NON-PARTISAN STATE NEWS LETTER

Van Wagner's Campaign

LANSING.—The 1940 issues have already been hand-made for us.
 "We do not intend to personally criticize Governor Dickinson. It will be a clean campaign, based on important public issues."
 These words from G. Donald Kennedy, business manager of the state highway department and deputy highway commissioner, give a clue to the policy which Murray D. Van Wagner will pursue if he wins the Democratic nomination for governor.

As Mr. Kennedy is campaign manager for Van Wagner, the reference to Michigan's octogenarian executive, nationally known for his religious utterances and condemnation of "high life," may be considered significant.

It could be an intimation that the Van Wagner forces anticipate the Republican nomination of Dickinson for governor. Also within the range of probability is an interpretation that Van Wagner will avoid the thin ice of a personal, frontal attack on Mr. Dickinson lest it be resented by temperance-loving, church-going citizens.

From an interview with the Democratic vote-getter, however, we did get a definite impression that Van Wagner would have something to say about "boss con-fid" in the Republican party that would be heard from the Grand Rapids leader, Frank McKay, whose selection as Republican national committeeman from Michigan has placed him out in the open, either for praise or condemnation.

Survey of Issues
 With exacting care, Messrs. Van Wagner and Kennedy have been making a survey of 1940 issues, months in advance of their leader's announcement of candidacy.

Summer Prints Are Conservative

Smart summer print with subtly flared skirt and drawstring neckline is worn by Mrs. Alfred Guyman Vanderschilt, left. Background is white, the flowered pattern in shades of soft blue and deep fuchsia. Conservative print worn by Miss Rosemond Murray, right, looks well for street or country club wear. It is black and white, just the thing for luncheon, bridge, church social, or Sunday dinner at a neighbor's.

Mrs. Wm. M. Purves Appeals Tax Decision

An appeal was made Tuesday to the Oakland County Circuit Court by Mrs. William M. Purves and the Detroit Trust Company as executors of the estate of William Purves, to reverse a decision of Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore.

Mrs. Purves died in Birmingham May 8, 1928, leaving policies of insurance payable to a trust fund. The court held the insurance money in the trust is taxable under the Michigan inheritance tax law. The executors contended it should have been exempt. The inheritance tax on the estate is figured at $2,107.47.

Louis Fischer, newspaper writer, said "The United States of Europe cannot be built and cannot live without the assistance of the United States of America."
