ROTARY

of Cuba. Served bullion and crackers like on a boat at sea. Beginning to drop to Antilla. Stopped 25 minutes, now flying over Haiti, the Black Republic. Lunch served 10,000 feet above sugar cane fields. Very good, too. Now flying over the capital and the French cathedral. Land in the harbor of Port-au-Prince.

"Away across Haiti and San Domingo. Flying along a mountain range, highest peak is about 12,900 feet. Now flying over the jungle. No sign of a house or road—how would you ever get out of there? See water again. Going to drop down at San Pedro, San Domingo.

"Away again over 80 miles of water and now we are over Puerto Rico. In a short time we will land at San Juan for the night. Met two very nice chaps today, Larry Reidel, export manager of General Motors who knows all the G. M. crowd in Bloomfield Hills; also Robert Salmon, Dupont "big-shot" in Buenos Aires. I know a lot of his associates in Wilmington, Delaware.

Taken for Germans

"October 22—Non-stop from San Juan to Trinidad. After a hot and sleepless night we left San Juan at 8 a. m. and flew 100 miles overland. Puerto Rico beautiful from the air. Everything green and under cultivation. Head to open sea and fly 600 miles before land is sighted. Considerable British shipping beneath us; when they hear our motors we can tell they are zig-zagging by their wake—pilot tells us they are afraid we might be German plane spotting them for a submarine.

"Port of Spain, Trinidad, 12:40 and stop for rest of day. Drive to asphalt lake 60 miles away. Passed large refinery and saw air raid shelters built recently. It seems ridiculous but people here have the jitters. Must get up at 4:15 in the morning. Long stretch between here and Belem, Brazil.

"October 23, 1939—Enroute Trinidad to Belem, Brazil. Called at 4:00 a. m. Slept hardly at all. In a short time over coast of Venezuela, ocean turning brown. Approaching mouth of Orinoco River. Land at Georgetown, British Guiana. Last stop at Paramaribo, Dutch Guiana. Apparently a very clean little place. Head inland over French Guiana. Plane is late and to arrive at destination by dark we are taking short-cut 50 miles inland from shore. For 400 miles we see nothing but jungle—not a house or a road or a clearing of any kind. Once in there you would never get out. Plane usually flies over Cayenne and Devils Island, but went inland today to save time. At last we arrive at the Amazon River, Belem on opposite side of river, but it is 180 miles across at this point. Gosh! What a river. Think of a river twice as wide as Lake Michigan; unbelievable but true.

"Crossed the Equator at 5:25. Gave us cards to fill out and certificates will be mailed to our homes. Everybody wrapped in blankets as we crossed the Equator as we are flying at 12,000 feet and it is cold in the Plane. Arrived Belem @4:40 p. m.—A hard day.

Stomach Gives Trouble

"October 24:—Belem to Recife. Just before landing last night, became sick to my stomach or vice versa. Went to bed but unable to sleep. Found out there wasn't an English-speaking doctor in town. Up and down all night and certain I was going to die. Wished I was back in Birmingham, Michigan.—So very far away. Shaved at 2:00 a. m. and when they called me at 4:00 was already dressed. Had planned to leave Clipper today and go to Fortaleza on another plane but have changed my plans. Understand there is a good doctor at Recife where the Clipper stops for the night. Hope I can make it. Miserable day. Over the jungle all day, making one stop at Cocima. Arrive Recife at 4:00 p. m. Dr. Castro Silva waiting me at the Hotel. Expect to be told I have a bad heart condition. Showed him my cardiogram reports. Makes a very thorough examination and said I had nothing to worry about as my heart was O. K. and I could continue the journey in confidence. Said I had a bad case of food poisoning. Gave me some liver salts and some sedocardine to make me sleep. Slept from 7:00 until I was wakened at 4:00 next morning. Recife seems to be a beautiful city. 2,700 miles farther east than New York, and directly south of Iceland, and only 1,700 miles from Africa. Up before daylight. There is no dawn or dusk here. One minute it is dark and the next bright daylight.

Shortage of Men

"October 25—Away on the last leg of our journey, flying down to Rio. Met a young chap named Henrique Purcell whose grandparents came from Ireland. He went to college in Kildare, Ireland. His father is an exporter of goat skins in Recife. Henrique is off on a month's tiger hunt in Paraguay, where there are 30 women to one man! The male population was almost annihilated in the war with Bolivia, and the men have the reputation of being the fiercest fighters in the entire world. Henrique says that 10 to 15 women will club together to support a man in luxury. Said he would be glad to make arrangements for me if I cared to locate in Paraguay.

"Flying along the ocean. See a lot of boats; American ships have their flag painted on top deck.

