Former Birmingham Girl Marries Here Saturday

A wedding of interest to many Birmingham residents was the one solemnized Saturday afternoon at the John J. Gall home on Highland Park.

The bride wore a gown of white tulle and a train. Her finger to length tulle veil fell from a tiara of heirloom Point de Venise lace. Her bouquet was of daffodils, Mimosa and blue Spanish iris.

Bridesmaid was Laura Manchester, of Ann Arbor, who wore Alice blue Mousseline de Soie over pink net and carried a bouquet of pink tulips and Marigolds.

James Allan Read assisted his brother as best man.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Curtis-Stanford chose a turquoise crepe and with it she wore a corsage of pink roses and Marigolds. The mother of the bride wore a gown of grey and hunting pink. Her corsage was of violets and gardenias. Mrs. Gall chose a frill of wine colored velvet accentuated by a corsage of pink carnations.

The Gall home was decorated for the occasion with Easter lilies and pink hydrangeas and centering the bride's table at the reception which followed the quiet ceremony, were white iris and white tapers in crystal holders. Guests at this reception included Mrs. Laurence Quint, of Ann Arbor, Irene Demchak, of Detroit, and Hester Giles and Irene Honsworth, both of Birmingham.

For her going away costume, Mrs. Read chose a leaf green gown, with a tan coat, and brown accessories. On their return from a week's trip to the South the couple will reside on Glendale avenue in Highland Park.

To Make Nation-Wide Air Debut

When Winifred Huntton Heidt appears April 7 as guest soloist with the Ford Sunday evening Hour in a nationwide broadcast emanating from the Masonic Temple in Detroit she will be returning home for one of her rare public concert appearances.

These Detroit appearances have been exceedingly rare since Mrs. Heidt, who is remembered in Birmingham as Winifred Huntton, was awarded a special fellowship and provisional contract in 1939 with the famed Metropolitan Opera company.

The fellowship, which she received in Birmingham and was graduated from the Baldwin High School, who is resident in Detroit, was awarded her parents, the Milton B. Huntton, who resides on Lincoln avenue, moved to Detroit and then the gifted young mezzo-soprano began her musical studies in earnest under the tutelage of Harriet Ingersoll.

Mrs. Heidt received her schooling in Birmingham and was graduated from the Baldwin High School, who is resident in Detroit, was awarded her parents, the Milton B. Huntton, who resides on Lincoln avenue, moved to Detroit and then the gifted young mezzo-soprano began her musical studies in earnest under the tutelage of Harriet Ingersoll.

The scholarship, awarded last May by the Metropolitan Opera company, provided for a year's study in New York in operatic repertory, with an eye toward a debut. Mrs. Heidt has been tutoring with Bellera Jacquet, coach for the Metropolitan, preparatory to appearing as Carmen.

Monday evening she appeared in Rochester, N. Y., with the Metropolitan in a production of Wagner's "Die Walkure" and during the past winter she has appeared numerous times in the gala Sunday evening concerts at the Metropolitan when Arias and excerpts from the world's best loved operas are presented by most famous singing artists.

Before embarking on her ambitious operatic career, Mrs. Heidt achieved recognition as a staff soloist at a Detroit radio station and she appeared as soloist for eight years at the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church.

In private life, she is the wife of William H. Heidt, of Detroit. She is the mother of three children.

Something old and something new,
 Something borrowed and something blue,
 'Twas the night of the wedding,
 When the bride and groom were two.

Who changes the name but not the letter,
 Moves for love and not for better,
 'Twas in white,
 You have chosen all right.

Moved in April,
 You will live in a whirl!

Springtime Weddings

LOVE at first sight and marriage within the week has occurred to a few, but who is not more interested in the culmination of the engagement, the considerably planned wedding—the sacrament of Holy Matrimony, a rite whose spiritual meaning, though deep, is even further enhanced by the beauty of love.

These weddings mean so much that there is no effort too great to make this day of days a symphony of beauty and charm—a picture cherished always as a lovely memory.

When you are invited to Springtime Weddings this season, choose your gift for the bride with the thought that it will first become an important note of the wedding itself and then, perhaps more importantly, it must possess the exclusiveness and fineness to become the lasting expression of your own good taste!
