NOTE: The Eccentric is pleased to publish stories of events which have new value and which are written by persons not connected with the editorial staff. All copy must be presented before noon on Wednesday. The right is reserved, however, to omit such material if it is found to be mechanically submitted in the style of the paper and as required by laws of the state. Because of the mechanical nature of the copy, headlines written by those other than members of the staff will not appear. Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation appearing in the columns of the Eccentric will be gladly corrected upon being brought to the attention of the publisher.

This newspaper, with deep sincerity, wants to believe that Governor Dickinson is going to get the Almighty's official affairs to a greater degree than any of his predecessors. When the Governor took up the job after the death of Frank D. Fitzgerald not so long ago, we wrote an editorial that praised Larned D. Dickinson. We thought that he would do a really capable job. We now do not question his personal integrity, or his personal intentions; but we are joining with many others who question his capacity to grapple with the evils that do beset Michigan's government.

Governor Dickinson has stated that "he who has a pipe-line to God is bound to be a great human service." We do not question the Governor's belief that he has such a pipe-line; but we do not hesitate to assume, after observing the Governor's wishy-washy attitude in civil service, Michigan, etc., that some group of predatory people seem to have tapped that pipe-line, or else have partially clogged it up.

God helps those that help themselves. That is an old axiom. But God expects a Governor, perhaps, to draw up some human laws, reports of action, of decisions, and then use the courage that God gives to make them work.

Michigan is watching God's self-appointed representative who occupies the Governor's chair in Lansing. Michigan hopes that God and Dickinson win.

But God, with the help of existing predatory people, can't do so much for a gentleman named Larned D. Dickinson.

Our editorial has it off to every local person who is engaged in setting up a comprehensive summer recreation program here during the vacation months.

Youngsters alone are not the sole concern of the committee in charge, for programs that are designed to interest adults also are being considered.

Every type of game that can be played outdoors, use of the Michigan State golf course, the Barnum school, movies, and other recreational pursuits will intrigue our populace this summer.

Wilmer E. Moody, member of the local City Commission, is chairman of the community's recreational program committee. He is dependent upon to exert every energy to make the affair a huge success. Franklin A. Whitney, Birmingham teacher and athletic director, will be in charge of the actual program administration. General Arnold B. Berndt, director of instrumental music in the public schools, will also extend his talents to add harmony to the activities.

No one can estimate the true value of a summer recreational program in the lives of people, especially youngsters. Like trying to locate the end of celestial space, the program is one that bounds the potential good that clean and wholesome playing begets to human beings.

So here's to Birmingham's summer recreational program—may it go through with flying colors, not that the kids will make for staunch red, white, and blue citizens in the greatest of all surviving democracies!