"Landed at Bahia. A very pretty port. Our california oranges originated here. Sixty per cent of the world's cocoa comes from here. Henrique informs me of the almost inexhaustible supply of Babassu nuts which contain a very valuable oil, which he believes could be used in varnish. Suggested I investigate at the Department of Agriculture in Rio de Janeiro.

"At every stop in Brazil a band met us because the President's daughter is aboard. She played poker with us and we taught her some new variations, such as Jersey Bull and Spit-In-The-Ocean. She said her father will be surprised when she springs these games on him. Also learned a new dice game called "Bidou." The sheep killed the Butcher—I won! Special lunch aloft because it is the end of the journey for the crew who have been with us since Miami. Had cold lobster, soup, filet mignon, vegetables, salad, pudding, iced tea with dinner, coffee later.

"At 1:30 we landed at Victoria. A beautiful harbor. Said to be a miniature of Rio De Janeiro.

"At every port we have been given a free drink, Daquiri, Planters' Punch, orange juice, or coffee. Have been flying over Brazil for more than 2 days. It is as large as the United States and Alaska combined. Leave Victoria at 1:55, due at Rio de Janeiro in 2 hours.

Welcome President's Daughter

"Pleasant voyage today, but yesterday I would have sold Panama America for a dime and thrown in the entire continent of South America. Arrive Rio Thursday afternoon at 4:00.

"City is beautiful from air. Fly over many ships in the harbor. Tremendous crowd including band at airport which, by the way, is the most beautiful I have ever seen. The crowd was down to welcome the President's daughter, and I presume the President was there also.

"The taxi ride to the Copacabana Palace Hotel frightened me more than flying over the jungles. The hotel fronts the ocean and it has two nite clubs and a cinema, and all the comforts of home. The first sign to greet me in my room, printed in English, was: "Through the courtesy of the management of this Hotel's Personal Service, the Hostess Group with Hostesses available speaking any language, is at the disposal of the guests." Now I wonder what is meant by that? The hotel supplies you with hostesses but you must bring your own soap! A good old South American custom. I had to buy soap last night at Recife.

"Larry Riedel and I had what is considered an early dinner here, at 7:30. Took a look at the casino and decided to catch up on our sleep. No call for the morning but we have grown accustomed to being awakened at 4:00 a. m. Ho hum!"

Beer Keg Heel Is 1940 Shoe Style

If you aren't getting a kick out of modern fashions, take a look at this selection of boots milady will wear for 1940. Frances Miller finds herself surrounded by a representative selection from the 200,000 pairs of shoes displayed at National Boot Fair in Chicago, where beer keg heel is well represented.

FINNISH COURAGE

fund goes directly to the stricken Finns, Saarinen said, and nothing is deducted by the Fund for administrative expenses, which have been underwritten by private individuals.

The American Red Cross has promised Herbert Hoover, organizer of the Finnish Relief Fund, they would send medicine and hospital supplies abroad but that the greater burden of general relief measures were beyond the Red Cross field.

Mrs. Angus D. McLay, chairman of the Birmingham committee told of communications received from her sister, Mrs. Per Wijkman, who is residing in Helsinki. Mrs. Wijkman wrote in September there was only enough coal left for six weeks and that no sugar or coffee could be bought at any price. The letter stressed that the country was gradually running out of all essential supplies.

Among those who attended this organization meeting were Mrs. H. S. Burlingame, Mrs. John S. Lambie, Mrs. F. H. Mellinger, Mrs. William Coit Allee, Mrs. Charles L. Shain, Mrs. Lee A. White, Mrs. Hugh D. McLeese, Mrs. Matthew Cammareri, Mrs. Russell Barnes, Mrs. W. A. P. John, Mrs. H. H. Corson, Mrs. Victor R. Ogden, Mrs. Frank S. Packard and Mrs. Draper Allen.

Others Present

Others present were Mrs. Oscar P. Peterson, Mrs. Eric F. Hyde, Mrs. C. R. Paton, Mrs. Francis C. Bagby, Mrs. Louis Lewis C. Dible and Mrs. Milo M. Bostwick.

Mrs. Harold Broock, Mrs. Henry C. Duffield, Mrs. R. John Rathbone and Mrs. Richard P. Rasemin represented the Bloomfield Hills unit at the meeting and Mrs. Herbert A. Fisher of Franklin, Mrs. Frederick Strong, Mrs. W. H. Morley and Mrs. Frederick D. Weed were present from the West Bloomfield unit. Also attending this organization meeting was Miss Doris Otter who represented the junior group for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

Others working on the committee but unable to attend the meeting Monday morning were Mrs. Carleton C. Patterson, Mrs. William C. Howe, Mrs. Henry J. Beam, Mrs. H. E. Listman, Mrs. Leon A. Chaminade, Mrs. Vaughn J. Jolliff, Mrs. M. S. Kiee, Jr., and Mrs. Clarence E. Botsford.

