Aid to Britain Urged in Rhyme

FREEDOM AT STAKE From Finland to Australia's sh O'er seas both East and West Sail ships of every nation Their courses none contest,

'Tis Union Jack makes "freedom Of the seas" the world around. No stronger friend in peace or war Have sailors ever found!

From Singapore to Dover straits Is the life line of the land That cleared the seas of piracy, Brought peace to every strand.

No struggle this 'twixt powers twain,
Twixt English—German lands,
The Tyrants boast that nevermore
Shall free men stay their hands.

Through ages long the human urge For freedom was defended. In many lands since yester-year By force their freedom ended.

Should Britain fall-and Union Jack Jack Lie prostrate 'neath the waves, All friendless then Columbia's men Must conquer—or be slaves.

'Tis "freedom of the seas" a stake,
'Tis Right 'gainst Might opposed
Can free men blindly hesitate
While freedom be deposed?

Columbia's fate, beyond recall With Britain's fate is cast. To England's aid! before too late. The Tyrant's aim to blast. —Theodore Hansen Millington
