

Honeymoon in New Hampshire Follows Brown-Neal Wedding Rites

Couple to Make Future Home in Philadelphia

Faith Lutheran church on Couzens highway was transformed into a bevy of green and white on Saturday afternoon for the wedding of Miss Rosemary Neal and John Roger Brown, former Birmingham residents. The altar was banked high with white roses, gladioli and larkspur, together with palms and other greenery, and lighted by cathedral candles in tall standards. Rev. Theodore Wuzgazer, Jr., of the Birmingham Lutheran church, performed the ceremony at 4:30 o'clock, assisted by Rev. Carl Kemp, pastor of the Faith church, and Mrs. Wuzgazer served as organist.

A reception followed the service at the Birmingham Golf Club and the seating of Rev. Theodore Wuzgazer, Jr., of the Birmingham Lutheran church, performed the ceremony at 4:30 o'clock, assisted by Rev. Carl Kemp, pastor of the Faith church, and Mrs. Wuzgazer served as organist.

Miss Neal, who is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Alvin Neal, now of Detroit, wore a princess gown of ivory slipper satin, with a heart-shaped neckline and a pleating around the waist. Her veil of illusion, held in place by a Juliet cap, and a bridal nosegay of white lilies, gardenias and cydonia ferns, tied with a big white satin bow, completed the ensemble.

Mrs. Thomas J. Usher, III, of Birmingham, was matron of honor and Miss Neal's bridesmaid. Her gown was a lovely, filmy affair of yellow chiffon, cut somewhat on Grecian lines, with inserts of matching lace. She wore a large hat of yellow horsehair, with streamers of yellow ribbon, and carried an arm bouquet of delphinium in all the varying shades of blue, cornflowers and French forget-me-nots.

Mrs. Neal was dressed in corsetier blue chiffon, with full skirt and bodice of matching lace. Her hat was of blue chiffon, with a band of cornflowers and roses across the back of the hair, and her corsage bouquet was of yellow roses and French forget-me-nots.

Mrs. Grace Braffett of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., who came up for her son's wedding and is the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Otis of Birmingham, wore a bright printed chiffon frock and a crownless leghorn hat. Her flowers were gardenias.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown left after the reception for Hanover, N. H., where they will spend a couple of weeks. They will make their home in Philadelphia, where their address will be the Marchwood apartments, Wissahickon avenue.

Out of town guests at the wedding, besides Mrs. Braffett, included Mr. and Mrs. Edward Esslinger and Mrs. Charlotte Kimmel, of LaPorte, Ind., and William Meisel of Cleveland.

Two Anniversaries Celebrated at Dinner

Doubly significant was the family-dinner party staged Monday evening, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. William Howland on Woodland avenue, for it marked the wedding anniversaries of both the bride and her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Ball, of Harmon avenue. Dr. and Mrs. Howland had come to the end of forty-four years of married life, while the Balls were observing their sixteenth milestone.

John Bernard Howland of Gouverneur, N. Y., son of Dr. and Mrs. Howland, with Mrs. Howland and their small daughter, Doris Lane, came on for the celebration and remained until Tuesday. Also present were Mr. and Mrs. Ball's daughter, Nancy Ann.

The John Howlands came near being able to claim a share of the honors at the anniversary dinner, as their wedding date was June 20, 1874.

The dinner was covered with a lace cloth, was all in white, a centerpiece of roses being flanked by candles in tall holders.

Winter Club Schedules Post-Season Dance

In spite of having closed their season officially some time ago, members of the Winter club will have one last fling in the form of a dance Friday evening, at the Orchard Lake Country club. A large dinner and cocktail party which will precede the affair will be given by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Smith of Grosse Pointe, at 7:30 p. m. Among the Birmingham guests at the dinner will be Mr. and Mrs. Richard K. Stiles, Mr. and Mrs. Genaro A. Flores and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Midegh, III.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Uderhill will be hosts at a highball party before the dance at their Fairfax road home.

Influx of Guests Brings Busy Week For S. J. Duncans

Mrs. S. James Duncan extended hospitality to a number of friends on Tuesday afternoon, at a buffet luncheon at her home on Larchlea drive. Inspiration for the party was Mrs. James W. Giller of Coral Gables, Fla., who is visiting her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tillotson, of Hickory Grove road. Besides the visitor and her hostess, guests were Mrs. Charles T. Beals, Mrs. Bernice Mizner of Detroit, Mrs. William Lamb of Ardmore, Okla., who is the guest of her sister, Mrs. John S. Oiler; Mrs. W. H. R. Hall of Dearborn, Mrs. Walter E. Thulin, and Mrs. Harry B. Carey.

Mrs. Duncan's mother, Mrs. Fred L. Baker, of Bay City, who has been on a trip through the Great Smoky Mountains, is arriving today to spend the week end. She will be joined here on Saturday by Mr. Baker. Another week-end guest will be Mrs. Norman G. Helwig of Pittsburgh.

Many visitors are expected at the Duncan home on Monday, when Mrs. C. W. Biskill and her daughters, Barbara and Betty, will arrive from their home in Buffalo. They and Mrs. Duncan will leave early in the week for Eagle Crest near Holland, where the Biskills and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Davis of Cleveland, former Birmingham residents, will go to Eagle Crest. Mr. Biskill, Mr. Duncan and the Duncans' son, Bruce, and Mr. and Mrs. Dargis will go to Eagle Crest Wednesday, as will Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Beals and Mr. and Mrs. Alan Kessler, of Royal Oak. The latter party will remain at the cottage through the Fourth and the week end following.

