Civilian Complains Of Drunk Driving

An unusual occurrence in traffic arrests—a civilian complaint—led to the conviction Monday night in Bloomfield Hills justice court of William B. Johnson, 253 Auburn road, Pontiac, on a charge of drunk driving.

We Heard It Said By:

POLICE SGT. EARL MOODY: "Here is something you can put in The Eccentric to aid confused motorists: At Woodward and 11-Mile road, and at Woodward and Square Lake road, a red arrow flashes when the regular signal shows red. That means that after you come to a stop for the red light, you can make a right turn if there is no other traffic in the way. I've noticed that many motorists do not take advantage of this provision in the traffic code."

E. Dalton and Mrs. L. M. Baker, together with Mrs. W. O. Briggs, Jr., and Mrs. Mahon H. Stevens, of the Community Home board.

From the Women's Angle

By NELLIE HURLEY MINIFIE It's nice to know that old age plays no favorites. It's gratifying to reflect that even movie queens, with a million dollars worth of clothes, jewels and fur, and the cold, clammy hand of Father Time reach out and tap them on the shoulder just as you and I. It's consoling, too, when you remember that even Shirley Temple has felt the touch of time. And it's especially nice to know that although your bones fairly scream for mercy after nine holes of golf or two sets of tennis, you are not the only one who realizes that old age is creeping up on you.

Miss Minifie

It is all very gratifying and refreshing when you stop to consider that even though you haven't yet reached four score and 10 that before long you may look forward to old age pension and eight hours a day of nothing but knitting and and purring two.

Civic Center Park Now at Height of Its Beauty

Civic Center park, planned in 1933 by Edward H. Larrin, landscape architect, is at the height of its beauty this week. This little parcel of land, laid out seven years ago to conform in design with the surrounding public buildings, has proved to be one of the most useful parks in Birmingham due to its central location. Before it was developed some 11 cottages were located in this park.

Mrs. George

Today Birmingham has a small centrally located municipal park of various types of similar size. This particular piece of land was acquired, Mr. Larrin stated, through the cooperation of civic minded citizens and the foresight to purchase this land to be developed as a municipal center.

SCOUT NEWS BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA Parade Tomorrow

Every Scout in town ought to be present in uniform at the Memorial Day parade tomorrow. Be in front of Baldwin High School at about 10 o'clock. The parade starts at 10:30. We realize that it is a lot of parading to do in a month (two parades) but not too much, by any means. It's a sad day when the Cubs can muster more members than the Scouts. Every troop is sure to remember to bring along the troop colors.
