Overrule Protest In Street Project

A public street is a public street and improvements to one of them should not be made at the expense of residents nearby prefer to have a semi-closed road. That is the decision of the City Commission Monday night when a hearing was held on the proposed improvement of Cambridge Avenue, requested by Mr. and Mrs. Everett Roll, who declared the street is impossible in the winter. At least eight neighbors protested the improvement, and their spokesman, P. E. Herbert, of 1509 Dorchester, declared that they did not want the street improved because it would attract heavier traffic to their neighborhood. Furthermore, they said the subdivision, J. E. Williams' tract, intended that the street would not be opened.

Obituary

Richard Alfred Petrak, 37, of 1875 Bennaville, died at 4:30 p. m. last Friday at Poplar and Rivenook. The Denney youth and a passenger, John Averill, 669 Rivenook, were shaken up by the impact but otherwise unhurt. Those involved told police they could not stop because of wet street conditions.

Presbyterian Men Plan Fall Roundup

Annual Fall Roundup of the Men's Club of the First Presbyterian Church will be held in the dining room of the church Thursday evening, Oct. 12 at 7 o'clock. The entertainment committee is arranging for a guest speaker and a program to follow the dinner. This affair is not limited to members of the club. Any man interested may make reservations by calling the chairman of the ticket committee, L. B. Billings, at 1541.

Two Autos Collide; Wet Streets Blamed

At the same corner, at 5:15 p. m., Monday, cars driven by Mrs. Naomi E. Uhlman, 43, of Lathrup Terrace, and Betty Jane Brown, 18, of Bedford road, Bloomfield Hills, collided. There was no injury.

City Refrains Request Of Non-Resident for Purchase of Water

Reminiscence of the Birmingham Heights annexation issue, in which the Heights people rebuffed a proposal to become a part of Birmingham, the City Commission Monday night, declined to take action in a request from the Holmes Craft Products company, situated at 1166 North Woodward, for permission to buy city water. The company is outside the city, but not in the Heights.

Two Depredations Keep Man Busy

Fred Elliott, of 835 Humphrey, was a busy man on police matters Monday. Early Monday evening, according to the police, a 14-year-old youth shot a hole in a window of the Elliott home, using a BB gun. Elliott apprehended the youth, and broke the gun over his knee, with the police lecturing the boy later.

Arnold Elected Head State Photographers

A photograph of Mrs. George W. Collins' father, Samuel T. Lively of McMinnville, Tenn., won for Allen E. Arnold, local photographer, a blue ribbon at the meeting Sunday and Monday of the Michigan Photographers' Society at Grand Rapids. The study of Mr. Lively was made several months ago when he was visiting his daughter in Birmingham.

What Your City Commission Is Doing

October 2, 1939 Bills were approved in an amount of $16,049. Hearing was scheduled for Monday, Oct. 23, to consider a revision of the zoning ordinance to more clearly define the types of businesses permitted in "Business A" district. The assessor was instructed to proceed with spreading special assessments on water service in the city, improving, grading and graveling part of Cambridge Road. A resolution received from the Retail Merchants' Association, protesting parallel parking on Woodward Avenue, was referred to the city manager. A request for water to be furnished to one address just outside the city limits was received without action. The manager was instructed to employ counsel to enforce terms of a bond in regard to payment of special assessments on the sewage disposal site. The manager was authorized to install 21 water services in the area south of Lincoln on a deferred payment basis—$500 down, and $100 per month until paid. IRENE E. HANLEY, City Clerk.

VFW Supports Defense Spending

National defense legislation, supported by the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, is making more rapid and marked progress during the current session of Congress since the World War. Past Commander Royden Lewis, of City of Birmingham Post No. 117, said the members of his post. "A national defense that will guarantee security for America is one of the eight major objectives of the V. F. W. 1939-1940 program," he said. Among the measures supported by the V. F. W. which became law during the current session of the 76th Congress are: The National Security Act, which provides for the construction of 17 important public works projects at a total cost of $36,964,500. Other measures endorsed by the V. F. W. include Public Law No. 123, providing for the construction of aviation cadets as engines in the Naval Reserve or as second lieutenants in the Marine Corps Reserve, with subsequent bonuses and promotions during the seven-year period of active service following the completion of training. Another new law of major importance is the National Security Act of 1940, which appropriates $73,411,841, to the end of the next fiscal year, establishing a peacetime record and providing for the construction of 45,000-ton battleships and 21 other types of 5000 naval planes, additional bases and bases for an increase in personnel by about 5,000 who will be enrolled for first enlistment terms of six years instead of four years.

We Heard It Said By

John B. Taylor, of Madison Avenue, "I think Birmingham people and the city itself could save money if it permitted the use of concrete as well as vitrified sewer pipe. Concrete pipe is being used widely, for example, in the Hunter boulevard sewerage installed by the city. Highway Department and if concrete is good enough for Hunter boulevard it ought to be all right elsewhere in the city. Vitrified pipe is considerably more expensive than concrete pipe, though they cut the price drastically when competition with concrete is considered. But here, there can be no competition because our building code won't permit concrete pipe to be used."

From the Women's Angle By Nellie Hurley Minnie The picture comes into my mind of a woman and her dog and anyone who happened to be eating in Wilson's Monday at lunch hour can vouch for this story. It was a beautiful specimen of a dog with a shiny coat and spoke loudly of much brushing and careful combing. A well-behaved animal he was, too, for he sat very patiently as his mistress, in a gentle voice, there are signs of his dog. And good reason there was for his being so well behaved for it was his case for which he was waiting. Not the young woman, mind you, but the dog got the dog's dip.

Planting Time IS HERE! FALL is the ideal time to set or re-set trees or shrubs and build up the lawn. Every tree or shrub should have a portion of our bone meal, as it is set. Every lawn should have some of our AGHICO mixed with the soil.

By Katherine W. George A convenience incident of the new Woodward cut-off for through traffic. It is nice to be able to whiz straight through Birmingham without going through the business section and being slowed up by the red light at the end of a double dip at intervals declaring the speed limit to be 20 miles an hour, but these seem to be regarded merely as eccentric means of decoration, not to be taken seriously.

By Katherine W. George Hunter boulevard crosses both Maple and Oakland here and thus creating two of the busiest intersections in the city. And at neither is there a traffic light. Probably, it is a state road, but in the meantime the life of everyone driving to cross either on foot or in a car is endangered.

Barks COAL CO. Phone 2020 280 Brownell

It will be too late to take precautions after a crash of speeding automobiles has taken place. The danger of dangerous intersections or the life of a child dodging through the heavy traffic has been snuffed out. Measures should be taken NOW to safeguard the lives of the community and speed should be regulated along the new boulevard.
