

Institute Director, At Columbus Meet

Two scientists of the Cranbrook Institute of Science, Dr. Robert T. Hatt and Mrs. Marjorie T. Bingham, spoke before the convention of the American Association for the Advancement of Science and related societies at Columbus, Christmas week.

Dr. Hatt, director of the institute, gave an illustrated lecture before the American Society of Zoologists on "The Distribution of Land Vertebrates Among the Islands of Lake Michigan."

Mrs. Bingham, botanist at the institute, spoke before a combined meeting of the Botanical Society of America and the Ecological Society. Her topic was "A Botanical Survey of Bois Blanc Island, Mackinac County, Michigan."

Cranbrook Scientist Writes New Book

"Guide to the Lower Aquarium Animals" is the title of a new book by Doctor Edward T. Boardman, zoologist of the Cranbrook Institute of Science. The author is a professor states that this book is for those who are not afraid of getting their feet wet, and it is obvious from a perusal of the book that the author is one of those who are not.

Essentially an introduction to hundreds of insects, snails, clams, shrimp, etc., which inhabit the waters of the north central states, it is a satisfactory manual for one who wishes to vary diet in the home aquarium, the fisherman in need of new baits, the teacher or group leader wishing a guide to the animals of this region.

One Way
"One way to make the punishment fit the crime would be to have every man who criticizes the modern manner of driving sentenced to spend one hour every day looking through the old family album.—Louisville Times.

Bits of Birmingham

Cliff!
Last Thursday, this column's long-awaited snow arrived. It was beautiful, too. Mrs. Inez Asper, chairman of the party, and these personal pictures are in technique with beach taking close-ups and a continuous succession of interesting episodes.

New Year's thought: Not how much we can acquire this year, but how much we can share.

A thought on seeing the new grey-covered telephone books:
How much easier it would be to find the phone book if it were bound in some bright color, especially in this big-gatherer's littered city where the grey or buff is lost in the shuffle.

Mrs. Patten, The Eccentric's column editor, writes this week of feeding the birds in the garden. She and our Mr. G. R. A. ought to compare notes. The latter recently built a feeding station with a bag of grain and a jar, watching the birds dine there.

Vern Griffith, our free chief, is looking forward to attending the conference at Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 9 to 12. "This is a serious meeting," he said. "We will discuss the latest in drill methods and other fire department problems."

Last week, this column told of a local resident who saw a movie Christmas Day. The first since the World War. Now we find that a printer sign in our own shop had not seen a film in five years until the other evening. His impression was that double features "dramed an awful lot of sitting."

Dr. H. Wilson Mitchell, 385 Bruce street, has reported to police the loss of a suitcase containing place on West Maple avenue some time Dec. 31.

The chain of communities stretching out Woodward avenue make it tough for any car trying to evade notice. At 2:20 p. m., Sunday, Birmingham police were radioed by Royal Oak, asking the local scout car 27 to return until driver of a Buick heading north, Birmingham, immediately called Bluefield Hills, and just outside the northern limits of that city, the car was stopped. Royal Oak police then arrived, but made no report as to why they wanted the driver.

From the Dec. 30 issue of Editor & Publisher this news-hound gets the information that our journalistic brother, Lev A. White, of 652 Brookside, will give the keynote speech at the California Newspaper Publisher Association's 52nd annual convention at San Diego, to be held Jan. 19, 20 and 21. He will speak on the subject "Public Relations—A Primary Function of the Press." San Diego ought to be very tropical at that time.

County Federation Will Meet on Friday

Regular monthly meeting of the Oakland County Federation of Women's Clubs will be held Friday morning and afternoon at the Community House. A short business meeting opening at 10 o'clock will be followed by a discussion on international relations which will be led by Mrs. John K. Orger. The informal part of the program, which is to be in charge of Mrs. Albert Peppers.

A NEW YEAR'S THOUGHT
We sit in silence pondering. The year is but a few score hours. We wonder what its days shall bring Or fashion from the dead years' dovers.
Across the sea in far off lands The wail drums sound their fearsome cry. The people flee cruel tyrant hands And have no place where to lie.
But here we have our freedom No tyrant rule has pressed us down And if we work with a will 'Tis long success our labor crown.
Let us, O God, there be rebirth Of love and hope which now have dwindled. And the hearts of men on earth Do grant those fires be rekindled.

P. T. A.
Mrs. Max Williams of Royal Oak will speak on "Visual Education at the Family Night meeting to be held at the Franklin P. T. A. at 8:30 on Friday evening.

Will Show Movies At Presbyterian Club's Next Meeting

Walter W. Smith, of Pontiac, is secretary of the Club of the First Presbyterian Church for its dinner meeting on Jan. 11. The entertainment of movies taken in widest variety of these personal pictures are in technique with beach taking close-ups and a continuous succession of interesting episodes.

We Heard It Said By:

James Kelly, 205 Theatre Buildings: "What is my biggest hope for the new year? Well, the biggest thing I could wish for this year and every succeeding year is something of good health. It's something you can't buy and something you seldom realize the value of until you have lost it."

Mystery of Joy
It's here within me, this strange errant thing That I call joyousness and ecstasy; Here in the very limbo depths of me. When spring returns I go adventuring. Thinking to call it from the early flowers. And from the sheen of little crescent moons; But not from loveliness of scented buds. I glean it. It is of my very self. A gift of God—something that is divine.
