Capturing a Real Road Hog

When two trucks deserted at Los Angeles, one was hijacked by local hoodlums and the other by an infant and a dog. Some hoodlums were found in the station wagon, others in a large-tire motorboat, and still others in the trunk of a car. The hoodlums were taken to the police station and the dog to the pound. The boy was returned to his mother.

When the inevitable happened, we were not without our fair share of good fortune. But we were not without our fair share of bad fortune. We were not without our fair share of unexpected events.

And I think Londoners, as a whole, would agree with me. We are not without our fair share of good fortune. But we are not without our fair share of bad fortune. We are not without our fair share of unexpected events.

Alderman John Smith...

HIRED

The audience, as usual, was enthusiastic. The applause was deafening. The night was filled with music and laughter. The city was alive with the spirit of the American home.
