin high school and was graduated from the University of Michigan two years ago.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Events Scheduled At Pine Lake Club

A ventriloquist, heralded as Charlie McCarthy's only rival, will be on hand tonight to entertain the children who will attend the family night party at Pine Lake Country club. The program will start at 8:30 o'clock.

Saturday is to be Get Acquainted Day at the club, when there will be an old members' members golf game. The first informal dance of the season will be held Saturday night at the club.

Pre-Nuptial Fetes Crowd Calendar For Kitty Mead

First of the week's parties to honor Miss Kathleen Jane Mead, who is scheduled to become Mrs. Dana Poole Seeley of Ann Arbor, on July 1, was the garden party at the Fine Lake Country club by Miss Phyllis Allers. Four hundred guests in formal attire—two bridesmaids—centered the luncheon table, encircled by covers of orange blossoms.

Covers were laid for Miss Mead and her mother, Mrs. Melvin R. Mead, Mrs. R. H. Allers, Mrs. Harry D. Wise, Mrs. E. D. Rutherford, Miss Jean Rutherford, Mrs. Marshall Ward, Miss Betty Ward, Mrs. Clarence E. Hotford, Mrs. F. R. Mixer, Mrs. E. Jean Little, and the hostess.

Mrs. George T. Jeffers entertained at luncheon Tuesday, for Miss Mead at her home on Suffolk road, and Mrs. Hugh C. White gave a tea yesterday, at her residence in Sherwood Forest.

Miss Margaret Hoy and Miss Helen McGee, cousins of the bride-elect, will complement her with a supper-party at Miss Hoy's home on Lawton avenue.

Among the affairs planned for next week are a luncheon on Tuesday, when Mrs. William Lloyd Kemp will entertain at her home on Yarmouth road, and a similar function on Wednesday, when Mrs. E. Jean Little, of Dorchester road, as hostess.

Luncheon Is Given For Edith Babcock

Mrs. H. E. Listman was hostess yesterday at a bridge-luncheon and miscellaneous shower at her home on Arlington road, in honor of Miss Edith Clover Babcock, whose marriage to John H. Pratt will be celebrated on June 24. Others attending were Mrs. W. E. Tracy, Mrs. E. D. Rutherford, Mrs. H. A. Prussing, Mrs. Harold D. Beck, Mrs. Milton F. Coulson, Mrs. David C. Babcock, mother of the honoree, Mrs. W. C. Salisbury, Mrs. Robert K. Vinton, Mrs. Reed Alexander, and Miss Jean Rutherford.

Roses and peonies in pink and white comprised the decorations.

With June's approach, brides-to-be are planning trousseaus. As this couple hops the "honey-moon special," the new Mrs. McKee is wearing a dress of silk chiffon in shepherd's check print. Skirt is shirred on each side of front panel; dress, long high, round collar of black velvet.

Plan Garden Party For Detroit Artists

Patrons of the Detroit Artists' Market will be entertained at a charming affair on the afternoon of Thursday, June 8. Mrs. John S. Newberry will open her home on Lake Shore road, Grosse Pointe, for a garden party for the pleasure of members of the group and their guests.

In the event of rain on Thursday, the affair will be held on Friday, regardless of weather conditions.

Mrs. W. D. Thompson, Mrs. Walter O. Briggs, Mrs. Bruce B. Vanden and Mrs. Richard P. Rasmussen are Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills members who will assist Mrs. Ernest Kandler, chairman of the affair, as hostesses.

Contrary to the custom of former years, a garden party will not mark the end of the season at the Market. Instead, it was announced recently that the Madison avenue galleries would remain open until the end of August.

Old Board and New to Attend Players' Dinner

The old board of the Village Players will entertain the new Monday evening, at a dinner at Devon Gables. After the dinner, the former board members will since the election of officers will take place, with the retiring officers handing over the reins to the new.

Paul Neal Averill is the Players' new president and Ruffe C. Symington is the organization's former head.

Members of the two boards and their respective wives or husbands, in the case of married couples, are invited to attend the dinner. Mr. and Mrs. Averill, Mr. and Mrs. Symington, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Pease, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Robert N. Woodruff, Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. Klein, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Fleming, Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Middleton, Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. McCall, Dr. and Mrs. John F. Hoed, Mrs. and Mrs. H. G. Muehlman, Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Reid, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hart and Dr. and Mrs. James Howell.

Mrs. Garden Gardner Cobb, a member of the old board who is residing temporarily in New York, is expected in Birmingham for a visit shortly and if she reaches here in time for the dinner, will be among the guests.

Charles Lawler, Sister Among June Graduates

Charles Francis Lawler, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. C. F. Lawler, of Oak street, is a member of the graduating class of the University of Detroit, which received their diplomas Tuesday, at the Masonic temple. Mr. Lawler received a Bachelor of Science Degree from the College of Commerce and Finance. He was a member of Delta Sigma Pi fraternity. Next fall, he will enter the law school of the University of Michigan, specializing in tax law.

