2nd Careers Night Planned for Jan. 8 At Baldwin High

To help students learn more about the vocations in which they are interested, a "Careers Night" is again being planned for Baldwin High School, to be held Jan. 8. About 25 men representing different professions and professions have been asked to talk about their work.

Those who are in charge are Lloyd Chapman, guidance director of Baldwin High School; Robert Lynd, director of the Birmingham Y. M. C. A.; Mrs. E. E. Keller, Miss Robinson, principal of Barnum School; and Gloria Wagnor, president of the Vocational Club which is sponsoring "Careers Night."

There will be a dinner for the counselors at 7 o'clock, prepared by the home economics classes.
Lee A. White, director of the "Green Light" program of WWJ, has been asked to be the opening speaker of the short general information which will follow the dinner.

It is being arranged that persons interested in two different professions may attend both meetings. For this reason, the length of the different meetings has been set at three quarters of an hour.

Annual Christmas Concert Presented At High School

The religious portion of Baldwin High School's festivities, a Christmas Concert, was presented Friday, Dec. 20 in the auditorium under the sponsorship of the Assembly Club.

The program was made possible through the efforts of Miss Dorothy Allen, Miss Emily Walker, Victor Ulrich, and Bob Wing.

The program got under way with the singing of "Hark! The Herald Angels Sing" by the Baldwin High choir and orchestra.
This was followed by "Christmas Hymn," "Lo, What a Branch of Beauty," and "Lullaby." Christmas Eve" sung by the choir under the direction of Mr. Ulrich.
Mrs. Gardner sang the soprano solo in the latter.

"We Three Kings of Orient Are" presented by George Bagnall, with Leah Davidson as accompanist.

Following, four numbers sung by choir were: "Today There is a Ringin'," "Lullaby, Jesus Dear," "Antique de Doh," solo by Mary Gardner, and "A Joyous Christmas Song."

The high school band, led by A.
W. Belter, proceeded with "The Christmas Fantasy."

Two features of the program were: Christmas music by the harpist, Winifred Lenz, and "The Christmas Pageant," presented by Bill Match, tenor, and Louis Hagopian.

The program closed with the song, "Come, All Ye Faithful," by the choir and audience.

Biblical Christmas designs painted on the windows, holly and red cellulose wreaths with large bows, four lighted Christmas trees, pine boughs, silver tinsel, and four large candelabra provided the setting for the concert.

Bob Wing acted as general chairman. Working under him on decorations were annette Stanley, Ruth Watson, Karoline Kane, Jack Willow, Jerry Merrek, Barbara Greene, Helen Sucher, Rosemary de Beaubien, Barbara Holland, Mary Lou Beranson and Annabelle Flynn.

Gianna Fellows, Cherry Lee Connersman, Joan Sterling, Jean Ann Heimiller, Eazy Bringham, Jo-Anne Herberg, and Harriet Heinmiller helped plan decorations.
Howard De Longchamps printed the programs.

cated more closely than any other settlements in Michigan to a line drawn midway between the North Pole and the equator.

French Class Holds Christmas Party

The second year French class of Miss Gerda Hansen, Baldwin High School, held a Christmas party during noon hour Friday.
Sandwiches and drinks were served. A French custom was carried out by putting a bean in a cake, the person receiving the bean holding the bean being chosen king or queen of the affair.

The students' guests at the party were Adalby Brill, Shirley Bigelow, Jeanne Burton, Carol Cameron, Mary Corbet, Janet Farrell, Marion Heckel, Maude Keller, Emily Knapp, Patricia Larkin, Mary Lawson, Esther Smith, Martha Smith, Robert

DAR Citizenship Award Conferred On Doris Franklin

The Good Citizenship Award which is offered annually by the Pietist Hill Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution has just been conferred upon Doris Franklin, Baldwin High School senior.

The Franklins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Franklin—4721

Doris Franklin

Winthrop Lane, is active in school affairs. She is at present editor of The Highlander, vice-president of the National Honor Society, treasurer of the Student Congress, secretary of the 12A class, and a Quill and Scroll member.

The winner receives a medal and the opportunity to compete in a state contest, the winner of which goes to Washington, D. C.
Marie Russell and Helen Rounds were second and third choice respectively by the seniors and faculty who elected Miss Franklin.

Nina Kitts was in charge of the election.

Hi-Y Club to Attend A Hockey Game

Last week the members of the Birmingham Hi-Y Club visited a joint meeting of the Redford Hi-Y club and the Redford Girl Reserves.
Refreshments were served after the meeting.

Last Monday night the Birmingham Hi-Y met in the Community House and further discussed the skating rink problem.

At a special cabinet meeting last Thursday it was decided that members and prospective members would go to a hockey game Dec.
30. A program was also planned for the rest of the school year.

Posing as hunters, field men of the conservation department's game division put Michigan farmers' controlled hunting (Williamson plan) cooperatives to a practical test and found they work and work well.

Seniors Choose Variety of Subjects For Final English Compositions

By Leah Davidson

Are you interested in peanuts?
No? Well how about spices, or crime, or horses, or Indians? These and many more are the topics of senior papers, the grand finale of English 12-A, the grand finale of English course.

With the exceptions of histories, biographies, and very so-called subjects, students are given free-rein, and take it. An encyclopedia would have to be used to find a greater diversity of subjects.

Jo Anne Ford has chosen Iron Mining, a subject peculiar for a girl to take. However, her father once owned a mine and she spent many childhood hours riding up and down the shaft. Ever since then iron has interested her.

Gra. Cutting, of all things, is the subject of Kaki Carr's paper.
Kaki became interested in this at camp and intends to take lessons in it next year.

Gloria Gruber is writing on Religion as Practiced in the Modern World. She is trying to show the connection of science and religion, as for instance in the creation of the world. Gloria was gratified to find in one of her references that the morals of the youth of today are no worse than those of their parents, a subject often discussed.

The Purple Heart, Drug and Cosmetic Law has interested Bruce Carey since the seventh grade. So it was not hard for him to find a topic.

Patty Burke has decided on Epicure for Teen-Agers because she feels that if she's really going into something it might as well be practical.

Mrs. William Tighe is responsible for interesting Jean Burton, who was at a loss for a topic, in Spices, and Jean is presently grateful.

Barbara Holland became engrossed in a crime serial while listening to the radio and hence, her subject is Crime in one phase of that absorbing subject.

Dorothy Bull's family has in its possession five horses. So what could be a more novel and interesting subject, reasoned Dorothy. (We saw.)

Orchids have fascinated Carolyn Wright for more than one reason, but we're sure that the main one is that she once visited a greenhouse full of them and has never forgotten it. Marion Gilbreath chose this gorgeous subject, too.

Betty Stoll found her topic pursely by accident. She originally started on Chinatown; but looking it up, she found there was not a sufficient amount of material.
While she was in the CH's she started reading about The Oris-cal Problem in California and therefore chose it for her paper.

However, these are by no means

Portrait Lighting Methods Shown

An interesting demonstration of portrait lighting in photography was given by Pat Wilkinson from Mrs. Geraldine Forsyth's speech class Friday, Dec. 20.

This was the second talk given by Miss Wilkinson in which the class members brought their own cameras to take pictures.

In the first demonstration she showed the different effects of light gives in taking pictures, for instance, the overhead light, the side and floor position of the light.

The spot light, large reflectors, camera, and an exposure meter were among the several pieces of equipment.

The class was given an opportunity to ask questions. Miss Wilkinson explained the use of the exposure meter and the flash gun in taking pictures.

Phyllis Reaney assisted as the model and Gene Richardson helped with the lights.