For the convenience of those who wish to contribute clothing and food, as well as money, a receiving station for such donations has been opened up at Maple and Woodward avenue that will accept offerings between 10 a. m. and 5 p. m. As his contribution to the Fund, a Detroit cleaner will renovate the garments which are received at this station.

As a part of the local activities to raise money for this Relief Fund, a benefit performance will be presented on Feb. 23 by members of the Village Players.

Concert Sunday, Jan. 21

High spot of the Detroit campaign is the all-Sibelius concert which is scheduled for Sunday afternoon, Jan. 21 at the Masonic Temple auditorium. Cora Bramsell, soprano, will appear as soloist with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

Herbert Hoover, national chairman of the drive, will be in Detroit for this concert and will speak briefly on the significance of the Finnish situation.

Tickets for this concert may be purchased at The Eccentric and at the Wilson Drug company at prices as follows: Entire balcony, $1; lower floor, with the exception of the orchestra, $1.50; orchestra, $2.50. A limited number of reserved seats near the boxes will be on sale at $5 and 28 boxes are being sold at $100 each.

'CAESAR'

tivities that will carry over into the home, Mr. Czerkowski said. With this in mind classes are taught in weaving, copper and wood work and other similar "hobby" subjects.

"Caesar" who was born in Austria later Poland, is a product of the Merrill-Palmer School in Detroit. The town of his birth, Lwow, figured in the news in the early Fall during the German occupation of Poland. Russia now governs this section which became Poland after the first World War. Mr. Czerkowski came to this country shortly before the beginning of the first war, when he was eight years old.

Has Wayne Degree

Czerkowski, who holds an A. B. degree from Wayne University, was working at the Merrill-Palmer School six years ago, when representatives of the American Association of University Women contacted the school to discuss plans and methods of organizing a club for the younger school children. Mr. Czerkowski came to Birmingham at that time and has been retained each year since that time. He has been affiliated with Brookside school for the last five years.

When the Saturday Club begins this year an important change will be made. This year the group will convene on Saturday mornings rather than during the afternoons as has been the custom since its organization.

One of the original purposes of the Saturday Club, Czerkowski said this week, was to keep young children out of the movies on Saturdays. "However, since that time, it has become evident that the movies have improved, there are movies of the proper type for children, and so we feel that there is no longer the need to compete with the theatres," he said.

Meets for 10 Weeks

The club will meet for 10 successive Saturday mornings beginning Saturday and continuing through March 16 from 9 until 11:30. Except for a 25 cent registration fee, membership in this club is free to all eligible children in Birmingham and the surrounding neighborhood. Operating expenses for this club are to be shared equally by the Community House and the Birmingham branch of the American Association of University Women.

Mr. Czerkowski will be aided by a trained staff of adults, most of whom will be furnished by Mrs. Jennette Blanchard, Oakland County Recreation Director of the WPA.

Mrs. Ford Pearson and Mrs. Robert F. Watt are co-chairmen of the Saturday club and are being assisted by Mrs. William E. Easery, Mrs. Ephraim R. Gomberg, Mrs. George W. Muffin and Mrs. Ralph B. Scheel.

To Show Pictures

W. Walter Smith of Pontiac will show movies which he has taken of African wild animals at the opening meeting of the Saturday Club this week. Another feature of this meeting will be musical selections by the Starr School Orchestra of Royal Oak.

Charge Man Under Drunk Driving Law

Carl F. Killian, 14101 Mark Twain street, Detroit, was arrested Sunday at 12:15 a. m. by Police Sergeant Earl Moody and lodged in jail on a charge of driving while under the influence of liquor. Arraignment before Justice Forbes S. Hascall has been set for Thursday morning.

Engineers Hear Talk On Glass Making

The Oakland County Engineering Society held its regular meeting Tuesday night at the Municipal Building. G. I. Rugg, a representative of the Ford Motor Company, was present and he spoke on the manufacture of glass. His talk was one of the most interesting in many months heard by the audience of about 40 engineers.

Committees working on details of the State Society convention to be held March 28, 29 and 30 at Cranbrook gave reports.

BOY HERO OF FIRE

FARMINGTON—Erwin Gosnel, 12 years old, of Lasher road, Farmington Township, is the hero of a fire Saturday night which destroyed their home. The parents were away when the boy discovered the blaze, awakened his three sisters and brother, and carried the two younger girls to safety himself. He regretted that he could not save furniture.
