Garden Club Asks A Park Commission

An active park commission to encourage the beautification of Birmingham was requested of the City Commission in a letter read Monday night, sent by Mrs. Robert P. Grindley, 852 Furman road, chairman of the roadside improvement committee for the Birmingham Branch, Women's National Farm and Garden Association.

THIS AND THAT

(Continued from Page 1.) It would solve his fuel problem for all time to come. If all the cotton grown in Texas were baled it would reach the nearby gulf.

SHOULD ONE SAVE? There is no use in the average American family practicing the old art of thrift today, two eminent college professors told an Ann Arbor audience one day last week.

IN THE DARDANELLES In 1915, the Allies made a disastrous attempt to capture the Dardanelles. They sent the entrance to the Black Sea, losing thousands of men.

service at Liverpool had been quieted by announcing they were to be used in America to embark troops.

Two old submarines had their bows packed with tons of explosives and were being used as "man bombs" Airplane photographs were taken of the harbor.

Many strange things happened in the confusion of battle. When the launch swayed, a huge iron bow, a scannan sat in the hole to keep the water out.

Under the full moon one could see for miles. Then down fell a dizziness blinding missile.

Shortly before midnight the monitors Erebus and Terror began to pound the German ships.

Suddenly the wind changed, and the smoke screen veiled and exposed the British ships to the fire light.

At one minute past 12, exactly on the stroke, the vindictive was along the seaward side.

Machine guns moved down half the first men over. An officer with a gas mask moved new men troops could not silence the mole.

Meanwhile the submarine C, lit up by star shells and under fire, was being towed toward the vindictive.
