These Recipes Will Assist You In Preparing Apples For Dinner

The things that are most plentiful are usually the most difficult to keep the family interested in; apples are inexpensive fruits, they add variety and flavor in the diet. Serve them often, the following recipes will assist you.

Norwegian Apple Sauce For Meats
 Sugar.
 1 cup cooked apple pulp.
 1-8 teaspoon nutmeg.
 1 tablespoon butter.
 1 tablespoon prepared horseradish.
 Place apple pulp in a saucepan. Add sugar to taste, and nutmeg. Heat and add butter and horseradish. Serve with meats.

Winter Fruit Salad
 Sprinkle sliced bananas with pineapple juice and combine with equal quantities of diced, unpeeled, red apples in generous sections. Add a few tablespoons of chopped peanuts. Top with shredded lettuce and French dressing.

Fried Beans With Apple Rings
 Cook 2 tablespoons of finely chopped onion in 3 tablespoons of fat in a heavy skillet. Add 2 one-pound cans of pork and beans. Cook slowly without stirring until the beans are tender. Drain and remove the fat. Turn out carefully on a hot platter and serve with apple rings which are made this way:
 Core and slice, but do not peel 6 or 7 juicy apples in half inch thick slices. Dip in powdered sugar and brown in a little fat until puffy and tender.

Apple Crumb Pie
 Plain pastry for one crust pie. 4 large tart apples.
 1 cup sugar.
 1 teaspoon of cinnamon.
 3-4 cup flour.
 1-3 cup butter.
 Roll out pastry and fit into the pie pan. Peel and cut the apples into eights. Sprinkle with 1-cup of sugar that has been mixed with the cinnamon. Sift the remaining 1-2 cup of sugar with the flour. Stir the mixture until it looks very crumbly. Sprinkle this over the sugar apples. Bake in an oven 450 degrees for 15 minutes, then reduce the heat to 350 degrees and bake 30 minutes more or until the apples are tender. Reheat just before dinner and serve warm with cheese sauce.

Baked Apples, Maple Flavor
 Wash and cut apples in two. Remove cores and in the cavity of each apple, place a teaspoon of sugar and a small piece of butter. Sift over tops a little flour, sugar, cinnamon and nutmeg. Add 1/2 teaspoon of maple flavoring to one cup of water, pour over apples and bake, basting occasionally. Increase seasoning.

Apple Icing
 Grind one apple without peeling if it has a pretty red rind, add 1 cup of sugar and 1 egg white, un-beaten. Beat all together until you have a fine thick icing.

Horvath At The Bridge
 "Hello! Is this the city bridge department?"
 "Yes. What can we do for you?"
 "How many points do you get for a little slam?"

A Double Miss
 "I shall miss you while you are on your hunting trip, dear," said the young wife affectionately, "and I shall pray that the hunters you go going with will do the same."

Unemployment Solved
 The unemployment problem is so serious that there are no more worries about the jobless. The WPA will spend $60,000 for a history of Grant, and this project opens up opportunities for everyone, forever. Every town needs its history written; Kalamazoo, Ypsilanti, Kalamazoo, Oshkosh, Painted Post, Horne's Neck, and all the others—thousands of them, and when the writers get once around they can start all over; history is always moving and the books being re-written. The feeders at the Public Trough have something (on us) there.

Bigness and Disaster
 Cities are not so proud of their Metropolitan size when war comes; when the air raids come there is some advantage in being a country mouse.

Reds, Radicals and Common Sense
 "That there is a real danger to this republic in a rising school of bad economic thinking is very, very true. But we think that the average American looks for this danger in the wrong places."—The Bystander, Cleveland, O.

Everybody Wins
 From the newspaper build-up it seems certain that the battle between Joe Louis and Bob Pastor will be a fair one, but a stalemate; just another Maginot Line, confronted by a Siegfried Line. But there is a vast difference—both warriors in this "Battle of the Century" will be winners.

Don't Worry
 Even though the war should cause us to get entirely out of Scotch whisky, let us not try to renew the supply by running blockades and possibly becoming involved in war. The old time bootleggers are not all dead, and they are still supplying some of the bars with "branded Scotch" better than the original. High prices and bootlegging are bosom friends.

Public Morality Versus Private Crime
 A warrant has been issued for a woman who is alleged to have sold non-existent jobs at $75 each, which is a crime—obtaining money under false pretenses. Is it any less a crime for the State to charge a man $300, more or less, for driving a five-ton dump truck; for investing his own money and trying to earn his own profit? The State takes the money but doesn't provide any more job than the fugitive woman. It is simply a crazy idea for the State to charge people for the privilege of working.

S'mythology

By A. LAURENCE SMITH

Mother Speaks
 She is nearly 86 and interested in everything that is going on. Like the Governor of Michigan, she will play bridge all night if she can find three others who can take it. She drinks a little port occasionally, listen to the price of 1 1/2 gals., and would dance if her arthritis would permit.

The first of her tribe came to these shores about 1630, and she is not only the oldest woman in America, but that she understands some of the things that America stands for. Out of a clear sky the other day she gave her family this one: "We might just as well be ruled by Hitler as by the C. I. O.; if people in the United States want to go to war they will do better to fight domination, oppression and dictatorship at home, rather than to engage in the foolish European conflict."

Whitewash
 Whitewash was always a useful product down on the farm, and the members of the Michigan State Board of Agriculture must have learned the use of it in their youth. Whitewash purifies anything.

Omniscience
 George Seale says that "After all, what we need to do is to regulate production, investment, credit, prices and incomes. This may be all right while we have a few super-Scotchmen like Roosevelt, Hitler, Mussolini and Stalin, but just automatically know everything, but what will happen to the world when these men are gone?"

It Can't Be Done
 The present aerial equipment and warfare recall the remarks of Benjamin Franklin, when he first saw, at Versailles, one of the Montgolfier free balloons first carry passengers. The discovery, he said, might "possibly give a new turn to human affairs. The convincing sovereigns of the folly of wars may perhaps be one effect of it. Even so," said Dr. Franklin, "I do not understand that there is apparently no way to 'convince sovereigns of the folly of wars.'"
