Eittle Piuland affers the world her second example. Her first was in honesty and hones, set with her first payment of her war debt to the United States and refewed each year up to and including 1939.

This is remarkable in view of the diminutive size and lack of wealth of the country, and it should put to shame the larger, wealthier rations, such as England.

France, Italy, who talk loudly and often pay their justly-word millions to the over-generous U. S. A. Finland, as everyone knows, is the only nation which has never defaulted in her war debt payments!

And now, is the only nation which has never defaulted in her war debt payments!

Finland, sature as example of a small boy battling the neighborhood bully.

What is more, this tiny noting as least to be holding her own in what should be an unequal struggle. She is of ar outunwhered in manpower and outelassed in equipment, that the feat seems superhuman and should enlist not only the admiration of the world, but its active support, as well, in everything but men.

Finland, assuredly, has our sympathy, but she can't win a war.
