Don't wait until Winter catches you unprepared and causes serious damage to your car. Now is the time to prepare your car for winter driving. Your local Service Stations are well equipped and stocked with dependable Winter driving needs for your car.

Lubrication . . .

Have the Motor Oil and Lubricants changed now. Heavy oils and greases will not protect your car under freezing conditions. Be sure the Transmission and Differential Lubricants are changed to Winter specifications.

Battery . . .

Have the battery checked and renewed if necessary. Or better yet, replace that old battery with a new one which will surely stand the strain of cold weather starting, heater, radio and night driving.

Anti-Freeze . . .

Have the radiator thoroughly flushed out . . . hose connections checked and replaced where weak. Then add the protection of a good, guaranteed anti-freeze solution.

Brakes . . .

Have your car brakes checked and tested. Bad brakes cause many winter driving accidents. Probably adjustment will make them O. K. If not . . . have them re-lined at once.

Tires . . .

Have the tires checked for bruises and cuts. If the tread is worn smooth . . . re-place with new, non-skid tires. Smooth, worn-out tires are not safe on slippery roads.