Mr. Lawler's sister, Miss Florence Lawler, was graduated this month from St. Joseph academy in Adrian. She also will enter the University of Michigan next fall. The young people's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Kell, of Milwaukee, came on for their graduations.

His Ferent Desire

The other day a Wall Street broker telephoned his home to say that he would not be home to dinner. His new English maid, who took the call informed him that his wife was out.

In reply to his question as to her whereabouts, she said: "The madam informed me that she had an appointment with a psychoanalyst, sir."

Thrift Shop Will Conduct Final Sales

Final sales of the Birmingham Thrift shop, conducted by the Detroit Junior league at the Community House, are announced by Mrs. Benjamin Brewster for Saturday from 10 a. m. until noon, and next Tuesday from 11 to 4 p. m. All merchandise will be drastically reduced for these occasions.

Mrs. Brewster said: "These sale days will bring to a close the shop's second season, during which considerable advance in development was achieved. Hundreds of articles were sold and the number of buyers increased. Proceeds, too, were larger than last year. All funds derived from the shop go toward the Community House Welfare fund."

Affairs of the shop are conducted by a committee headed by Miss Barbara Traub, which held monthly meetings all winter for the discussion of problems. Two successful bundle teas for the renewal of merchandise were held—one in the fall and one in April. The shop will reopen in October.

Serving with Miss Traub on the Thrift shop board are Mrs. Brewster, Mrs. Carl A. Underhill, Mrs. Washburne Wright, Mrs. Walter O. Briggs, Jr., Miss Rosamund Thompson, Mrs. Paul B. Hoffman and Mrs. E. A. Schirmer.

Kingswood Girls Hear Novelist At Graduation

Miss Mary Ellen Chase, professor of English at Smith college, Northampton, Mass., and novelist of note, was the speaker at the Kingswood school graduation exercises, Saturday evening, in Christ church Cranbrook. Miss Chase told the young graduates that there are four vital things in life and that they are learning, knowledge of nature, respect for manual labor and respect for religion.

Miss Margaret Avery Agaur, headmistress of the school, presided at the ceremonies. Rev. Dr. Samuel S. Marquis gave the invocation and Rev. Charles H. Cadigan the benediction.

Following a custom of long standing, Alice Silberstein of Detroit, president of the senior class, presented the school flag to Patricia Pierce of Farmington, junior class president.

Kingswood graduated 25 students and there was one post-graduate. Those from Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills to receive diplomas were Carolyn Beecher, Anne Mary Linton, Betty Anne Pease, Doris Richard, Sally Saunders, Martin Thompson, and Bobette Wiley.

Piety Hill Members Guests At Bridge-Tea

Several members of Piety Hill chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, attended the bridge-tea given yesterday by the Ezra Parker chapter of Royal Oak. Guests from Birmingham were Mrs. R. P. Cole, Mrs. William L. Graham, Mrs. Irwin R. Burnett and Mrs. Charles F. Butters.

Mrs. Cole will attend the luncheon to get rest from the Howard chapter, D. A. R., of Dearborn, at Dearborn Inn Saturday.

Appeal To Reason

Mrs. Knapp—I just know you are going out to spend the evening with some other woman.

Hubbard—Don't be foolish, I'm going out to get rest from some woman—think I'd spend my precious moments of freedom with another?

Former Resident Honored at Parties Before Marriage

Mr. and Mrs. Lane Bishop, of Poppleton road, and their daughter, Mrs. Marc J. Parsons, of Fort Wayne, Ind., who is visiting here, started the social ball rolling Sunday night in honor of Miss Beth Ranney and her fiancé, Richard M. Coons. Although Miss Ranney now resides in Detroit, she formerly lived in Birmingham and has hosts of friends here. Mr. Coons lives on Greenwood avenue. Their wedding is scheduled for June 30.

The party Sunday was a supper given at the Bishop home and guests included, besides the honorees, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Myers, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd C. Gustafson, Dr. and Mrs. Russell B. Stephens, Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Frank N.

Mosher, Miss Sally Baker, Robert Hatch and Jack Sitta.

Mrs. Gustafson entertained Monday evening, with a kitchen shower and bridge party at her home on Madison avenue, for Miss Ranney and Mr. Gustafson gave a stag dinner for Mr. Coons Tuesday evening.

Wednesday evening, Miss Ranney's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence J. Chandler, were hosts at a family dinner at their home on La Salle boulevard. Besides the bride and bridegroom-elect, the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Clifford H. Ranney, Miss Ranney's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold K. Chandler and son, Donald, Mr. and Mrs. William P. Edmondson and their daughter, Miss Joan, and sons, Jack and Billy, of Pontiac.

A Flake

"I did the course in 72 yesterday," said a man proudly.

"I'm sorry," said his lunch companion.

"Why?"

"Because from now on you're doomed to be off your game for the rest of your life."