City Represented At 'Y' Girls' Camp

Birmingham will be represented by two staff members and several campers at Camp Cavell, the Detroit Y. W. C. A. schoolgirls' camp on Lake Huron, which opens Saturday, for its twenty-seventh season.

Miss Alice Hall, a graduate of Michigan State college, and assistant dietitian at Betsy Barbour house, University of Michigan, will be the camp dietitian, and Miss Ellen Ford will have charge of the camp office. Miss Ford is a graduate of Kingswood school and of Cornell university.

Anne Louise Hirsch, daughter of the Robert Hirschs of Lakeside, is returning to Cavell this season, and there will be two new campers from Birmingham, Phyllis Edwards, daughter of the Charles H. Edwards of Linden avenue, and Lois E. Melrose, daughter of the Hugh D. Melroese of Brookdale boulevard.

Strong-Wilkinson Rites Solemnized In Grosse Pointe

Frederick S. Strong, III, son of the Junior Frederick S. Strong of Orchard Lake, took Miss Ann Wilkinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Wilkinson of Grosse Pointe, as his bride at a candlelight service Saturday evening. Rev. Thomas B. Creighton, performed the ceremony in Christ Church chapel, Grosse Pointe.

The bride was veiled in ivory duchess satin and flung tulle, the latter material forming the skirt. The train was a shimmering affair of barred tulle and tulle formed the Juliet cap, topped by a tiny satin bow, which held in place the double veil. She carried a bouquet of white roses, larkspur and stephanotis.

Mr. George H. Barbour, II, as master of honor, wore lustrous yellow and the eight bridesmaids were in heaven blue. Their bouquets were of mousseline-de-sin with "sort-of" matching lace at the waists and on the bodices. They wore hats of white roses, larkspur and stephanotis.

Mrs. Barbour carried blue delphinium, iris and ranunculus, while the other girls bouquets were of yellow snapdragons, iris and roses. The bridesmaids were Miss Elizabeth Bonney, Miss Geraldine Hieber, Mrs. Robert W. Scripps, Miss Peggy and Miss Rosamond Strong, Miss John Giles, Mrs. John Calk, of Clayton, Mo., and Miss Dorothy Gillis.

The happy couple were escorted in chariotry, with purple and white. Mrs. John Calk attended Mr. Strong as best man and seating the guests were Jack Strong, brother of the bridegroom, Warren Wilkinson, brother of the bride, Frederick Griffiths, Thomas Gills, W. Harmon Adams, George Webster of Indianapolis, David Lovettman of New York, and Jack Neenan.

A reception was held at the Grosse Pointe club, when many of varied-colored summer flowers were used as decoration.

Mr. and Mrs. Strong are en route west on their honeymoon. On their return, several weeks hence, they will take up their residence at 43 Mount Vernon avenue, Grosse Pointe.

Mrs. Ward Frank-shank and her son, Ward, Jr., of Merrill street, spent part of the week in Grand Prismatic, near Ballentine, B. C. Frank-shank attended the Spring Equinox show.

AAUW to Have Home As Program Theme for Year

Mrs. Charles D. McCall, program chairman for 1940-41 of the American Association of University Women, called a meeting of all chairmen Tuesday morning, at her home on Argyle boulevard, and announced to them the theme of the year's program. It is to deal with the home and its various phases, the topics to include "Home and Education," "Home and Recreation," "Homecrafts," "Home and Legislation," "Home and International Relations."

Mrs. R. H. Whitlatch, A. A. U. W. president, was to entertain members of the executive board, and those particularly interested in the British child care project at a breakfast this morning, when plans for the year were to be discussed.

Planning to attend were Mrs. Truman W. Eustis, Mrs. Karl B. Lutz, Mrs. William C. Lee, Mrs. Charles F. Dyer, Mrs. Douglas H. Ewen, Mrs. Charles J. Shain, Mrs. McCall, Mrs. Stuart Gaston, Mrs. George W. Mullin, Mrs. Fred D. Farrar and Mrs. Stuart M. Gaston.

Peggy Slade Engaged; Wedding Set for Fall

An announcement of interest is that of Miss Peggy (Joel) Slade, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Joel Slade, of Franklin, George Winter Stark, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Stark, of Lakewood avenue, Detroit. The wedding will take place in the fall at the Stark home.

The bride-to-be is a graduate of Bowling Green university in Ohio and Mr. Stark received a bachelors at Michigan State college. He was a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity.

Miss Young Gray and Miss Betty Hill left Tuesday night on a Tuesday cruise up the lake.

Party Clears $250 For French Relief

Mrs. Charles J. Shain, who was active in arranging the bridge-tennis for the benefit of the French war refugees last Friday at the Community House, announces that approximately $250 was cleared at the affair. About 200 persons attended the party, which was under the sponsorship of the Committee for French Relief. Mrs. Genevieve Takken de Pons heads the committee's Birmingham chapter.

Due to the confused status of France, which has arisen since the party, it is unknown for the present just what specific disposition will be made of the funds. Mrs. Shain said, but they will be used for refugee relief as soon as advice is received from the New York central committee. There will be no pause in the work, meanwhile, Mrs. Shain declared, and the committee will continue to meet each Wednesday from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. at the Community House to sew. The last consignment to France was sent on a regularly chartered Red Cross ship.
