

Give City's Schools Highest Rating

Business Manager

Louis M. Randall
For more than a quarter of a century Mr. Randall has been connected with Birmingham's public schools, for much of that time business manager. He lives at 384 Ferndale avenue. He is responsible to the Board of Education for the physical maintenance of Birmingham's complete school plant.

President

Lee E. Joslyn, Jr.
A Detroit attorney, Mr. Joslyn has served nearly a year on the Board, and since last July has been its president. He lives on Tilbury Place. He will preside over meetings of the Board of Education, held the first and third Tuesday evenings each month.

Public School Heads

Above are the heads of Birmingham's public schools. In the first row, from left to right: John H. Springman, principal Pierce school; Miss Magdalene Frederick, principal Quarton school; W. F. Thomas, principal Adams school; top row, left to right: Howard D. Crull, supt. of schools; Miles W. Robinson, principal Barnum school; and Ray H. Bechtold, principal Baldwin high school.

Supt. of Schools

Howard D. Crull
For many years Mr. Crull was principal of Barnum school, and two years ago was made superintendent of Birmingham's public school system. He lives at 444 Lincoln avenue. Mr. Crull is also recognized as one of the great Boy Scout leaders of the middle west.

Treasurer

J. H. Rosso
Mr. Rosso has been on the Board for several years, and is its treasurer. He is a local building contractor and lives at 614 Pierce street. Mr. Rosso is a graduate of Birmingham's public schools, thus being well acquainted with the background of local educational history.

Secretary

J. Mark Hardin
Mr. Hardin is a member of the Birmingham Board of Education, last year having served as its president, and is now its secretary. He is in the coal business here, and resides at 1291 Yosemite boulevard.

Trustee

E. W. Seaholm
Mr. Seaholm, who lives at 856 Kennesaw avenue, was elected to his first term on the Board last July. He is chief engineer for the Cadillac-LaSalle Motor Co.

Trustee

Earl G. Potter
Mr. Potter has served for many years on the Board, at one time having been president for a year. He is a Detroit school teacher and lives at 860 Rivenoak avenue.

Principal

Ray H. Bechtold
Mr. Bechtold has been principal of Baldwin high school for over two years. He resides at 327 Southfield avenue.

The Baldwin Public Library

Birmingham's Baldwin Public Library is recognized as one of the most beautiful in the whole United States, for a community of slightly less than 12,000 people. It was built in 1927 and cost local taxpayers $140,000.00. In architectural design, it is a companion to the Municipal Building. The Library is supported by a tax levy on Birmingham property, which amounts to $13,800.00 annually.

A total of 19,133 books are on its shelves, and last year 94,919 books were withdrawn by 7,157 registered patrons of the Library. It is located on Martin street, between Bates and Chester streets.

The Old Hill School Building

Many of Birmingham's living older residents are familiar with the above building for, prior to the construction of the Baldwin high school, which preceded the Barnum, Adams, Quarton, and Pierce buildings, the older students of the Birmingham school district graduated from its walls. It is the old Hill school, now used for offices for the Board of Education, the Superintendent, and the Business Manager. Also, within its old rooms, are the printing and art departments, and this fall half of the upper floor will be used for instrumental music practice. It is located just south of the Baldwin high school.