Non-Partisan State News Letter

LANSING—Governor Luren D. Dickinson, arch foe of John Barleycorn, will have an important appointment to make within the next few weeks.

The term of V. F. Gormley of Detroit, member of the three-man commission, expires on Friday, Dec. 15. Other commissioners are Orrin A. De Mass of Detroit, chairman, and Muri H. Defoe of Charlotte, both appointees of the late Governor Frank Fitzgerald.

Following Fitzgerald's death, Mr. Dickinson announced that his fellow townsman, Mr. Defoe, would be his "personal" representative on the state board. Since Defoe apparently enjoys the confidence of the governor and shares his general philosophy as to the need of liquor control, the conclusion is logical that Dickinson will have an opportunity soon to do something about the "evils" which he has so relentlessly deplored, year in and year out, for the past decade or two.

What is the liquor situation in Michigan today? Here are some cold facts.

Today an adult can purchase alcoholic beverages at 16,202 different places in the state.

Of the number, 3,478 are public saloons (tap rooms or whatnot) where hard liquor is sold by the glass. The remaining 12,724 are in Wayne county; these, it is possible under the present population quota system of Wayne county to have 270 more.

Taverns where you may buy beer or wine by the glass total 4,384.

Then there are 9,566 "special designated merchants" of which 4,213 are in Wayne county which sell bottled beer or wine for consumption off the premises. Most of these are grocers. Hard liquor by package may be purchased at 1,358 places of business, chiefly drug stores.

Private clubs where liquor may be served total 397. Hotels licensed to serve liquor are 206 in "Class A" and 327 in "Class B," the classification being set according to number of rooms.

In addition to all this, the state operates exactly 100 stores of its own in larger communities throughout Michigan. There is some overlapping in types of liquor outlets as given above; hence the total, 16,202.

Big Business
Second sale of alcoholic beverages has become "big business" in Michigan.

Gross sale of liquor (distilled spirits and wines over 16% in alcoholic content) were $37,252,507.92 for the calendar year 1938.

During 1938 a total of 2,627,854 net barrels of beer were produced in Michigan. Outstate breweries shipped 668,653 barrels to the state for sale here.

In terms of gallons—and this may stagger your imagination—the sale of alcoholic drinks in 1938 led to consumption of 5,236,589 gallons of distilled spirits—whisky, rum, gin, etc.—and 102,873,142 gallons of beer.

It is estimated that approximately 100,000 persons receive full or partial compensation, directly or indirectly, as a result of this consumption. For example, the state itself employs 730 persons regularly to store liquor in state warehouses and to sell liquor at state stores.

In any man's language, this is a lot of money, a lot of liquor, and a lot of headaches both before and after. Keeping politics and misuse of power out of state liquor control is one of the leading problems in addition to Michigan, are trying to do just that.

THIS AND THAT

that wins back the wanderer to the Father's home.

"God is Truth, the breastplate that is a bulwark around the heart of love, impregnable against the evasions, deceptions, subtleties, allurements, flatteries and temptations that assail a soldier of the Cross as he confronts the influences of an evil world, a wicked man who goes forth daily wearing the breastplate of Truth, burnished with a glowing sincerity, is secure whatever be the artillery of evil that may scatter death-dealing munitions he advances.

"God is Righteous. He saves the sinner: He does not condone the sin. It is his righteousness, not our own, that is buckled on and worn as a shield of faith and nurtured on our brow as a helmet of salvation. We stand erect because we stand for all right, whatever it may be, against all wrong. Not by a hair's-breadth do we swerve from the eternal and absolute Justice of God as the only alternative to cruel injustices in the world around us. On the Cross, Jesus vindicated that justice; and justice, and Magna Carta of the weak amid the strong, and the rule of personal character, is the foundation of His Kingdom."
