Local Musicale Meets Thursday Afternoon At 2

Fifth in the series of Music and the Friendly Arts will be discussed by Phyllis Gabel Corin when the Birmingham Musicale holds its meeting Thursday, March 14 at the Community House at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. Corin will discuss "Music and Architecture" and as the first illustration will trace the development of the fugue, later playing Bach's "Prelude and Fugue in B Flat Major." She will then relate the sonata form to a similar form in architecture and Lorraine M. Newhall, violinist, and Helen Maday, pianist, both members of the Tuesday Musicale of Detroit, will play Beethoven's "Sonata in F. Major."

The third illustration will be theme and variations and after her talk the "Passacaglia in C Minor" by Bach, arranged for two pianos by Abram Chasins, will be played by Mrs. Florence Butcher and her daughter, June Butcher. Mrs. Butcher is a member of the Detroit Tuesday Musicale, and June is president of the student league of the Tuesday Musicale.

Mrs. Robert D. Lynd and Mrs. Ralph A. Main will be hostesses for this meeting.

Election of officers will also be held at this meeting.

Iowa Alumni Club Is Planning Dinner

University of Iowa Alumni club of Detroit will hold its annual Iowa Night banquet at the Detroit Yacht club on Saturday evening.

This year's meeting commemorates the 93rd anniversary of the founding of the university at Iowa City and plans will be discussed at this banquet for the establishment of scholarships by the greater Detroit group.

Reservations for the dinner should be made through the president, Arnold M. Wilbur, or the social secretary, Mrs. Kennard L. Jones, of Detroit.

Processes of Speech Explained to Parents

It is extremely important that the elementary grade teacher should be familiar with the processes of speech, John H. Muyskens, associate professor of phonetics and director of the laboratory of speech at the University of Michigan, told members of the Quarton Parent-Teacher association when they gathered Monday evening to hear him discuss "Tongues of Man."

Study of speech is not new Prof. Muyskens told his audience for even in the court of Catherine the Great of Russia efforts were made to understand the fundamentals of speech.

The speaker highly lauded the Wayne County Training School at Northville for the efforts being made there to correct speech faults.

Preceding the talk by the Ann Arbor professor, Mrs. W. O. Jeffery, Jr., was elected president for the ensuing year; Mrs. Robert S. Gans, vice president; Mrs. Ethel Waterman, teacher-vice president; Donald A. Murray, father-vice president; Mrs. Cassius L. Miller, treasurer; Mrs. H. J. Lauver, recording secretary; Mrs. Ferry B. Allen, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Thomas A. Nalle, historian.

P.-T. A. at Barnum Busy With Plans For More Dances

Success of the dance held Thursday evening at the Barnum School and sponsored by the P.-T.A. organization of that school, has assured a continuance of these dances and plans are already underway for a similar party to be held the latter part of this month.

For the dance Thursday evening, appropriately named Leap Year Dance, the ceiling of the auditorium of the school was decorated with a huge balloon and when a rip cord was pulled smaller balloons fell from the large one.

Assisting Mrs. Fred W. Guckelberg, who was in charge of refreshments, were Mrs. B. A. Aikens, Jr., Mrs. P. G. Burnett and Mrs. Lee J. Morh. Mrs. Norman A. Porter and Mrs. Berton H. Jackson presided at the coffee table and music for old and modern dancing was furnished by Mrs. Harry Clark and Alexander McKay. Ernest E. Morrow and Mr. Jackson called for the square dances which were a feature of the evening.

Mrs. Robert R. Hirsch, of Lakeside drive, with her young son, Carl, is leaving tonight for St. Petersburg, Fla., where she will spend two weeks with her sister, Miss Paula Zeisse.
