12th Birthday Party Given for Miss Adams

Dorothy Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Adams, of Kennelwood avenue, observed her 12th birthday Saturday afternoon by asking 12 friends in for luncheon.

At the party were Marjorie Thompson, Betty Hooper, Mary Vorberg, Mary Jean Forsyth, Sally Lear, Margaret Donnelly, Gloria Ebb, Anne Eby, Nancy Moritz, Joan Chapel, Edith Kennel and Sally Kreisler.

Ivory Slipper Satin Gown Worn by Ann Louise Baldwin

Ivory slipper satin fashioned with a long waisted bodice having a heart-shaped neckline outlined in a matching of tulle formed the bridal gown of Ann Louise Baldwin, daughter of Ann Louise Baldwin, daughter of Philip John Carey, son of Dr. Bernard W. Carey, of Southfield road.

The bride's dress was fashioned with the palms and light by white tapers in cathedral candelabra.

The bride wore a long ivory tulle veil which fell from a satin bonnet lined with rows of white ruching and having a braided edge of tulle. Her flowers were a bouquet of white chrysanthemums centered with a cluster of gardenias.

Miss Baldwin was attended as maid of honor by Mary Carey, sister of the bridegroom, Bridesmaids were large and small, and other sister; Patricia Houff, Alice Botsford and Genevieve Jay.

The gowns, made alike, differed in color. They were velvet with fitted bodices and deep grille waistline. The scalloped detail which edged the square necklines and short puffed sleeves was also used on the front of the dresses and the crownless halo-bonnets of velvet to match their gowns and carried with them large and small bouquets of white chrysanthemums tied with velvet ribbons.

Miss Carey wore carnation rose and the bridesmaids were in heaven blue.

John Scolaro was Mr. Carey's best man and sealing the guests were William Bronson, Frank McCarthy, Frank O'Donnell and George E. Baldwin, Jr., brother of the bride.

Following the ceremony a breakfast for members of the wedding party and the families was given in the Baldwin home. During the afternoon a large reception was given in the Community House after which the couple left on an Eastern trip.

On their return they will reside on Birmingham boulevard.

Coming from out of town for this wedding were Miss Margaret Hyde, of Boston, O. L. Baldwin, of St. Louis, Mrs. Fred Thompson, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thompson, of Chicago.

Estelle Dutton Becomes Bride of Mr. Milldebrandt

Estelle Dutton and Otto Milldebrandt were united Thanksgiving eve at a service at the Redeemer Evangelical Lutheran Church. The bride's dress was fashioned by the bridegroom before an altar banked with palms and baskets of white chrysanthemums.

The bride's dress was fashioned by the bridegroom before an altar banked with palms and baskets of white chrysanthemums. She wore a traveling costume of green wool with a small brown hat and brown accessories. Her flowers were white roses and white blue chrysanthemums. Marion Dutton was her sister's maid of honor and only attendant. She wore a frock of beige suede with a brown tulle and a corsage of tulle roses. James Grandt was best man.

A reception was held for the bride and groom at the home of the couple left for a Chicago honeymoon. After Dec. 5, the bride will be at home on North Woodward avenue.

Couple United This Week at Louis M. Spencer Home

Hazel Albers, of Boston, and David Adams Fletcher, of Arlington, N. J., were married Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock at a lovely home ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis M. Spencer on Harbale road in Bloomfield Hills, under the auspices of the bride's mother.

Another uncle, Rev. Benjamin Hoffman, of Holland, read the service before an improvised altar of white chrysanthemums in the bay of the living room which was lighted by white tapers in cathedral candelabra.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of white silk jersey fashioned on Grecian lines with a headress of the same material. She carried a bouquet of calla lilies.

Evelyn Albers, of Washington, who was her sister's only attendant, carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley.

Thos. Bennett, of Minneapolis, and Mrs. Fletcher's brother, Mildred De Pre, of East Lansing, and a classmate of the bride at Hope College at Holland and Ann Arbor.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Porter entertained a group of friends at a Saturday afternoon luncheon at their home on Bloomfield court. Invited were Mr. and Mrs. Glen Cramer, of Auburn Heights, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Pardee, of Pontiac, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Carr, of Cooley Lake.

Ann McDonald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. McDonald, of Lake Park drive, will be hostess Saturday to a group of friends at Metamora.

Mrs. May Hupp and her sister, Mrs. M. E. Rundell and Bob Peabody, son of Mrs. Stanley Peabody, of Quanton road, will leave Monday for Arizona and California to spend the winter.

Mrs. Spencer C. Stanley entertained Wednesday afternoon at a small and informal tea in honor of Mrs. George W. Johnson, of Washington, who is visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Martin E. Vorberg, of Kennewas avenue.

Mrs. English to Fete Hills Garden Group

Mrs. Richard G. English will open her home on Cranbrook road Monday afternoon for a tea and business meeting of the Bloomfield Hills Branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden association.

Mrs. William G. Lerehen and Mrs. William J. Beknap will preside at the tea table that will be centered with a Christmas scene. Speaker will be Mrs. Per G. Lundin, assistant state secretary. Talk on 4-H club activities.
