To Prevent Any Tragic Error

A new law is being considered by the Michigan legislature which will provide for the appointment of a commission to investigate the circumstances of any death which occurs under suspicious circumstances. The commission will be composed of five members, three of whom must be physicians, one a coroner, and one a member of the law enforcement. The commission will have the power to call for and examine any evidence which may be relevant to the case, and to make a report and recommendations to the legislature.
