

Virginia Guest Is in Spotlight

Despite the blistering heat of the last week the younger set in Birmingham has set a fast and furious pace in entertaining. The first of Virginia's guest who is visiting here from Victoria, Va., is Mrs. P. W. Taylor, who arrived in Birmingham for the first time, arrived early last week and before many of the pampered guests of the party, she was the guest of honor at a party given by friends of the Anderson family.

The parties are continuing this week and were led off by a bridge which Shirley Smith held Monday evening at her home on Pierce street. In addition to the honoree, Shirley invited Ann Louise Baldwin, Kathy Watson, Betty Lee, Genevieve Gay and her guests Barbara Roberts, of Harrisonburg, Ky., Bunny Packard, Mirron Conway, Mary Ann Neff, Faye and Ruth Anderson, Margaret Carey and Martin Kirk.

Tuesday afternoon Ruth opened her home on Lake Park drive to Mrs. E. M. Vohmeyer, of Kentucky. Mrs. Clarence J. Boldt, Jr., of Detroit, and Mrs. Norman Wolfe, of Detroit, presided over the tea table that was attractively decorated with garden flowers.

Wednesday Mrs. Paul Kilburne entertained at a luncheon at her home on Chesterfield avenue, Detroit, for Mrs. Tucker, and today Mrs. Donald Colton, at her home on Greenlade avenue, Detroit.

We Heard It Said By: Mrs. ALBERT J. JOHNSON, STONE, chairman of the street dances held each week: "I wish that boys and girls would attend the street dances might understand that the only way we can be assured of the continuance of these dances after the regular recreation season closes in August; is the profit we make on the refreshments we sell at these dances. If the young people want them to continue through September, as we do now, they must cooperate with us in this way."
